SEARLE HAS WON

The Stearns County Man Has Gained Control of the District Convention.

W. E. Lee of Todd County Elected Temporary Chairman By a Large Majority.

An Adjournment Taken Until Four O'clock. When Searle Will Be Nominated.

The Beltrami Contest Likely to Be Decided in Favor of Kendall Men.

The Temple opera house was not as well filled, as was expected when the sixth congressional district Republican convention was called to order this morning. It was a Kendall crowd, however, that was on hand and there was plenty of applause for the Duluth candidate and his champions.

Chairman Benson called the convention to order at 10:30 o'clock and read the call. He expressed the hope that the deliberations of the convention would be marked by the dignity and fairness which is characteristic of all Republican conventions.

Nominations for temporary chairman were then called for. P. O. Coppernoll placed in nomination William E. Lee, of Long Prairie, on behalf of the Searle supporters. J. A. Boggs was named by W. A. Fleming.

The chair announced that the congressional committee had decided that counties in which there are contesting delegations should not participate in the preliminary organization. Capt. Smallwood from Duluth wanted letters appointed to take the vote of the delegates as they were called for and put it as a motion. A. Barto, of Stearns, opposed this and amended that the call of counties be made and where there is no challenge offered to the vote of the county it shall stand. This was assented to and the call was taken up resulting as follows:

Anoka.....	12
Benton.....	10
Carlton.....	10
Crow Wing.....	12
Isabella.....	10
Lake.....	10
Lincoln.....	10
St. Louis.....	10
Stearns.....	10
Todd.....	10
Wadena.....	10
Wright.....	10
Total.....	118

J. A. Boggs arose at once and moved that Mr. Lee's selection be made unanimous. This was carried and Mr. Lee took the chair. He said: "I thank you for the high honor conferred on me, for it is indeed an honor to preside over the deliberations of this body—the largest congressional convention ever assembled in the state. It is most important because it is held in the greatest metropolis in the district, located at the tide water of the great Western commerce, the terminus of two great railroads. We are to name a candidate to represent this great metropolis and the great agricultural wealth back of it. He hoped that the deliberations would be marked by care and fairness and asked for the nomination of two temporary secretaries.

L. Cutler, of Anoka, and A. G. Bernard, of Itasca, were chosen. Senator Buckman, of Morrison, moved the appointment of committees on credentials, resolutions and permanent organization, to be appointed by the chair, and to consist of one member from each county where there are not contested delegations.

This brought on a prolonged discussion from the Kendall men whose sole object was to kill time. F. B. Daugherty, of St. Louis, moved to amend that Cass and Beltrami counties in which there are contests be admitted. An amendment to this amendment came from the Searle faction providing for the admission of Mills, Lac and Aitken counties, the other contesting delegations. A. Barto, of Stearns, didn't see what difference it would make. Both sides would have to be heard and one would offset the other.

"Zeke" Kendall here got the floor and urged the claims of Cass and Beltrami counties. He said it was well known to every delegate in the convention that Beltrami county had a trumped up contest gotten up by a man whose home is in St. Paul, for the purpose of denying that county a voice in the proceedings. The man who holds the proxies, he said, has been a resident of St. Paul for five years. In Cass county he declared there is only a sham contest which ought to be put to shame every Republican who believes in his party. He explained the proceedings of the Cass county delegation and declared that the contestants there are seeking to stifle the voice of the people. "There are passed resolutions demanding a free ballot and a fair count. That's what we want here."

Mr. Barto assured Mr. Kendall that there was no man in the convention who wanted a free ballot and fair count. The convention, he said, knows nothing of the justice of the claims of these counties and the committee on credentials must decide as to the claims and if the convention wishes to appeal from the report it can do so.

D. E. Myers was next heard and argued briefly and pointedly to the effect that to the committee on credentials should be left the hearing of the claims of contested delegations.

W. A. Fleming, of Brainerd, next got the floor and held it for nearly half an hour his object plainly being to kill time. He warned the Searle men that it would be well for them to do no dirt. "Never fear, we won't," interrupted Mr. Barto. He then argued at length the claims of the contesting delegations and did not differ much from what Mr. Kendall said except to go into particulars a little more.

G. H. Wyman, of Anoka, said the other side had no right to assume that the dirt would be all on the Searle side. The claims of the contesting counties were not to be decided on hearsay evidence and the committee on credentials ought to consider them.

J. A. Boggs, from St. Louis, said that before choosing the committee, the convention should know who is entitled to vote. He stated the position of the Beltrami contest, and with permission asked F. A. Kribs, who heads the Searle delegation a few questions. He asked the gentleman how long he had been in Beltrami county and received the reply that he had lived there about a year and a half on a homestead and pre-emption claim and had other lands there.

"Where does your family live?" Mr. Boggs asked.

"St. Paul," was the reply, and the Kendall men roared.

"Have they ever lived in Beltrami county?" was next put to him.

"No," admitted Mr. Kribs, and another howl went up.

Mr. Boggs thereupon ridiculed this contest and declared that all the others were like it. Some questions were asked Mr. Kribs by the Searle men but they did not make matters any more favorable.

After some more squabbling C. A. Towne, of St. Louis county, made a rather politic, but forcible speech. He said that the Searle men were unquestionably technically right in their stand, but here was an occasion when justice ought to overrule all technical points.

After some more quarrelling the amendment to the amendment providing for admitting Mills, Lac and Aitken counties was put and was withdrawn, and Mr. Daugherty's amendment to admit Beltrami and Cass counties was put to a vote with the following result:

Anoka.....	Aye.	No.
Benton.....	12	10
Carlton.....	10	10
Crow Wing.....	12	10
Isabella.....	10	10
Lake.....	10	10
Lincoln.....	10	10
St. Louis.....	10	10
Stearns.....	10	10
Todd.....	10	10
Wadena.....	10	10
Wright.....	10	10
Total.....	61	121

The original motion was about to be put when O. D. Kinney moved an amendment that each delegation select its members of the committee and not the chairman of the convention. This was carried without trouble, the Searle men being satisfied and it was carried unanimously. The motion was amended was then adopted.

"Zeke" Kendall here moved that Cass and Beltrami counties be allowed representation on the committees but was ruled out of order, the question having previously been passed upon. J. A. Boggs then moved that Cass county be allowed representation and another quarrel began as to the merits of the contesting delegations. It was voted down by 17 against and 27 for.

J. A. Boggs here gave in a motion to adjourn to 3 o'clock. The chair was not disposed to recognize it, but Mr. Boggs insisted and it went to a vote resulting in 110 yeas to 65 nays. The delegates then handed in their names of members of the committees. Those chosen were:

Anoka—Credentials, G. H. Wyman. Resolutions, J. W. Sedinger. Permanent organization, John Hunter. Beltrami—Credentials, O. M. Nelson. Resolutions, C. E. Bell. Permanent organization, G. T. Rice. Cass—Credentials, W. P. Allen. Resolutions, T. H. Martin. Permanent organization, A. W. McDowell. Cook—Credentials, Wm. Fisher. Resolutions, Frank Fowler. Permanent organization, E. W. Wakelin.

Crow Wing—Credentials, W. A. Fleming. Resolutions, W. E. Seelie. Permanent organization, John T. Foster. Hubbard—Credentials, A. L. Gibbs. Resolutions, T. A. Cross. Permanent organization, F. A. Vanderpool. Itasca—Credentials, H. P. King. Resolutions, L. F. Knox. Permanent organization, A. G. Bernard.

Lake—Credentials, A. J. McGee. Resolutions, James Cogswell. Permanent organization, W. N. Moulton. Morrison—Credentials, J. W. Bouck. Resolutions, N. Richardson. Permanent organization, W. H. Benson.

Pine—Credentials, H. D. Davies. Resolutions, V. Breckridge. Permanent organization, H. S. Aitken. St. Louis—Credentials, J. A. Boggs. Resolutions, H. H. Phelps. Permanent organization, W. H. Smallwood.

Stearns—Credentials, H. Castle. Resolutions, W. H. Hunter. Permanent organization, J. Varley. Todd—Credentials, M. D. Taylor. Resolutions, F. E. Searle. Permanent organization, A. Barto.

Wadena—Credentials, J. D. Jones. Resolutions, J. F. Locke. Permanent organization, B. F. Hartshorn.

Wright—Credentials, A. R. Wisnelli. Resolutions, S. L. Frazier. Permanent organization, A. Murray.

Zeke—Credentials, R. E. Collins. Resolutions, I. Gutzwiller. Permanent organization, W. H. Washburn.

A. Barto then offered a motion to the effect that all proxy members who are not bona fide residents of the counties they represent shall be excluded. This brought the opposition of the Kendall crowd although they had argued but a short time previously that this should be done. An amendment was offered to refer the motion to the credentials committee but was lost by a vote of 100 for and 65 against. The original motion was then carried.

W. A. Fleming, of Brainerd, then offered a resolution which he said he would not ask a vote on until after adjournment. It provided that the Cass and Beltrami county contests be referred to the Stearns county delegation. This raised quite a laugh.

A motion to adjourn to 3 o'clock was then made and J. C. Flynn attempted to make it 4 o'clock. The latter carried and the convention adjourned until that hour.

It is quite safe to say that the Kendall delegation from Beltrami county will be admitted, but as to the other three, it is more doubtful. The committee may possibly recommend that the contested delegations be divided, Searle getting two counties and Kendall two.

Between the hour of adjournment and 4 o'clock there was not much excitement with politicians. The Searle men were jubilant and had reason to be. The Kendall men knew they were beaten and many of them openly admitted it. It was rumored that they would meet in caucus at 3 o'clock, but this report seems to have had no authority.

The committees got to work at once, credentials and permanent organization committees at the opera house and the resolutions committee at the Spaulding. At 3:30 o'clock it was extremely doubtful whether the credentials or resolutions committees would be ready to report at 4 o'clock.

There were many rumors during the noon hour of dark horses being sprung. Secretary Thompson's name was mentioned but the opinion of all seemed to be that he would not want it. Kendall will probably stay in the fight and not withdraw.

THE CAUCUSES.

Marshaling of the Forces of Both Sides

The Searle and Kendall factions were very busy last night and there was plenty of scheming. Each side was marshalling its forces and both held caucuses.

The Searle supporters held their caucus in the ordinary of the Spaulding and the room was packed. A call of delegates brought a goodly number of Searle. This included the thirty-two contesting delegations and the Pine county delegates, eight in number. The latter delegation had been placed by the Searle men but the doubtful column, but early in the evening was announced by the supporters of the St. Cloud man that Pine had "climbed on the band wagon."

The announcement that Searle had 127 votes brought out a prolonged demonstration of enthusiasm. Speeches from delegates from different portions of the district were then made all favorable to the candidacy of Judge Searle. R. C. Mitchell made a speech to the effect that the St. Louis Republicans are not so united upon Kendall as has been represented. He also took occasion to roast the Duluth Tribune pretty liberally. The Kendall supporters met at the St. Louis. No ballot was taken but several speeches were made and all appeared to be confident.

FLED TO AVOID ARREST.

An English Rector Charged With Grossly Indecent Acts.

LONDON, July 20.—The Star today says that Rev. John Edwards, rector at Essenden, has fled to avoid arrest for acts of gross indecency. He was graduated from Oxford university in 1874 and until 1883 when he was made domestic chaplain to Lord Salisbury.

He held this position for seven years and then went to the living at Essenden, at which Lord Salisbury is the patron. He had not been in the living long when old stories about his immoral conduct were revived, and became such public property that the police kept a secret watch on him.

A YOUTHFUL MURDERER.

A Boy Stabbed by a Young Girl in Texas.

BRENNHAM, Tex., July 20.—At Burton Tuesday night, A. McCann, the 11-year-old son of Elder McCann, was left at the residence of Moses Watson, while the two families went to church. Moses Watson has an 11-year-old adopted daughter, Mattie Ellis. When the parents left the house the children were washing the dishes.

The boy quit whereupon the girl picked up a butcher knife and plunged it into the boy's side. The blade penetrated the heart, and he fell lifeless at the feet of his youthful murderer.

On the Rocks.

MILWAUKEE, July 20.—About 6 o'clock this morning the big propeller Wisconsin, of the Grand Haven line, went heavily on the rocks on the inner bar at South Point. She had seventy passengers and a crew of 100. The life saving crew took off the passengers and they were brought back to this city on tugs. The boat is badly damaged, but will probably be taken off the ledge this afternoon.

In a Deadlock.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 20.—After six hours of uninterrupted balloting, during which time thirteen ballots were taken, the state Democratic convention has reached a deadlock upon the nomination for governor. Both Stone and Dalton have apparently polled their full strength. The fifteenth ballot resulted as follows: Stone, 214; Dalton, 188; Gibson, 82; Yeaman, 27; Claycomb, 13.

A Murderer Bailed.

ST. LOUIS, July 20.—Sheriff E. L. Dombach, of St. Louis county, was arraigned before Judge McCaffrey at Clayton yesterday afternoon to answer the charge of murder for the killing of Maj. W. S. Smith in the probate court room last Wednesday morning. He was admitted to bail in the sum of $30,000.

Took Her Own Life.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Kate Gaffney, 31 years of age, of 206 West Sixty-fourth street, committed suicide this morning at 8 o'clock by jumping out of a third story window of her residence. She was instantly killed. The cause of the suicide is not known.

Stone for Governor.

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., July 20.—William J. Stone, of Nevada, was nominated for governor on the nineteenth ballot by the Democratic state convention.

PANTON & WATSON

A BOY BOTANIST.

A Roxbury Lad But Twelve Years Old Who Is Extremely Well Informed.

Collected Last Year One Hundred Native Plants and Flowers From the Byways.

Gives the Popular and Scientific Names of Plants Without Appearance of Pedantry.

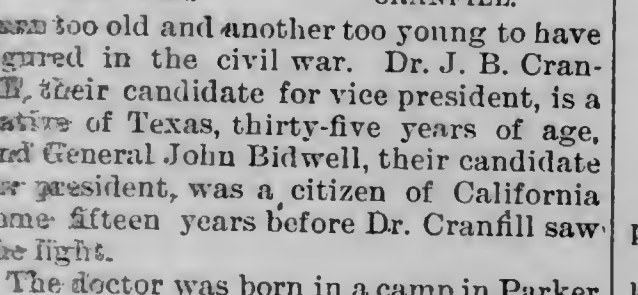

PHILLIE BARRY, of Roxbury, Mass., is barely twelve years old, yet he is an accomplished botanist.

Phillie Barry, of Roxbury, Mass., is barely twelve years old, yet he is an accomplished botanist. In fact he was born a botanist, though no one found it out till he was six years old. He learned to read very young, and his parents noticed his extreme fondness for gathering plants and flowers, but thought it only a childish pastime till in 1888 his grandmother brought home a seed catalogue—one of those gorgeously illustrated pamphlets which tempt the rural and village housewife. Phillie (his baptismal name is Phillip) fell on it with ardor. He read every line of it again and again, and soon the family was amazed by discovering that he knew the name of every flower pictured in it, and could repeat page after page verbatim. They got him a copy of "Gray's School and Field Book" and he mastered every detail of that. Then people began to send him curious plants and flowers, and he cultivated them successfully and learned all their botanical details. In 1888, when but eight years old, he gained a small prize at the exhibition of the Massachusetts Horticultural society for a pot of "Golden Everlasting".

He has since taken prizes for selections of wild flowers, seedling geraniums and dew plants and other products. His greatest achievement perhaps was the collection last year of 100 native plants and flowers from the byways of Roxbury, with their description and classification complete. He is a healthy, healthy and well developed boy, with the native vivacity of the Yankee boy, fond of sport and open life and not at all inclined to the sentimental or bookworm habit. He gives the popular and scientific names of his plants without appearance of pedantry and in all other things is as boyish as could be wished.

PROHIBITION STANDARD BEARERS.

One is a Native of New York and the other is a Texan. The prohibitionists have followed the former custom of taking one candidate from the north and another from the south, but have improved on it by taking one SIDWELL. CRANFILL. Sidwell too old and another too young to have figured in the civil war. Dr. J. B. Cranfill, their candidate for vice president, is a native of Texas, thirty-five years of age, and General John Bidwell, their candidate for president, was a citizen of California some fifteen years before Dr. Cranfill saw the light.

The doctor was born in a camp in Parker county, Tex. He grew up a borderer, and followed the life of a cowboy and rancher, but obtained a good education. The development of the country and their native energy brought the family a fair share of wealth, and so the son took a medical course and afterward became noted as a writer and worker in the Baptist church. He is now editor of The Baptist Standard and Advance, of Waco, the leading prohibition paper of that state. He has never held office.

General Bidwell was born Aug. 5, 1819, in Chautauque county, N. Y., removed at an early age to Ashtabula county, O., where he was educated, and then taught school for some years in that state and Missouri. In 1836 he crossed the plains to California and soon became a leader in that state, serving in the war against Mexico, the state militia, constitutional convention and state legislature. He also served one term in congress. His estate of some 22,000 acres at Chico, Butte county, is among the finest on the Pacific coast.

Prosperity in Argentina. Since the presidential election in the Argentine Republic the financial situation has greatly improved, and the prospects are favorable for an early return to the prosperity which the country has enjoyed. The wool clip this year is the largest that Argentina has ever produced; the wheat and corn harvests are fairly good and prices both for cattle and agricultural products are higher than last year. The premium on gold is decreasing and foreign trade for the first four months of this year shows great improvement over that of the corresponding period for the last year.

LIGHT AND AIRY.

Man's Superiority. She goes down to the dry goods store and spends our good old dollars For shirts just like her brother wears, with regular standing collars. She even has her hair cut short, and tries the best she can To obliterate the difference between herself and man; But when it comes to whiskers, by this idea we are cheered. Mr. Biederman Has a Few Words to Say:

Mr. Fred Biederman, employed by W. T. Baily of West Duluth, says: For three years I suffered with pains in my back, mental depression and general weakness. I felt tired most of the time, and had dizzy spells. I tried various remedies, but failed to get any permanent relief. Finally, after reading different testimonials in the various papers, I concluded to consult Dr. Speer & Co., of West Superior. He explained my difficulty all at once and placed me under treatment; his remedies have had the desired effect, my disagreeable symptoms have rapidly disappeared and I am well pleased with the result. I should be pleased to give any further information to anyone interested. And I can be found on First street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth avenues east, West Duluth.

CUT DOWN YOUR SHOE BILL

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it?

To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for family uses. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition—will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking. Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furnish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

The Weather.
U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.,
July 20.—Fair weather continues in all sections.
An area of low barometer extends nearly stationary over the Northwest, and an area of high is over the Ohio valley and the lower lakes.
The temperature has risen slightly all over,
and is especially high over Missouri, Kansas
and Iowa.
But little rain has fallen during the past twenty-four hours, and that in scattered showers over the Northwest.
The highest temperature here yesterday was 85°, the lowest last night 62°.

DULUTH, July 20.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Continued fair, probably followed by
showers; no decided change in temperature;
winds shifting to southerly.
B. H. BRONSON,
Observer.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Increasing cloudy-
ness, followed by local showers by Thursday night; winds shifting to southerly; slightly warmer in eastern Wisconsin and cooler in western portion of Upper Michigan. For Minnesota: Local showers today or tonight, probably followed by clearing weather; southerly shifting to westerly winds, probably severe local storms in southern Minnesota today; cooler in the northern portion Thursday.

HARTLEY FOR SEARLE.

The Herald has on several occasions expressed the opinion that G. G. Hartley and others pushed H. C. Kendall forward for the congressional nomination, because they believed that he was the easiest man to defeat, and, inferentially, that they would not place any obstacle in the way of Judge Searle's nomination. There are many circumstances which point to these conclusions,
and more are coming to light almost every day. In a St. Cloud special to the Minneapolis Journal of yesterday appears the following: "News has been received here this noon from the Searle
headquarters at Duluth that although a lively contest is looked for in the convention tomorrow, the St. Cloud man's forces stand solid and will not break ranks not even for a third man. Gil Hartley's candidacy, in the event of a dark horse, is considered a card. Governor Barto says Hartley is pledged for Searle from the outset, and will not go back on the judge."

In view of this statement by Governor Barto, who is a reputable man and is in a position to know who have made pledges to Judge Searle, it is not astonishing that Mr. Kendall did not accompany Mr. Kendall in his recent canvass of the district. It was, of course, impossible for him to do so under the circumstances, and a convenient pressure of business was an all sufficient excuse.

WHY INSTRUCT THEM.

Dispatches are being sent from Duluth to the St. Paul papers stating, upon what authority does not appear, that St.
Louis county Republicans will send an instructed delegation to St. Paul to vote for Knute Nelson's nomination for governor. If the Republicans of this county are wise, they will not tie the hands of their delegates to St. Paul by any instructions.

There are many counties that are sending uninstructed delegations, and while the nomination of Mr. Nelson seems very probable, there is a possibility that when the delegates reach St.
Paul and talk over the situation they may decide that some other man would make a stronger candidate. The St.
Louis county delegates should be free
to act at they deem best, and they can do more for this county in that way than
if they were instructed.

The reciprocity convention, which is to be held at Grand Forks early in September, should be an interesting gathering, and no doubt Duluth will be properly represented upon that occasion.
The question of a deep channel from Duluth to the sea is to receive attention,
and the project will no doubt be supported by strong resolutions.

The bar of St. Louis county has selected Hon. W. W. Billson as its choice to succeed Judge Stearns upon the bench of the district court. Mr. Billson is an able lawyer and should make an excellent judge, but it is questionable whether he will be willing to abandon his lucrative practice for even the honor of a judgeship.

Referring to Donnelly's nomination
for governor, the New York Herald says: "He is a glib crank, and his candidature will lend a picturesque and lively aspect to the campaign in Minnesota." Yes, and his probable strength at the polls is already causing the two old parties much distress.

A Minneapolis minister is credited with saying: "A minister must be honest, you know." So must other people, or go to jail.

Chili has paid an indemnity of $75,000
to this country for the Baltimore outrage. This settles all the disputes between the two countries. All the demands of the United States have been acceded to, and the course pursued by President Harrison has been successful.

A Red Lake Falls dispatch says that President Hill, of the Great Northern,
"is said to have his eye on the water power" at that place. If this be true,
the people of Red Lake Falls would do well not to leave it out-doors at night.

Kittel Halvorsen absolutely declines to reconsider his determination not to be the People's party candidate for lieutenant-governor. Kittel does not intend to spend the money he has saved at Washington in chasing rainbows.

Of Course Not.
Minneapolis Journal: The Superior Telegram figures out a population of 34,000 by multiplying its school population by eight. Thirty-four thousand.
Why, that is more than Duluth. It cannot be—or at least it must not be.

The A. P. A.
To the Editor of The Herald:

In the issue of your paper of July 18,
referring to the recent school election, it is stated that the American Protestant Association was the cause of the grand majorities rolled up for Messrs. Luther, Bradley and Leonard. Now I want to state right here that neither one of those men named ever belonged to the organization, and another fact is that there is not a single lodge in Duluth, and another fact that no man can show on our minutes
that we ever endorsed any candidate, or that we ever put up any person to be elected. I for one can take my oath to that effect and the less that is said about us the better it is for all concerned. We are a quiet lot of American citizens, but please don't pound us on the back.
Yours truly,

JOHN T. DIXON,
Recording Secretary of Lodge No. 8 of
A. P. A., West Duluth.

RECIPROCITY CONVENTION.

Gathering at Grand Forks Early in September.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., July 20.—The chamber of commerce yesterday selected Sept. 1 and 2 as the date of the international reciprocity convention to be held in this city. Excursion rates will be offered on all railroads as far East as
New York. Tickets will be on sale Aug.
30. Arrangements will be made for the attendance of 1000 delegates.

Invitations will be issued to the boards
of trades and all cities in the Northwestern states, Manitoba and on the Canadian frontier as far east as Detroit and Buffalo. Among the speakers of national reputation to be invited are Erasmus Wiman, Joseph Niman, Ben Butterworth and Consul Taylor, Premier Greenway and others from Manitoba.
Extension of railway communication,
trade relations, lake navigation and adequate water channel to the sea will receive large attention in the convention proceedings.

A VERY CLEVER REUSE.

Attempt of Condemned Men to Escape Frustrated.

COLUMBUS, O., July 19.—An attempt of six condemned men now awaiting execution in the state prison to escape was frustrated accidentally yesterday afternoon. Each afternoon they are permitted to exercise in a court leading out from their cells. A guard at this time patrols the walls surrounding. Yesterday afternoon the condemned men were playing ball and one of them threw the ball in such a way that it fell outside.
Instantly the guard dropped his gun and hurried after the ball.

It would have been an easy matter for the prisoners to have secured the gun and shot the guard, or hold him at bay
while they escaped. But Deputy Warden Playford happened to be in the annex and saw the situation. The moment
the guard started for the ball he shouted
to him and thus attracted the prisoners' attention. They made no attempt to escape.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 20.—Northern Pacific Conductor Dole shot two men riding on the roof of the express car on the

died instantly and the other will die.
The men pulled the bell to stop the

them to come down they refused with the above result. Both men were well dressed.

CHILE HAS SETTLED.

WASHINGTON, July 20.—The secretary of state announces that a settlement has been reached between the United States
and Chile as to the indemnity to be paid
by the latter on account of the assault
upon the crew of the Baltimore, and $75,000
in gold will be distributed among the families of the two men who lost their lives and to the surviving members of the crew who were wounded.

THROWN A DAMPER.

Gen. Snowden's Statement That the Militia Will Stay Until all Danger Ends.

Many of the Strikers Don't Like It and Talk Without Much Reserve.

Burgess McLuckie is Allowed to Have His Liberty on Furnishing $10,000 Bail.

HOMESTEAD, July 20.—Gen. Snowden's statement that the entire force of militia at present concentrated at Homestead would remain here until all danger of trouble had passed, has thrown a damper on the feelings of many of the strikers. They did not know Gen.
Snowden's determination until this morning, but when they did know tongues that had been bridled since the militia came threw off restraint and talked freely.

"Gen. Snowden is making a serious mistake," said one of the strike leaders
this morning. "He has seen enough of the people of Homestead to know that their inclinations are peaceful, and that the presence of a large body of armed men does much to irritate them. It is hardly fair in him to give the outside world the impression that we are a set of outlaws, ready to destroy life and property when military surveillance is removed. We don't like this suspicion, and it is not what we expected after the advisory committee and the citizens of the borough gave Gen. Snowden assurances that no more disorders would occur. If the troops were withdrawn today the bearing of the people would be no different from what it has been since
the military took possession."

Military officers and people who have no personal interest in the outcome of the wage question hold a different opinion. While some of the different officers of the national guard believe that Gen.
Snowden has made a mistake in deciding to hold the whole body of troops
until peace is assured, the large number think that he would not have arrived at this decision unless he had some definite information on which to base it. Many of them look forward to trouble, for no other reason than the fact that all the troops will remain.

Members of the advisory committee say that Hugh O'Donnell will return today. The report that he was seen in Baltimore is believed to be correct.
Prominent strikers will also no longer
of the suspicion that O'Donnell has made himself scarce on account of the charge of murder preferred against him.
"Hugh O'Donnell," said one leader, "is not making a mistake in that he runs away when danger threatens. His departure from Homestead was made necessary by important business for the Amalgamated association and his own interest. He will return when that business is taken care of. The remarks were indorsed by a number of the leaders."

The advisory committee of the Amalgamated association met at their headquarters last night and received reports from committees and scouts as to the progress of the strike. Word was received that three night watchmen who have been on duty in the mill were discharged yesterday because they refused to hold the whole body of troops until they were also suspected of carrying news to the strikers. The advisory committee sent one of their members to answer an advertisement inserted in a Pittsburg paper by Clark, Richmond &
Co. of 32 Pittsburg, Pa. The advertisement stated that twenty-five carpenters were wanted for outside work. The envoy of the association found that $2.75
per day, the regular carpenter's rate,
and that the twenty-five men were wanted
to erect sheds and bunks for workmen at Homestead.

The contributions received by the committee yesterday in response to their
appeal to labor organizations for financial aid amounted to $265.00, and the twenty-
five men were wanted to erect sheds and bunks for workmen at Homestead. The
committee yesterday in response to their
appeal to labor organizations for financial aid amounted to $265.00, and the twenty-
five men were wanted to erect sheds and bunks for workmen at Homestead. The
committee yesterday in response to their
appeal to labor organizations for financial aid amounted to $265.00, and the twenty-
five men were wanted to erect sheds and bunks for workmen at Homestead.

The party of scouts sent out by the Amalgamated association to intercept a body of non-union men reported to be gathering at Little Washington have returned. They report a long and difficult chase after the alleged "black sheep,"
which resulted in their finding a gang of men who had recently arrived at Little Washington to build a new railroad near there, and there was not an iron worker among them.

Camp Black was up and stirring early this morning. The troops, which are Pennsylvania's pride, were on their march. Governor Pattison was occupied all of the forenoon inspecting the Third brigade. The Second brigade drilled on the hillside until noon.

RELEASED ON BAIL.

Burgess McLuckie Allowed His Liberty
on Furnishing Heavy Bail.

PITTSBURG, July 20.—Burgess Mc-Luckie has been released on $10,000
bail, but the decision in this case will not apply to Hugh O'Donnell and the rest of the strikers for whom warrants have been issued, but who have failed to surrender, and all of them will be compelled to take their innings before the court. Judge McGee's court room was crowded to the corridor this morning by laboring men of this city and Homestead, and Burgess McLuckie, who was brought across the "bridge of sighs"
from the county jail and placed in the prisoner's box, held something approaching a levee until Judge McGee, who was accompanied by Judge Porter, took his seat upon the bench.
It had been anticipated that counsel

for the Carnegies would resist the application to give McLuckie his liberty, and there were consequently many murmurs
of surprise when, as soon as the case was called, District Attorney Burleigh arose
and said that having carefully gone
through the evidence with the associate counsel for the state, he conceded that McLuckie was entitled to his liberty.
Inasmuch, however, as the offense was one of considerable gravity, and in view of the situation in the locality he felt justified in asking that the bail
should be ample.

"I have carefully looked into this matter," replied Judge McGee, "and I don't concede that you can make it a case of murder in the first degree. But the law,
as I read it, makes every one who stands
idly by during a riot, and without making an effort to suppress it, guilty of riot
and a murder, and he becomes responsible for the consequences, whether they be destructive of property or life. Where life is destroyed, he becomes answerable
in the degree of killing to be determined by the law, whether it be first or second degree. But if the commonwealth wishes any of these cases those of first degree, it will have to show willful premeditation."

On behalf of the district attorney Cox
suggested that the decision in Mc-Luckie's case should govern all the rest of the accused men, in order that they might surrender and give bail. Neither the district attorney or the judge, however, were willing to concede this much.
The former said to the other men,
were so far, fugitives from justice, while
the court held that all the cases might not be alike. "Suppose," he said, "that any of these people got into trees with sharpshooters, and picked off their men with deliberation. Would they be entitled to any consideration in the matter of bail? I think not."

"All the men for whom warrants are out, are ready to surrender and give bail," suggested Attorney Cox. The court can consider no case that is not before it," said the judge peremptorily
and that ended the matter.

McLuckie's bail was fixed at $10,000.
Owen Murphy and Oliver C. Kinton, two residents of Homestead, qualified after being put through a rigid examination
by the district attorney, and McLuckie was then released. The crowd filed out of the court room and gave him a cheer
as he hurried to catch the first train for Homestead. In an interview with Attorney Brennan, he said that warrants would be issued very soon for the arrest of Frick and Lovejoy. They will be prosecuted. He did not say what would be done about Andrew Carnegie.
It is not thought that Frick and Lovejoy
will be arrested today.

STRICKEN BY LIGHTNING.

A School House Struck and Two of the Pupils Killed.

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 20.—The colored
school in Brickhead Village was yesterday stricken by lightning. The school was filled with pupils, fifty in number,
and two teachers. The whole number sat paralyzed and unable to save themselves from danger. People rushed to the burning school and began to drag out the pupils, the great majority of them had been rendered unconscious by the stroke. One of the teachers, Miss Butler, will die. Sidney Stanford and Gardner Turner were killed. Two other pupils cannot live.

CHANGE OF TIME AND INCREASE OF SERVICE.

Commencing with Sunday, July 24, the St. Paul & Duluth railway will inaugurate through sleeping car service between West Superior and St. Paul.

The train now leaving West Superior
at 9:40 p. m. daily, will be changed to leave at 11:15 p. m., arriving in St. Paul at 7:15 a. m. and in Minneapolis at 7:35
a. m. In addition to the new sleeping cars from Duluth to St. Paul and Minneapolis, this train will carry a sleeper
from West Superior to St. Paul. These

RINGING A BELLE.

Belles have been rung since rings
came into fashion and out of fashion
rings will never go until tropical trees grow at the North Pole. Rings are as old as nursery rhymes and new as the latest news. We have some of the handsomest specimens that ever gave an added charm to a lady's finger. We make a specialty of rings, but not of rings alone, for you have never seen
and are never likely to see anything
handsomer than our display of jewelry
of all conceivable varieties.

Headaches!

It has been estimated that 15 per cent
of all the people who have nervous trouble claim headache as their principal symptom.

They are more apt to occur in those who lead a sedentary, stressful, indoor life, and particularly in those who overwork mentally at some one thing without variety.

And women have them oftenest.
They are without question the most common concomitants of systematic disturbance and disease. Take the case of A Hotel Incident.

He was handsome, he was wealthy,
He was awfully awful nice,
He possessed none of the habits
That could be called a vice.
There was Hattie, there was Mabel
Two charming girls, those two.
Each of them had golden hair
And each had had her true.
For female loveliness and pedigree
They both had an equal share,
And each spun out the magic web,
This young man to ensnare.

He did ponder, he did wonder,
Which maiden he should wed,
Would it be this one or that one,
Or the other one instead?
So in thinking, desperately thinking,
He concluded to give a ball,
And watch a test of maiden grace
As they promenade in the hall.
For with this one, and with that one,
When in their company he would be,
To each he'd lose his heart entire,
Though he struggled to be free.

With dubious mind and two Cupid darts,
Which pierced his very soul,
He watched the crowded ballroom
And did with a friend console.
When all at once two ladies fair
In their presence did appear,
One was sweetly and daintily dressed,
The other looked out of gear.
In a minute he decided
Which maiden it should be,
Decision seemed quite easy,
His heart was light and free.

Now the moral of this story
Is but a twice-told tale—
The lady who looked out of gear
Thought her dress at a special sale;
While the lady that looked charming,
And had nothing to deplore,
Father and mother had bought her dress
At Haynie's Dry Goods store.

BILLSON CHOSEN.

The Duluth Bar Selects Him as Its Candidate for Judge of This District.

Seven Ballots Required to Decide—The Choice is Made Unanimous.

The Coroner's Jury Finds That Gross Negligence Caused the Bruno Accident.

Nearly every member of the bar association in Duluth was at the municipal court last evening in response to the call for a meeting to select a candidate for judge. It took about three hours to reach a decision and W. W. Billson was finally decided upon. Judge Powell was selected as chairman and Edward Fuller secretary. After some discussion it was decided to take an informal ballot.

It was apparent from the first that Mr. Billson was the favorite. On the first informal ballot he received 36 votes, S. L. Smith 1, W. B. Phelps 1, S. H. Moer 3, Page Morris 5, Judge Stearns 2 and a few scatters. Another informal ballot was taken Billson receiving 31, Smith 13, Phelps 14, Moer 11, Morris 8, and Judge Stearns 4.

The formal balloting was then proceeded with, the first ballot resulting in Billson receiving 40 votes, Phelps 12, Smith 11, Moer 11. The second and third resulted in very little change, but on the fourth S. H. Moer jumped to 22 votes, Billson receiving 41, Phelps 9 and Smith 6. Mr. Phelps here arose and withdrew in favor of Mr. Billson. S. H. Moer followed, and Judge Stearns, who had received 3 votes, asked that they be cast for Mr. Billson.

The fifth and final ballot resulted in 69 votes for Billson, 5 for Smith, 1 for Phelps and 3 for Moer. The following resolution, introduced by W. A. Cant, was then passed:

Resolved, That it is the unanimous opinion of the bar of the Eleventh Judicial district of the State of Minnesota that the Hon. W. W. Billson should be elected to the office of judge of the said district court for the term beginning on the first Monday in January, A. D. 1893.

Resolved further, That the bar of said judicial district, expressing special confidence in his learning and ability as a lawyer and in his integrity as a man and citizen, do hereby unanimously request the Hon. W. W. Billson to permit his name to be used as a candidate for election to said office, and that the members of said bar do hereby pledge themselves to use all honorable means to secure his nomination and election therefor.

The appointment of a committee of five to notify Mr. Billson and to recommend his name to the different conventions in the district was authorized. S. F. Harrison offered a motion which was carried, that a committee of five be appointed to organize a bar association in Duluth. It was also recommended that the organization be launched with a grand banquet to which the supreme judges shall be invited.

S. M. OWEN TALKS.

He Discusses the Centralization of Wealth.

Hon. S. M. Owen spoke in the interests of the People's party at the Pavilion last evening before a large audience. Mr. Owen is a good talker and is thoroughly informed. Unfortunately there were a few hoodlums present who tried to make so much noise that the speaker would be drowned out, and it was so exasperating that he was forced to remark that he had been told before that Duluth was on the border of civilization, and he almost believed it now.

Mr. Owen spoke on the centralization of the wealth of the country. The two old political parties, he said, are silent on this question and on the causes which bring about the centralization of the nation's wealth, except as to the tariff.

"I like to talk of the tariff," said Mr. Owen, "especially if there are any Democrats near. The Democratic party eats, drinks and sleeps tariff reform; it has no other idea in its head. If the words 'tariff reform' were to be annihilated there would be no Democratic party. At the same time this party is right on the tariff as it goes. It is one of the most potent factors in the centralization of wealth. It makes the strong stronger and the weak weaker. No better argument in favor of this is needed than the argument at Homestead a few days ago. The protective system never protects labor; it was never designed to do it and the men that tell you that it was are hypocrites. The tariff was inaugurated to make money for the manufacturers of the country and no one else. Hamilton, the father of protection, admitted that the only way to build up our industries was to increase immigration and reduce wages. Clay never contended that the tariff reform would increase wages, but he apologized for it saying that though its natural tendency would be to reduce wages the broad lands of America which would draw men into agriculture would neutralize this effect. He also said that after the manufacturers had received sufficient protection to build them up the tariff would no longer be needed."

Mr. Owen urged workmen not to be afraid of the cry "free trade" and he ridiculed the idea of a tariff for revenue only meaning free trade.

As to railroads he said that he was not going to assail them, but there are two evils in connection with them which threaten the safety of the republic. As to over capitalization he would say nothing but the power exercised by railroads of discriminating against towns, cities and individuals, of pulling down here and building up there, must be checked. The other evil is the political power of railroads which is almost absolute. The governmental control of railroads he declared to be as weighty a question as was the abolition of slavery because it involves a higher class of people. The railroads, he said, must be made as fair and just to all people alike as is the postoffice today.

He scored the two parties for what he termed their agility in straddling the momentous questions of the day and drew a parallel between their positions on the silver question and their positions forty years ago on the slavery question. The People's party he likened to the Free Soil party and it will be the entering wedge to break up the old traditions. These issues will not down, he declared, until settled as effectually and eternally as the slavery question.

GROSS NEGLIGENCE.

That is the Jury's Verdict at the Getting Inquest.

The inquest over the body of F. W. Gettling was resumed yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at Stewart's undertaking parlors on First street. There was an unusually large crowd in attendance and the interest manifested in the hearing was very great. The twenty-first avenue ferry line was represented by counsel and the testimony taken numbered a little over 12,000 words.

Commodore B. B. Luman was the first witness. He was called as an expert and recited at length for the benefit of the jury some of the principal rules of navigation governing the case. Capt. J. Monaghan, the United States inspector of hulls, was the next witness, and he gave a very clear description of the duties of an engineer and master of pilot of a boat. He said the N. H. Bruno was licensed to carry seventy-five passengers.

Captain C. H. Cameron was the next witness. He was the commander, in name only, of the unfortunate steamer. His story did not differ materially from the one which he previously told in The Herald. He admitted, however, that the little steamer was very cranky and liable to careen to a great extent. He said there was only forty-two passengers on the boat and also states that he had surrendered his master's license pending the investigation.

Manager John Daniels and also engineer of the Bruno told his story. He said that it was the first time he had ever attempted to take the steamer through the "gap" or channel across the dyke and that he saw the boat would not have sufficient clearance when approaching the passage, and that he tried to change her course but it was too late. He had left his engine without an attendant while he assumed the piloting so that Captain Cameron could collect the fares.

Drs. Howard S. Davis and Peter Bakke, who made the autopsy, then testified as to the condition of the man before death and of the body after death. Dr. Davis testified that the man lived somewhere about an hour and a half after he was hurt.

Ex-Chief of Police Doran and A. T. McGregor, who were passengers on the boat, told their stories of the disaster. They spoke of the crowded condition of the vessel and of the excitement following the accident, and how the passengers stood knee deep in water, and how Mrs. Doran and Mrs. McGregor and her little girl were entirely submerged for an instant. They told of the rescue of the imperiled passengers by the numerous sail boats which were attracted to the scene of the catastrophe.

The testimony was very conclusive as to the negligence of the officers in charge of the boat and also as to the general laxity of safeguards about the smaller class of excursion steamers. The jury retired and after about half an hour's spirited consultation returned their verdict, of which the following is the part most interesting to the general public:

"We the jury find that the said F. W. Gettling came to his death by being thrown from the deck of the steamer N. H. Bruno into the waters of St. Louis bay, at Duluth, in St. Louis county and state of Minnesota. We also find that there was gross negligence on the part of John Daniels, engineer of the boat, and manager of the line, and also contributory negligence on the part of Capt. C. H. Cameron."

The general public impression is that the verdict is just at least rather mild, but as the United States treasury officials will take some action in the matter and the next grand jury will be advised of it there is no fault found with its meekness. It is expected that the inspection will permanently revoke the license of Engineer Daniels and suspend Capt. Cameron for a short period. The boat will also probably be fined for the negligence of its owners.

WILL BE MISSED.

Mrs. Claypool's Death is Mourned by a Large Circle of Friends.

The death of Mrs. George H. Claypool at 811 Park place, which was formally announced yesterday, removes from the ranks of well-known social people a lady who for the past twelve years has been prominent in all good works and an ornament to the large circle in which she moved. Her husband and an interesting trio of children—a daughter of 14 years and two boys, respectively 10 and 5 years old—are left behind to mourn her taking away. Mrs. Claypool's maiden name was Emma N. Houston, and she was married a little over fifteen years ago in Armstrong county, Pa. She was a member of the Second Presbyterian church here, but the influence of her kind and gentle nature was felt far beyond the church roll of membership. Her numerous charities, were dispensed with quietness and unostentation and there are a number of homes in Duluth into which her kindly ministrations have thrown the sunshine of a real friend in need. She was 40 years and two days old at the time of her death.

Wants to Settle. The defendant in the divorce and $20,000 damage suit of Jennie Volton vs. H. K. Volton, the restaurant man, is evidently getting a little anxious to settle the matter without any further delay in the courts. His lawful wife was approached a day or two ago by a merchant in the Temple block who offered her $200 to settle. The offer was indignantly refused.

The Sailing Race. The Sweetheart, owned by Gilbert Bros., won the yacht race yesterday afternoon in the Duluth Yacht club's annual regatta. The Chaska was the only other contestant. The time was 36 minutes.

An Improvement. On and after Sunday, July 24, the St. Paul & Duluth night train for St. Paul and Minneapolis will leave Duluth and West Superior at 11:15 p. m., and will carry sleeping cars without change, from Duluth to St. Paul and Minneapolis, and from West Superior to St. Paul. The cars are new and of the improved pattern and this addition to the present good service will be appreciated by the traveling public.

The trains for Superior, Lakeside, West Duluth and Minneapolis do not leave till after the opera, Lyceum theater, every night.

DR. O'LEARY

Lecturer on Physiology, etc., returns on his annual tour to see his patients and their friends who may wish to avail themselves of his assistance. Always when here before, as is well and widely known, his rooms were constantly crowded from first to last, and more and more so at each succeeding visit. He is never able to stay long enough to see all who desire to consult him, as he has so many patients, in so many places,—a very busy life. Few have so wide an experience—perhaps not another in the United States. His work speaks for itself, and grows with the years, and he finds all that is necessary is to let his patients know the time of his coming, when they bring their friends and members of their families, and hence the crowds. His great success he ascribes to his thorough knowledge of the laws of health, to which physicians, generally, pay so little attention, and of which, people, otherwise intelligent, know so wonderfully little. He puts his patients on the right road to recovery, and to remain free from maladies that most of them think incurable. He hears the one sad story all the day long, over, and over, and over, that they have tried every doctor at home and abroad—first one and then another, and all promised to cure, and yet did no good. And many went to the springs, and the baths, and the large cities, and to Europe, and tried electricity, and Christian science, and the Faith cure, and the healers by laying on of hands, and the water cures, and the miracle workers, all in vain. This is almost the only kind that comes to him—chronic (Chronos, time) diseases—those that have lasted long. Many of the maladies are not at all dangerous, but extremely annoying and distressing, rendering life burdensome, making the afflicted miserable, weak, melancholy and many ultimately insane. The family physician says they cannot be cured, simply because he does not know how. Most of them are easy when one does know, and the great secret lies in the laws of hygiene, only assisted by drugs. He makes no pretensions of miracles, or mysteries, or any wonderful cures at all—only to find the track for those who are off it and put them on it again, so that it is easy and natural to be well, when they wonder why they did not find it sooner.

He has stacks of letters, fresh and warm, from grateful hearts who had long suffered and are now well and happy. The best of it is, they feel that they got well not by taking poison, nor by any mystery, but by simple natural laws, obeying which they have every prospect of keeping well, and thus they lose fear and anxiety, confident that good health is their natural condition and sure to them.

Many tell him they pray for his coming, and one said he waited eight years to find him, and still others tell him they feel safe when they can see him, and urge him to settle near them. But his lectures, in their season, lead him to many places, and when nights are too short and warm for them he returns to meet his patients, as here now. He has an enormous correspondence, treating great numbers that he never has seen, whose friends persuade them to consult by letter. He sends medicines by express and mail to all parts of the country, including many physicians, and members of their families among his patients. He keeps shorthand records of all his cases, over a hundred thousand now, and receives reports by mail, and thus keeps a careful and complete track of them as if personally present, where the patient takes pains to report. Without this it would be impossible to do justice to so many.

Lectures this week in Normanna Hall. Office in rear of Banning Block. 12 Second Ave. W. UP STAIRS. Hours, 2 to 5 p. m. Free private consultation for a few days.

NOTICE OF MORTGAGE FORECLOSURE SALE.

Default has been made in the payment of the sum of one hundred and forty-nine and 3/40 dollars which is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by W. C. Gray and Alex. McPherson to George W. Jackson, bearing date September 15th, 1890, and with a power of sale therein contained which said mortgage was duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis, and state of Minnesota, on the 26th day of October, 1890, at 1 o'clock p. m., in book 41 of mortgages on page 573.

And, whereas, there is actually due and payable at the date hereof the sum of two hundred and thirty-four dollars ($234) with interest thereon from September 15th, 1891, at the rate of 8 per cent per annum.

And, whereas, the said power of sale by reason of said default has become operative and no action or proceeding having been instituted at law or otherwise to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises described in and conveyed by said mortgage, namely: Lots number eleven (11) and twelve (12) in block number twelve (12), in Clinton Place addition to Duluth according to the recorded plat thereof filed and recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for said St. Louis county, Minnesota, in which county and state said premises are situated, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis county at the front door of the court house of said county, in the city of Duluth, in said county and state, on Saturday, the 3rd day of September, 1892, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day at public auction to the highest bidder for cash to pay said debt and interest and twenty-five dollars ($25) attorney's fees as stipulated in said mortgage in case of foreclosure and the disbursements allowed by law, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the date of sale as by law provided.

Dated at Duluth, Minn., July 19th, 1892. JAMES J. JACKSON, Mortgagee.

A VIRGINIA FIELD.

Facts About the Busy Life of the People's Party Vice Presidential Candidate.

A Confederate General Whose Reputation is Confined as Yet Chiefly to Virginia.

Won His Honors in Confederate Service and Lost a Leg in a Battle.

The People's party has divided the honors on a reconciliation basis, taking a Confederate general for presidential and a Confederate one for vice presidential candidates. General James H. Field, of Iowa, is well known, while his running mate, General Field, has a reputation confined as yet chiefly to Virginia.

James H. Field was born in Walnut, Culpeper county, Va., Feb. 24, 1836. His ancestors were identified with those of the Fields of New York. He attended for a time a classical school and became a teacher.

er. In 1848 he went to California, and in 1850 he was elected one of the secretaries of the convention that framed the first constitution of that state. In the same year he returned to Virginia, began the study of law and in 1852 was admitted to the bar. He was attorney for the commonwealth for his native county for four years and won high honors in the Confederate army. He attained to the rank of brigadier general and lost a leg at the battle of Slaughter's Mountain. Since the war he has served some years as attorney general of the state. He has a large farm in Albemarle county, and besides being prominent as a lawyer is an influential member of the Baptist church.

Monometric Queen Victoria.

It gives one quite a shock to learn that Queen Victoria is "monometric." Professor Karl Vogt says so. In his recent memoir of Dr. August Wilhelm Hoffman he divides women generally into "polymetric and monometric ladies," and says the queen is in the "mono" class. A woman of this species, says he, selects one man whom she constitutes her measure or ideal of all other men of the same office, social class or profession. For the queen of England, says the old republican philosopher, "there existed only one perfect husband, the prince consort; only one brilliant flower of statesmanship, Lord Disraeli Beaconsfield; and only one ideally complete natural scientist, August Wilhelm Hoffman."

The loyal Englishman will ask what the queen had to do with the late Dr. Hoffman. When she made her Rhine tour with Prince Albert after their marriage, she expressed an eager desire to see the rooms in which her husband had lived during his student days at Bonn. They were inhabited at the time by Dr. Hoffman, and the queen found the then privat-docent at the university busy at a chemical experiment. The scientist, as Professor Vogt punningly says, "was a Hof-mann (courtierly man) in nature as well as in surname." The young queen was charmed with his talk, concluded that there was no other such chemical researcher in the world, and this was the reason why he was called in 1848 to the Royal College of Chemistry in London.

Raising Dogs for Their Skins.

Dog farming is not unknown in civilized countries, though the dogs there are bred for petting and hunting. In the extreme north of China they are bred for their skins. In Manchourey the skins are very beautiful; the hair is long, thick and silky, and of a remarkably fine texture. This is explained by the climate of the Manchourey, which is exceedingly cold, and the dogs must of necessity be protected by thick, heavy fur. Connoisseurs declare that these skins of this kind have never been found. The animals are killed by strangulation in the winter, because at that time the hair is longest and thickest, but none are killed that are not 8 months old.

The price paid for this fur is ridiculous, say small. A large mantle measuring about 120 inches is sold for $3.50. About eight skins are needed to make such a mantle. The skins must not only be assorted and matched in color and quality, but the mantle be made as well, certainly a curious industry that deals with profits which seem to us abnormally small. It would certainly be a novelty in America to see a parlor ring of dogskins—for instance, a centerpiece of "big yellow stray dogs," surrounded by patterns shading off in gray, black and tan and spitz, the whole finished with a variegated border of assorted puppies.

They Won't Drink Water.

A parrot now occupying a cage in the zoological gardens, Regent park, London, is said to have gone without water for fifty-two years. In this respect Polly is somewhat ahead of Jack Irvin, who resides in Beaver county, Pa., and who hasn't touched water for thirty-six years. Mr. Irvin is now in his eighties, and for more than an average lifetime has rigorously abstained from the use of the liquor that fills his does not inebriate. Neither does he drink intoxicating liquors, although living quite convenient to a distillery. At his meals he drinks coffee or tea or milk, as the notion takes him. Between meals when he feels his thirst growing he gets out his pipe and smokes it. While he is in fair health, his neighbors say that his looks would indicate that he is pretty well dried up.

SHE WAS BEHINDHAND.

A Fortune Teller's Old News Not Worth the Price.

The lady who entered the apartments of the fortune teller shortly before noon had red hair and an air of reserve force that was very striking. It was evident that the business on hand was of the deepest moment to her, inasmuch as her eyes had a fixed expression and her thin lips were firmly set.

"Reveal to me," she softly directed, "my future."

The fortune teller darted a swift glance into the strong face before her and bent attentively over the outstretched palm.

"It is very plain," she quietly observed, "you will be married twice."

The brow beneath the clustering auburn curls contracted in a frown.

"Yes," the clairvoyant continued, "there is a distinct break in the line of hymen. You are destined to bless two men with your wifely love."

"Two?"

The red haired lady's tone was hard and incisive, suggesting a trace of skepticism.

"Ah, yes. The first husband will die under sad circumstances, but you will be consoled and made happy in the devotion of the second."

It seemed as if the ruddy tress which had escaped from the elaborate coiffure and depended wistfully beside the shell-like ear was trembling, but it might have been the play of dancing sunlight.

"But I will make sure."

"Do so."

The red haired lady watched with unfeigned eagerness while the fortune teller consulted a horoscope and a pack of cards.

"As I thought. The fates have spoken. You will marry twice."

The red haired lady breathed hard.

"All have their sorrows," gently suggested the clairvoyant.

The red haired lady bit her finger nail.

"One dollar, please."

"One dollar."

"Not by a jugful."

As the red haired lady rose from her seat her manner had not lost a particle of its majesty.

"One dollar, indeed! Well, I guess not. Do you think I came here to pay a dollar for a lot of old information? Two husbands! The idea! Why, I myself know of more than that without anybody telling me. Yes, ma'am. You might be interested to learn that I buried my fourth husband as long as six weeks ago. Married twice! Why don't you try to tell people something they don't know already? You make me drowsy. You ought to have lived ten years ago. You're away behind the times."

The sunlight kept right along dancing, but the red haired lady was gone like a dream that has fled.—Detroit Tribune.

Only One Breed.

"If I understand you," said the lawyer to the man who called to consult him, "your cow was thrown from the track at a street crossing by a locomotive on the X, Y, and Z road, and you want to bring suit against the company for damages?"

"Yes, that's right."

The lawyer made a memorandum.

"Valuable animal, I presume?"

"Furry good cow. Hadn't no bad tricks. Good milk."

"What breed?"

"I don't know."

"You don't know? Was she badly injured?"

"Badly injured? Why, she was killed dead—by a mackerel!"

"And buried?"

"Course."

"Why didn't you say so?" exclaimed the attorney impatiently. "There's only one breed of cattle in cases of this kind."

And he made another memorandum: "Breed, Jersey. Value, $150."—Chicago Tribune.

Apologies of the Season.

"Edgar, love," said the bride as the train moved away with them on their wedding journey, "I want you to make me one solemn promise."

"Haven't I just done that, my own?" counter asked the bewildered bridegroom.

"But this is something else. I want you to promise that—that—"

"That I will never marry again if you should die?"

"No, indeed. That you always will be good to dear little Fido."

The bridegroom said something, but it was lost in the rattle of the train and the recording angel forgot to put it down.—Detroit Free Press.

Straight enough, though, when his head was right.

But sneaky, you bet, when his spells came on; Though things were running on smooth that night.

As the hands were dealt and the cards were drawn.

Lucky old Muggins had won a lot: I was easy—the loss was Ben's. Mue had just opened a big jack pot, And I had filled on a pair of tens.

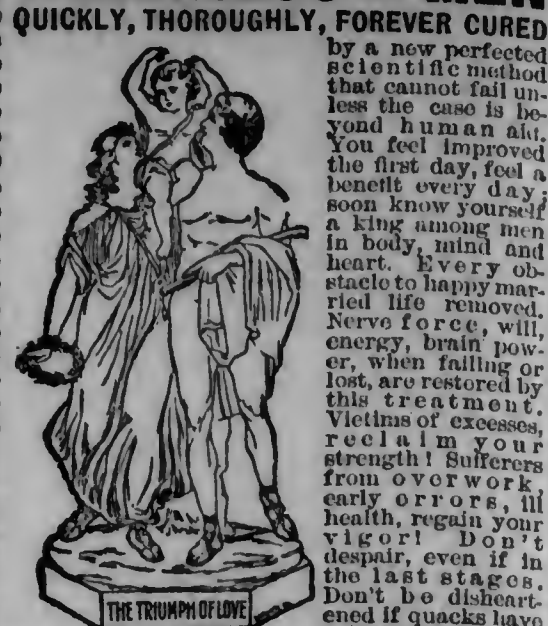

When all of a sudden Ben gave a yell That lifted our hair and raised the sweat: Then just what happened I couldn't tell, For Ben had a fit, an we left, you bet.

Deserted like cowards, and left poor Ben— Flew through the window an took the cash— I reckon Ben snickered for a minute, an then Walked out through the door an took the cash.

Fail to do Their Duty.

Everybody has at times failed to do their duty towards themselves. Hundreds of lady readers suffer from sick headache, nervousness, sleeplessness and female troubles. Let them follow the example of Mrs. H. Herbecher, Stevens Point, Wis., who for five years suffered greatly from nervous prostration, sleeplessness, tried physicians and different medicines without success. But one bottle of Dr. Miles' Nerve and Brain Tonic cured her. Sold by all druggists. Trial bottle free.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.

When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.

When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.

You may be under the impression that it makes but little difference where you buy your groceries. Perhaps you are disposed to think that you are pretty sure to be served just as well in one place as in another—that, on the whole, all groceries are very much alike, no matter where they come from. Nothing could be further from the truth. In groceries as in everything else, can be found the good, the indifferent and the bad. Not to go into further details, we simply tell you this: From us you will get the best and nothing but the best and you'll get it at prices that the closest purchasers will indorse.

Citizens of Homestead are Anxious that the Military Forces Shall be Withdrawn.

Sixty-Five More Non-Union Men are Taken Into the Carnegie Mills to Work.

Hugh O'Donnell and Ross Surrender to the Authorities and are in Jail.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 21.—Citizens of Homestead are very much displeased at the continued presence of the militia and the manner in which Gen. Snowden uses his authority. They claim that Gen. Snowden's decision to keep the entire Second and Third brigades here indefinitely, and the arbitrary interference with matters in the borough are having a bad effect upon the people of the town and are unwarranted by the situation. There is considerable feeling over the attempt to prevent the parade of citizens in honor of Burgess McLuckie when he returned yesterday afternoon from his temporary sojourn in jail.

But for the late arrival of the company of infantry under Capt. Gerbig, who was ordered to disperse the crowd and prevent the parade, there would in all probability have been a serious clash between the soldiers and the people. As it was, there was much indignation when the purpose of the soldiers became known. A committee of citizens headed by a leading physician called upon Governor Pattison late last night, and after stating their grievances to him, they requested him in the name of the citizens of the borough to withdraw the military from Homestead. The governor received the delegation politely, but firmly declined to grant their request, saying that the National Guard will remain where it is until the issue is finally settled. This action of the governor, together with the fact that during his stay he has been the guest of Superintendent Porter, of the Carnegie company, and has lived at his house instead of at the hotel or at camp, has caused much talk among the mill men and townspeople. They declare that his attitude is that of an ally of Mr. Frick and not that of a chief executive, whose only duty here is to preserve order.

Hugh O'Donnell, who arrived in Homestead as mysteriously as he departed, went to Pittsburgh on the 8 o'clock train this morning to surrender himself to Alderman McMaster, who issued the warrant for his arrest. Before leaving Mr. O'Donnell talked with a number of the leaders and expressed himself as content with the outcome of the strike. Hugh Dempsey, master workman of district assembly No. 3, Knights of Labor, was at the Amalgamated headquarters this morning, waiting to have a talk with O'Donnell. He said that the report that the Knights of Labor will take up the cause of the Homestead men and assist them in every way is correct, and added that the fight will no longer be a local one, but that every great labor organization in the country will take part in it. Three hundred strikers formerly in the mechanical department of the Homestead works secured work this morning in laying and grading the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad at Millvale near Pittsburgh. The railroad company applied for bands in Homestead, and a notice stating that 300 men were wanted was posted at the headquarters of the locked-out mechanics and laborers. Applications were brisk and no difficulty was experienced in securing the requisite number. Most of the men were of the poorer class of Poles and Slavs.

SIXTY-FIVE WORKMEN.

More Additions to the Force in the Homestead Mills.

PITTSBURGH, July 21.—At 9:25 o'clock this morning, the tug Tide left her wharf at the foot of Smithfield street, bound for Homestead. An official of the Carnegie company was present and closely inspected the tickets held by the sixty-five or seventy workmen who were on the boat. The train this morning and another large supply of provisions were also taken on board.

At 6 p. m. today the time fixed by the Carnegie Steel company for the return of the old men expired, and the company will give them no further opportunity to them. In spite of the fact that few, if any, of the old men have returned to work so far, the officials of the company today expressed themselves as confident many would signify their desire to go to work before the day is done. Mr. Lovejoy has, from the first, insisted that two-thirds of their old men would return to work and this morning he was of the same opinion.

There will be no change in the time, the plans or policy of the company regarding the works or the men. The officials say every chance will be given to return to work has been given, and after tonight no further regard will be paid to the old men; their places will be filled and the mills started.

ARE NOW IN JAIL.

O'Donnell and Ross Surrender to the Authorities Today.

PITTSBURGH, July 21.—O'Donnell at noon went into Judge McGee's court with Hugh Ross and stated that he was ready to surrender. The judge told him he would have to surrender to a magistrate before whom information was laid. He went to the magistrate's office across the street. McMaster was pointed out to him by a reporter and he then surrendered. The service of the warrant was accepted and in a few minutes both men were inside the jail.

At 2:30 p. m. Attorney Cox said that owing to the fact that Judge McGee had adjourned court and gone home at noon, it was now quite likely that his clients, O'Donnell and Ross, would have to remain in the jail until morning, at which time an application will be made for their release.

PASSED THE HOUSE.

The Retaliatory Measure Against Canada On Canal Tolls.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—In the house Mr. Blount (Democrat), of Georgia moved to consider the bill reported yesterday to enforce reciprocal commercial relations with Canada. The bill authorizes the president to suspend after Aug. 1, the right of free passage through the St. Mary's canal of foreign vessels, whenever unjust tolls are charged upon our vessels or other discrimination is made by Canada, $2 per ton to be charged on freight and $5 on passengers. Mr. Blount said that our government should stand up manfully and emphatically for its rights and meet whatever emergencies should arise. The great lakes should not be open to Canadian trade, so long as the United States was discriminated against. The bill only carried out a rule laid down by the Canadian government.

Mr. Hill (Republican), of Illinois, said the bill deeply concerned the people engaged in the grain trade in the Northwest and everywhere else. The United States was entitled to the Welland canal under treaty provisions. Every cargo transported through the Welland canal paid ten times as much toll as was charged Canadian vessels. The bill was then passed without a division.

TWO NEW MINISTERS.

Andrew D. White Sent to Russia and A. L. Snowden to Spain.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—The president sent to the senate today the following nominations: Andrew D. White, of New York, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Russia.

A. L. Snowden, of Pennsylvania, now envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the United States to Greece, Roumania and Serbia, to be envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary to Spain.

The following to be consuls of the United States: John A. Barnes, of Illinois, at Chemnitz; Lanley R. Burk, of South Dakota, at Messina; Cyrus W. Field, of New York, at Brunswick; Carl Bailey Hurst, of the district of Columbia, at Catania; Charles August Vortried, of Ohio, at Horgen. To be postmaster: J. P. Bray, Grand Forks, N. D.

A BANK TELLER SKIPPED.

A Chicago Man Disappears With About $3000.

CHICAGO, July 21.—George Bartels, Jr., who for one and one-half years has been the paying teller of the Central Trust and Savings bank, disappeared last Saturday, and it is alleged, took with him upwards of $3000 of the bank's money. Betting on the races and bad associates are assigned as the causes of his downfall.

The bank lost nothing, as it was secured by a $10,000 bond of the American Surety company, of New York, and it is the latter institution that is anxious to know Mr. Bartels' present whereabouts. The American Surety company paid the amount of the defalcation last Tuesday, as soon as the loss was discovered.

To Widen the Channel.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Senator Davis and Capt. Miller had a hearing before Secretary Elkins yesterday in regard to the Duluth channel, opposite Rice's Point, and secured an order to Cap. Fisk, in charge of the work, to begin dredging at that point with a view of making the channel 200 feet wide, instead of 100, as it is at present. Secretary Thomson, of the Duluth chamber of commerce, is feeling pretty good, having secured from Secretary Rusk an order for a local forecast station in the weather service at Duluth. The secretary notified Senator Davis that this request had been granted.

An Alderman Resigns.

TOLEDO, O., July 21.—Councilman R. P. Strain, one of those indicted last week, rendered his resignation to the mayor last night. It is probable that most of his associates will follow suit today. This will greatly simplify matters. The resignations will simply necessitate the election of a new man. It is not considered that Strain's resignation has any reference to his innocence or guilt of the boodling charges, it being merely a matter of expediency.

A Vacancy Filled.

INDIANAPOLIS, July 21.—The Democratic state central committee met here last night for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the supreme court to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge New. There were several candidates for the position. William T. Zeener was finally made the unanimous choice of the committee. He has been a lawyer of high standing for fifteen years, and is regarded as the possessor of one of the best legal minds in the state.

Rich Nominated.

SAGINAW, Mich., July 21.—In the Republican convention today John T. Rich, of Elba, and Mayor Case I. Pingree, of Detroit, were nominated for governor, and Rich won on the first ballot.

Harberty for Chairman.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The Democratic national committee met here today. Chairman Bruce presiding. W. F. Harberty, of Pennsylvania, was elected as the new chairman of the committee and S. P. Sheerin, of Indiana, was re-elected secretary.

George Francis Train, the Well-Known Crank, is Said to be a Millionaire.

Senator Puffer Derives Most Fun in Playing With Children in the Street.

George Francis Train is a millionaire. The poorest paid parson in America is said to be a Mr. Wainfleet, of Molesworth, Mass., a very small village. His salary is three dollars a week.

Maxley, the scientist, said recently that he had no objection to the title professor, but he asks his friends, if they love him, not to call him doctor.

The president begins his day's work at 9 o'clock in the morning. During his three years' occupancy of the White House he has not lost a day by illness.

Dr. Edward Everett Hale says that one of the secrets of keeping young at the age of seventy is "never to do anything yourself which you can get another to do for you."

Governor Boies, of Iowa, is a widower, but he has two sons, who are practicing law at Waterloo, and a married daughter, Mrs. J. W. Carson, who resides at Mount Vernon, Ia.

Cushman R. Davis, who was one of the vice-presidents, bears a striking resemblance to Ben Butler as the general appeared a decade ago.

Millionaire Silas B. Cobb, of Chicago, was born in Vermont in 1813, and settled in Chicago May 29, 1833. He worked his way to the new settlement on a Buffalo schooner, arriving without a cent in his pocket.

Senator Puffer says that he "gets the most real fun in playing with children in the street. There is an abundant sincerity about their fun that you never find in the sports of folks that are old enough to be conscious of their dignity."

Mr. Blaine's cousin, J. W. Blaine, who comes valuable copies in Canada and is otherwise well to do, has so strong a resemblance physically and facially to the distinguished ex-secretary of state that he is frequently mistaken for him.

William M. Davenport, though blind, owns and operates a 100-acre farm in Leyden, Mass., and is one of the best judges of live stock in his county. He earned his first dollar from sawing wood and thrashing, and is now worth from $50,000 to $75,000.

Spina Hutton, who succeeds John S. Barber as United States senator from Virginia, was a brigadier general in the Confederate army and was imprisoned at Fort Warren for three months. He has had several years' experience as congressman.

Nelson Wilmarth Aldrich who has just been re-elected to the United States senate from Rhode Island for another term, is fifty-one years old, and has been a member of that body for ten years. Alphabetically his name heads the roll of United States senators.

Dr. Dowling, of Minneapolis, wears $600 worth of artificial legs and arms. His left arm and both legs are gone, and all but the stump of his right thumb. Nevertheless he writes a good hand, gets about freely and does more business than many a whole one.

Senator Frye is very fond of an outdoor life, and every summer he passes a month with Mrs. Frye "roughing it" on one of the primeval Maine islands. At that time the senator and his wife put all the luxuries of civilization behind them, and live in a log cabin, without even a servant.

Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, who has been noted for his luxuriant growth of whiskers, appeared in the senate with his face smooth shaven. His intimate acquaintances failed to recognize him. When he arose to present a petition Senator Frye inquired of the presiding officer "who that person was?"

Ex-Senator Mahone, of Virginia, dresses in a long Prince Albert black coat, loosely buttoned at the waist, and a modified form of the "peg top" trousers. His shirt is elaborately frilled and the long wristbands are turned up over his coat sleeves in lieu of cuffs. His head is covered by a broad brimmed black slouch hat.

FLOWER AND TREE.

There are said to be apple trees in Japan only four inches high, which bear apples the size of currants.

Experts say that pansies should never be mixed with other flowers. They look and thrive much better by themselves, as indeed do most flowers.

Roses for winter are best grown in pots in summer, and kept from bloom. Report in very rich soil and keep outdoors all winter in cold weather.

Labrador, a country which we always associate with arctic snowdrifts, icebergs, etc., has 900 species of flowering plants, 50 ferns and over 250 species of mosses and lichens.

The true moon flower, Opomora grandiflora, blooms at night. The satin or tuberosc rooted moon flower, Ipomoea Mexicana, blooms in the day. Roots are wintered in the cellars like dahlias.

The live bark tree grows in the West Indies. It is a lofty tree with ovate, entirely smooth leaves and white flowers. It is remarkable for the tenacity of its inner bark and the readiness with which the inner bark may be separated after maceration in water into layers resembling lace.

One of the vegetable curiosities of Central park, New York, is a maple tree standing just west of the west side tennis lawn. The tree is fully five feet in diameter at the base, but instead of rising as one trunk it splits into seventeen distinct trees, of which sixteen are alive and several are at least ten inches in diameter.

HERE IS EVIDENCE.

Mr. Biederman Has a Few Words to Say:

Mr. Fred Biederman, employed by W. T. Baily of West Duluth, says: For three years I suffered with pains in my back, mental depression and general weakness. I felt tired most of the time, and had dizzy spells. I tried various remedies, but failed to get any permanent relief. Finally, after reading different testimonials in the various papers, I concluded to consult Dr. Speer & Co., of West Superior. He explained my difficulty all once and placed me under treatment; his remedies have had the desired effect, my disagreeable symptoms have rapidly disappeared and I am well pleased with the result. I should be pleased to give any further information to anyone interested. And I can be found on First street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth avenues east, West Duluth.

CUT DOWN YOUR SHOE BILL

Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it? To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for families. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking. Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furnish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN., July 21.—Slight changes have taken place in the atmospheric conditions during the past twenty-four hours. A storm appears to be forming over New England, and another of feeble intensity is now
south of Lake Superior.Slight showers have fallen at scattered places, the heaviest being over Iowa. Over the Northwest there was a light sprinkle at several places.
The temperature remains high, except over the extreme Northwest, where it is cold enough for fire.The highest temperature here yesterday was 87°, the lowest last night 66°.DULUTH, July 21.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Continued fair, probably followed by shower; slightly cooler by tomorrow.
Duluth northwest winds shifting to northeast.
B. H. BROWN,
Observer.WASHINGTON, July 21.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Generally fair, preceded by showers today or tonight; in southern portions, southerly winds; slightly warmer in extreme southern portion. For Minnesota:
Generally fair Friday; variable winds.

DULUTH IN CONGRESS.

The expected has happened again,
and Judge Searle is the Republican nominee for congressman from this district. The sentiment among the delegates to yesterday's convention was overwhelmingly in his favor. It emphasized the claim which The Herald
has steadily maintained, that the St.
Louis county Republicans made a serious mistake when they endorsed Mr.
Kendall's candidacy. He was probably the weakest man that they could have selected, because he could not command
united support at home and he had no special strength in other parts of the district. The votes that he received came from counties that naturally would support any Duluth man. He made no gains in the other counties, and the claims of his friends that he would be supported by Anoka and other counties which were not sure for any other Duluth man were shown to be utterly without foundation. There is no doubt that Judge Searle was the choice of a large majority of the Republicans in the district, and his nomination was secured
fairly and honestly.There is no question that the people of Duluth want a home man for congress, but they desire a man of ability,
who can be of service to the city of Duluth and the district generally, and who will be a credit to the people that he represents. The Republicans having failed to put a Duluth man in nomination, the Democrats of this city may improve the opportunity that is here presented. As an independent journal,
not chained to the heels of any party,
The Herald does not look upon this question from a political standpoint. It is of prime importance to the people of Duluth that they should have a good representative in the halls of congress. It matters little what may be his political views, so long as he shall be true to the interests of this city and be an earnest, persistent and energetic worker in behalf of the great waterway improvements and other matters in which Duluth is peculiarly interested.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The people of Chicago are very much disgusted with the action of the lower branch of congress in refusing to agree to the senate appropriation of $5,000,000 toward the World's fair. They have good reason to feel disgusted, particularly as what little is granted is accompanied by objectionable provisions that betray an intolerance not to be expected in this age.
There is considerable talk that Chicago
should reject the appropriations for medals, etc., contained in the bill as it passed
the house and raise the money itself by selling exposition tickets in advance.Such a plan would no doubt be successful, but it is not right that the management of the fair should be forced to this extremity. They entertain that opinion themselves, and will make a final effort to secure more favorable action by congress. The house will be again asked to recede from the position it has taken and to make a grant of $5,000,000, unaccompanied by any restrictions as to Sunday closing. If the house will not accede to this request, the management will ignore the position of congress on the Sunday question, will refuse all further aid, and will raise the necessary funds in the manner that has been indicated. There is no doubt, however, that this mode of raising money would necessarily cause a curtailment of the plans now made for the fair. It could not be conducted upon the scale that was contemplated.The people of Chicago have done well towards the fair. They have raised more money for making a grand exposition than would have been contributed by any other community towards this purpose. At the same time, it must be remembered that it is not a local fair. It is a national exposition—the active preparations of other counties to be worthily represen-ted here made it an international exposition that will be the grandest affair of the kind ever seen. This country has a duty to perform, and that is to provide all the funds required to make it a grand success. The credit of this nation is at stake, and congress should preserve our credit by making the grant which the management of the fair have requested.
It should grant the amount, unaccompanied by restrictions that would hamper the management in its efforts to secure the success to which all confidently look forward.

DULUTH TO THE SEA.

The subject of waterways from the great lakes to the Atlantic is considered by T. Graham Gribble in the third paper of his series on "The Future World's Highway," now appearing in the Engineering Magazine. He points out that the key of the carrying trade of the lakes to the eastern seaboard is held by Canada by reason of the fact that the natural and most direct route is by the St. Lawrence. "Canada not only holds the natural outlet in the mouth of the St.
Lawrence, but she has almost a straight 2000-mile run, and in the total distance
only seventy-two miles of physical obstruction through which to maintain engineering works. In contrast with this,
a vessel going from Duluth to New York
over American water would have 350 miles of constant detentions via the Eric canal." Mr. Gribble estimates that it would require an outlay of about $250-000,000 to place the Eric canal abreast of modern improvements.Should Canada carry out the plan which has been proposed of connecting Georgian Bay with Lake Ontario by a ship railway, she would have even a more direct route from Duluth to the sea, which would be the best from Chicago as well. The distance is said to be sixty-six miles, and the estimated cost of the road, with six parallel steel tracks, capable of transporting a vessel
of 5000 tons burden or under, is $15,000-000. This railroad will save some four hundred and fifty to five hundred miles
in navigation, besides the present tolls
on the Welland canal, and enable the heaviest ocean steamers to load at any point on the upper lakes for any port in the world, and proceed thither without the necessity of unloading her cargo wholly or in part at any intermediate point.As long, however, as the Canadian government assumes a hostile attitude towards the American tonnage passing through its canals and discriminates in favor of the Canadian vessels in respect to tolls, it will be manifestly impossible for this country to depend upon a route to the sea through Canadian canals and rivers. There is no doubt such a route is the most direct and can be improved
most cheaply, but it cannot be utilized
by American vessels until the conditions are greatly changed. If it were possible to place these waterways under the absolute control of a joint international commission, with treaty guarantees that they should be considered neutral waters
in the event of war, then it might be well to consider the question of aiding in their improvement. At present, however, there does not appear to be any prospect of such a step being taken.It is not a crime to steal electricity.
At least that is the decision of a St.
Louis court in the case of a man who was charged with tapping a wire of an electric light company in order to get illumination free. The judge failed to see that it was a case of petit larceny, and the man went free.Edward Murphy, Jr., has charge of the Democratic campaign in New York.
Mr. Murphy was chairman of the Hill delegation to Chicago, and if he stands
by what he said there he will not work
very hard to carry New York for Cleveland.Since the passage of the McKinley
bill, says Dun's commercial agency,
sugar has fallen 35.8 per cent, coffee 24.3
per cent, and the average of necessities
18 per cent.The News of this morning said: "Hon.
H. C. Kendall may well beg to be saved from his friends." If it means from such friends (?) as the News itself, the remark
is very pat.It is a cold day when Ohio gets left.
It appears that Tom Carter, the new chairman of the Republican national committee, is a native of Ohio.

RINGING A BÉLLE.

Belles have been rung since rings
came into fashion and out of fashion
rings will never go into tropical trees grov at the North Pole. Rings are as old as nursery rhymes and new as the latest news. We have some of the handsomest specimens that ever gave an

WANT HIM OUSTED.

Frisco's Assessor Charged With Malfeasance in Office.SAN FRANCISCO, July 21.—A complaint has been filed in the superior court charging John D. Siebe, city and county assessor under the Republican administration, with malfeasance in office, and praying his removal, as well as judgment for costs and for such other relief as may be found proper.
The complaint is filed by the executive committee of the Citizens' Defense association, which claims that 400 and more assessments were illegally reduced.
Siebe claims to have a perfect defense.
The case will be heard on July 29.

Took All the Money.

NEW YORK, July 21.—A special cable
dispatch to the Herald from Curacao,
W. I., says Palacio left his country with an empty treasury. The Herald's correspondent says that he is told that when Palacio embarked he had with him
$30,000, he having swept the treasury vaults and taken the last penny. The acting president has with difficulty obtained enough cash to defray the most ordinary expenses of the government.

Fifteen Men Injured.

MARIETTA, Ill., July 21.—The roof of the moulding room of the Collins & Burgess Stove company, in process of construction, fell yesterday while about thirty workmen were putting in the immense steel trusses to support it. The men were thrown to the ground, a distance of about thirty-five feet, and fifteen of them were injured, three seriously, perhaps fatally.

Crespo Defeated.

PANAMA, July 21.—A rumor has reached here that Crespo has been defeated in a decisive battle at Acomatos. It is said he marched toward Caracas by a bad route and was attacked by the government forces under great disadvantage. No details of the alleged battle have reached here.

For Governor of Florida.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., July 21.—At the session last night of the People's party,
the convention adopted a platform and nominated A. P. Baskin, president of the state alliance, for governor. It also nominated two presidential electors at large. The balance of the ticket will be placed in nomination today.

A Narrow Escape.

MANKATO, July 21.—An exploding
gasoline stove set fire to the handsome residence of Mrs. Margaret Hoerr Monday evening, and severely burned the servant girl, who saved herself by rolling upon the wet lawn. The fire in the house was extinguished by throwing milk upon the burning gasoline, as water
only made it burn hotter.

The People's Party.

ST. CLOUD, July 21.—Secretary Seber-ger, of the Stearns county People's party, just returned from the Omaha convention, announces that a county convention will be held here the latter part of next month to place in the field
an entire county ticket.

A Wealthy Man Dead.

CAFE MAY, N. J., July 21.—E. C.
Knight, the wealthy sugar refiner of Philadelphia, who has been lying ill at his cottage here for several weeks past,
died early this morning. Mr. Knight was 79 years old.

Perkins Renominated.

STORM LAKE, Iowa, July 21.—Hon.
George D. Perkins was unanimously renominated for congress from the Eleventh district by the Republican convention yesterday.

Reduction of Wages.

The Gem of the mighty ocean of fresh water which it adorns. An empire of itself where cool breezes play o'er weary heads, where sunbeams and surprises give to artists scope for canvas memories of the Italy and Switzerland of America. The mainland on Isle Royale all that any traveler desires can be found. Natural canals that excel
the work of art; the workings of the ancient Toltees in their mineral research; gems of rock and forest and stream; beautiful inland lakes, Titanic gorges—all these are found on beautiful Isle Royale. Among the many attractive places can be mentioned Amygdaloid Channel, Fish Island, the Rock
of Ages, Rock Harbor, Rainbow Cove, Clap-

Office of the Board of Public Works.
City of Duluth, Minn., July 18, 1892.

To the President and Common Council of the City of Duluth:

At a meeting of the board of public works held July 15, 1892, the city engineer submitted a final estimate of work done on the contract of J. W. Preston for the construction of an 8-foot plank sidewalk on Portland cement, east from Third avenue west to Fifth avenue east, amounting to $140.42. The work was accepted and the final estimate approved and ordered sent to the common council.

An assessment roll covering the cost of the work is herewith sent you.

Respectfully submitted,
T. W. ABELL,
Clerk, Board of Public Works.

Referred to committee on streets, alleys and bridges.

Office of the Board of Public Works.
City of Duluth, Minn., July 18, 1892.

To the President and Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Under authority granted by the common council May 9, 1892, a retaining wall has been constructed on the west side of block 17, Duluth proper, Second division, 30 feet northward from Second street along the east line of Eleventh avenue west. The deed for that portion of the block which now remains outside the wall has been transferred to the city by A. M. Prudden who also constructed the wall, and the board would respectfully recommend the payment of $26.75 as previously agreed upon.

Respectfully submitted,
T. W. ABELL,
Clerk, Board of Public Works.

Referred to committee on streets, alleys and bridges.

Office of the Board of Public Works.
City of Duluth, Minn., July 18, 1892.

To the President and Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Herewith I transmit a communication from the city engineer relative to the grade of Michigan street near Thirteenth avenue west. The board of public works are of the opinion that the change of grade therein recommended is the preferable one for securing a uniform grade at the intersection of Michigan street and Piedmont avenue west.

Respectfully submitted,
T. W. ABELL,
Clerk, Board of Public Works.

Office of the Board of Public Works.
City of Duluth, Minn., July 15, 1892.

To the President and Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Gentlemen:

Under authority granted by the common council May 9, 1892, a retaining wall has been constructed on the west side of block 10, Duluth proper, Second division, 30 feet northward from Second street along the east line of Eleventh avenue west. The deed for that portion of the block which now remains outside the wall has been transferred to the city by A. M. Prudden who also constructed the wall, and the board would respectfully recommend the payment of $206.75 as previously agreed upon.

Respectfully submitted,
T. W. ABELL,
City Clerk.

Referred to committee on streets, alleys and bridges.

Office of the Board of Public Works.
City of Duluth, Minn., July 15, 1892.

To the President and Common Council of the City of Duluth:

Gentlemen:

Herewith I transmit a communication from the city engineer relative to the grade of Michigan street near Third avenue west. The board of public works are of the opinion that the change of grade therein recommended is the preferable one for securing a uniform grade at the intersection of Michigan street and Third avenue west.

Respectfully submitted,
T. W. ABELL,
City Clerk.

THE NEW DRIVING PARK.
R. F. Jones Declares it will be Built and Races Run This Fall.

R. F. Jones arrived in Minneapolis yesterday from Duluth, and said to a Journal reporter: "Arrangements for the organization of a driving club in Duluth are nearly perfected and a new track will be constructed there at once. The program now is to give a four days' trotting meeting over the new course the third week in September, giving $8000 to $10,000 in purses, and joining with the state fair and Rochester in making a three weeks' racing circuit with liberal purses and conditions. The citizens of Duluth are united and unanimous in the project, and propose to put up a first class track and buildings and furnish a profitable point for breeding, training and racing the harness horse."

A Bad Runaway.
Mrs. Hope Grygla, a Polish woman living some distance out on the Herman-town road, was quite seriously bruised by her runaway team this afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock on First street near Fifth avenue west. She was riding in a farmer's wagon with her husband when the team took fright at a couple of young men on bicycles and ran away overturning the wagon and throwing the old lady out. No bones were broken and beyond her bruises and a somewhat demoralized harness, no damage was done.

The Regular List.
Pat Kelly, Daniel Roughan, William McAllister, Charles Oleson, Fred McKenzie were five drunks who received the usual judicial prescription this morning at the hands of Judge Powell. Hans Hanson was charged with petit larceny. His offense was the alleged stealing of the hind runners of a sleigh from W. C. Swann. He pleaded not guilty and will be heard tomorrow.

THE NEW DRIVING PARK.
R. F. Jones Declares it will be Built and Races Run This Fall.

R. F. Jones arrived in Minneapolis yesterday from Duluth, and said to a Journal reporter: "Arrangements for the organization of a driving club in Duluth are nearly perfected and a new track will be constructed there at once. The program now is to give a four days' trotting meeting over the new course the third week in September, giving $8000 to $10,000 in purses, and joining with the state fair and Rochester in making a three weeks' racing circuit with liberal purses and conditions. The citizens of Duluth are united and unanimous in the project, and propose to put up a first class track and buildings and furnish a profitable point for breeding, training and racing the harness horse."

A Bad Runaway.
Mrs. Hope Grygla, a Polish woman living some distance out on the Herman-town road, was quite seriously bruised by her runaway team this afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock on First street near Fifth avenue west. She was riding in a farmer's wagon with her husband when the team took fright at a couple of young men on bicycles and ran away overturning the wagon and throwing the old lady out. No bones were broken and beyond her bruises and a somewhat demoralized harness, no damage was done.

The Regular List.
Pat Kelly, Daniel Roughan, William McAllister, Charles Oleson, Fred McKenzie were five drunks who received the usual judicial prescription this morning at the hands of Judge Powell. Hans Hanson was charged with petit larceny. His offense was the alleged stealing of the hind runners of a sleigh from W. C. Swann. He pleaded not guilty and will be heard tomorrow.

PUSHING THE WORK.

The Iron Range Will Ship Mesaba Ore About August 25.

On the Mesaba branch of the Duluth & Iron Range road the dirt is flying at a rapid rate, particularly at the "Canton" section, where the work is about the heaviest. The tracklayers will commence putting down the iron about Aug. 4 and the first ore will be shipped about Aug. 25. Every possible man is being secured and the contractors are pushing the work. The last few days have been very favorable, although the heat has been intense and a few laborers have been prostrated.

Awarded the Contract.

In the erection of the new $300,000 school building there has been but few if any mistakes, and the board of education now have under process of erection four other new school buildings to be completed within the next year. At the meeting last night a large routine of business was transacted. Not the least however was the award of the contract to the United States School Furniture company, of Chicago, for furnishing all of any ever before introduced in the city of Duluth. The Chicago company being represented by their blackboard salesman, Mr. S. C. Borom, in company with Mr. F. T. Little, resident agent.

NOTICE To Build Sidewalks.

In accordance with a resolution of the common council of the city of Duluth, passed July 11, 1892, notice is hereby given to all owners and occupants of any and all lots or parcels of land adjoining the east side of Eighteenth avenue west, between Piedmont avenue and Second street and both sides of Second street from Seventeenth avenue west to Eighteenth avenue west, to construct a sidewalk in said street, and to avenue adjoining their several lots at their own proper expense and charge before August 10, 1892. Such walk to be constructed in accordance with plans and specifications on file in the office of the board of public works, and to be built to the established line and grade, or to a temporary line and grade to be given by the city engineer.

If the said owners or occupants fail to construct said walk before August 10, 1892, or if any such work or part thereof is not done in the manner described by said plans and specifications, or if said walk is not built to the line and grade prescribed, then the board of public works of the city of Duluth will cause the same to be done, and the full cost and expense thereof, together with ten (10) per cent additional for cost of surveys, plans and superintendence, will be assessed against said lots.

BUILD IT ANYWAY

Board of Public Works Will Recommend That the Canal Bridge be Constructed.

Senator C. K. Davis Advises the City to go Ahead Without Government Approval.

City Attorney Smith Considers and Says the Government Don't Own the Canal.

The Memphis Bridge was Built Without the Consent of the Government.

The bridge across the canal will be built in spite of the refusal of the United States government to grant permission, at least it seems to be quite probable now. The board of public works will recommend to the council on Monday evening that the city proceed with the erection of a bridge at once.

The board has had this matter under consideration for some time and has an opinion from Senator C. K. Davis which advises the city to go ahead and build the bridge in spite of the action of the secretary of war. City Attorney Smith was also asked for an opinion and after a careful examination of the case recommended that the city build the bridge.

Mr. Smith is of the opinion that the government has no right to say whether the city shall build the bridge or not. He holds that the canal is not a government water. The land through which it was cut was patented by the government to private individuals in 1856 and control then passed from the government. When the city cut the canal through it procured some of the lots and now owns them while in others the title is clouded. The government was offered a deed to the land but refused it and the title does not now rest in it. The canal is an artificial waterway and the government does not own it.

Mr. Smith also maintains that for that reason the authority of the state to build the bridge was not necessary, but that the authority may strengthen the right somewhat. He referred to this at Detroit but did not urge it as an argument. The report of the board will not recommend any particular plan to be adopted and it is probable that the Wadwell plan for a lift draw will not be used. The most popular idea of a bridge seems to be one that shall swing across the canal with the pier on the south side of the canal, the draw to open either way. The part of the draw on the point would not necessarily have to be the same length as the portion swinging over the canal but could be weighted so that it would balance.

What stand the aldermen will take is uncertain of course, but it is reasonable to expect that they will favor the scheme. It will not be the first time that a bridge has been built in spite of the disapproval of the government. The big bridge recently opened at Memphis, Tenn., across the Mississippi river was built without the consent of the government and no opposition was offered.

IDENTIFIED O'DONNELL.

Eight Pinkerton Detectives Pick Him

Out in a Crowd of Prisoners.

PITTSBURG, July 22.—After the proceedings in court this morning, eight Pinkerton detectives who were in the Homestead mills on the day of the riot, assembled in the office of Warden McAlene in the county jail. Ten prisoners from different parts of the county were brought into the warden's private room and placed in a row in the inside corridor. O'Donnell was fourth in the row.

The Pinkertons were then admitted one at a time and inspected each man in turn. Most of them took a second glance at the fourth man, and then moved on with a satisfied look upon their faces. Not one of the number would say a word regarding the incident, but one of the jail officials hinted, shortly after, that one and all had recognized O'Donnell as being one of the foremost participants in the bloody tragedy of July 6. It is thought from this that the Carnegies propose to establish the basis of a charge of murder in the first degree against O'Donnell, in order that the court may refuse him bail.

THIRTY MEN SECURED.

PHILADELPHIA, July 22.—J. Ogden Hoffman, agent for the Carnegie Steel company in this city, employed about 30 steel workers yesterday and dispatched them to Homestead last night. The hiring was conducted with great secrecy. The advertisements in the morning papers asked these in search of work to call at an address on Ann street, whence they were sent to the company's office and if satisfactory promptly engaged.

ATTACKED BY ITALIANS.

A Telegraph Operator in Maryland has an Exciting Experience.

CUMBERLAND, Md., July 22.—The Baltimore & Ohio operator at Patterson's creek was attacked by a gang of Italians last night at a late hour. Three of their number had been put off a passenger train there by the conductor for refusing to pay their fare, and they attempted to take out their spite on the operator, whose name is Cornwall.

He had a friend with him in the office and with pistols they succeeded in putting the Italians to flight. Immediately after the trouble with the operator, they sought refuge in a box car and their number was augmented by the arrival of friends of the same nationality. At 2 o'clock this morning a crowd of farmers were collecting with the intention of driving the undesirable foreigners away. Trouble is feared.

ARRESTED FOR MURDER.

Arsenic Found in the Stomach of a Dead Woman.

HAMMOND, Ind., July 22.—Photographer C. G. Page, whose young wife died in Bangor, Mich., July 5, of poison under suspicious circumstances, was arrested last night charged with murder. Mrs. Eliza Tobin, of South Chicago, Page's partner, was arrested on the same charge. They were committed without bail. Albert Taylor, an employee in charge of their place of business at South Chicago, was brought to this city at midnight and placed under arrest. Mr. Tobin was taken to Crown Point, while the men were locked up here. The dead woman's father was here and said that an analysis of the stomach revealed the presence of arsenic. The examination will probably be held at Crown Point next Tuesday. The whole affair has been conducted so secretly that further facts are unobtainable.

DUE TO A BROKEN RAIL.

A Trolley Car Derailed and Several Passengers Injured.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., July 22.—A trolley car at Coney Island was derailed last night by a broken rail and crashed into an iron pole. Several passengers were injured, the most serious being John J. Davis, of this city, knocked insensible, cut and bruised; Charles McLaughlin, of Brooklyn, bruised and severely cut; Mrs. Charles McLaughlin, badly cut, and Mrs. Charles Wolter, Brooklyn, cut on the head and face and badly injured. The car was filled with passengers returning home after a day's merry-making at the island. The injured passengers had their wounds dressed and were sent home, with the exception of Mrs. Wolter, who was so severely hurt that it was not deemed wise to remove her to her home. She was removed to a hotel in the vicinity.

THE ANTI-OPTION BILL.

Senator Washburn Expects to Reach a Vote Tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Senator Washburn said yesterday he expected to reach a vote on the anti-option bill on Saturday. He proposes to give the opposition all the time they want to spend against the measure, but thinks today will satisfy them. Senator Washburn says many of those who filibustered against the bill last Monday are ashamed of their course. He is confident there will be no further dilatory tactics. He wished the people of the Northwest to understand the bill has a large majority and will pass. Its friends will not be stampeded.

THIS IS RATHER RICH.

A Canadian Official Displays a Little Spite.

OTTAWA, July 22.—Speaking with reference to the proposal of Judge Chipman to impose a toll on all Canadian vessels passing through the St. Clair river canal, a member of the cabinet said last night that he would like to see the American government attempt to seize a Canadian vessel for refusing to pay toll. The canal, while constructed with United States capital, was indisputably in Canadian territory. However, he did not believe for a moment any such step would be taken by the United States.

The Operators Won.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 22.—The Louisville & Nashville railroad came to an agreement with its telegraph operators yesterday. A general advance of $5 a month was made in their pay. They are allowed compensation for extra work and a grievance committee will be recognized.

South Dakota Republicans.

MADISON, S. D., July 22.—The Republicans of South Dakota yesterday nominated C. H. Sheldon for governor; John A. Pickler and W. V. Lucas for congress; George Silsby, G. W. Kingsbury, Chas. J. Buell and John Prothero for electors; C. N. Harrell for lieutenant governor; Thomas Thorpe for secretary of state; W. W. Taylor for treasurer; C. E. Crawford for attorney general; J. E. Huppert for auditor; Cortez Salmon for superintendent of schools; Thomas Ruth for commissioner of public lands, and William McKee for commissioner of labor statistics.

The Professor Won.

MAKATO, Minn., July 22.—The Republicans of the Second district nominated McCleary on the third ballot. The first formal ballot resulted: McCleary 64, Davis 40, Funnell 15, Miller 9, Dunn 10. On the third, McCleary's vote ran up to 68, within 1 of a majority, when Dunn withdrew and Faribault county's 11 votes went to McCleary and nominated him. Senator Davis was endorsed as his own successor.

A Destructive Blaze.

SAUK CENTER, Minn., July 22.—The Davidson Houring mills, the largest in this section, and valued at $30,000, took fire last evening and were totally destroyed. The water works buildings also were destroyed, as well as part of the Northern Pacific depot and a portion of the dam across the Mississippi. The total loss is $50,000.

Duluth & Red Wing.

RED WING, July 22.—At a meeting of the directors yesterday, T. B. Sheldon, of Red Wing, was elected president of the Duluth, Red Wing & Southern railway, to succeed F. W. Hoyt, deceased. H. E. Perkins was elected to fill the vacancy in the board of directors.

WONDERFUL CAVE

Its Depths Have Just Been Explored, Although Its Existence Was Long Known.

Into One Chamber for Many Ages the Native Animals Retreated to Die.

Ex-King Milan Beaten at His Own Game by Another Scamp in Paris.

The great cave in the Ozark ridge of southwestern Missouri has been thoroughly explored at last, and now the wonder is that it was never explored before. The country is very rugged and thinly settled, and the crater is very difficult of access, and until recently the untaught denizens of those wilds had a superstitious dread of the place, which they called the Devil's Den—a name given to many gorges in the south and west.

All that was then known was that on the top of Roark's peak, 1,375 feet above sea level, a great round hole opened and showed far below a dim, cone shaped pile in a deep cavern. Apparently that cone was once the point of the peak, but it simply fell through, and now its summit is sixty feet below the bottom of the basin formed in the summit. To that spot soon after the cave was explored, and the explorers found the neighbors brought one Frank Gayler, a guerrilla. They tied his arms and legs and flung him in. A dull concussion far below showed that he had struck bottom, but there was no shriek or cry.

Eighteen years later a woman came to the Roark settlement and announced herself as Gayler's sister. She had heard that explorers had fixed a regular method of descent, and she wanted her brother's bones collected for Christian burial. It was soon shown, however, that the guerrilla had rolled down into a vast bed of guano deposited by the bats on one side of the cave, and of his bones not even dust remained.

In 1890 Harry T. Blow and party, from St. Louis, went down the crater, but ventured only a few rods from the cave. In 1882 the Grand Army men from Lamar, Barton county, organized a regular exploring expedition and made the routes practicable, and one of them, Truman S. Powell, remained to continue explorations and serve as a guide for visitors. The crater is the only known opening, and from the cave at the bottom all the routes lead down hill, so that at the farthest point reached the explorer is near level. Far above him, in other directions, are rivers and lakes, great falls, thickets, and nature's marvelous statuary, narrow passages, vaulted chambers, tiny waterfalls and mysterious whispering galleries.

At one time the visitor sees the dome of hundreds of feet above his head, at others he has to crawl between floor and roof, and of course there is a "Fat Man's Misery." There is also "The Great White Throne" of limestone, the big waterfall, the "Sentinel Rock" and, most wonderful of all, the "Dead Animal Room." Into this chamber for many ages the animals native to the vicinity retreated to die, as it seems. Their bones were strongly preserved and the skeletons number tens of thousands. Such are a few of the wonders of Marble cave, which, as recent visitors think, equals if it does not exceed either the Wyandotte, or Indiana, or the Mammoth cave.

Europe's Royal Gambler. That Milan, who was king of Serbia, is an unmitigated scamp all readers know, and he does not strenuously deny it himself. But he has recently made himself ridiculous by complaining of another scamp who beat him. It was in Paris, and he bet M. Mathysens 5,000 francs to 10,000 francs that he would win the six winning horses of the races to be run that day at Longchamps. He succeeded in doing so for the first four races, and his bet was more than half won. However, he was afraid that his favorite, Fabre II, might be beaten in the fifth race by Livie II.

To prevent the latter from running and insure the victory of Fabre, he tried to buy her on the quiet. M. Mathysens, however, heard of this maneuver and sought to defeat it. While the ex-king was negotiating for the purchase of Livie II, he commissioned one of his friends to buy Fabre. Milan failed to get possession of Livie, which ran and won, while Fabre, having become the property of the friend of M. Mathysens, remained quietly in its stall. It then occurred to his majesty that it was an outrage for any one to beat him at his own game, and he declared that he would not pay without a decision from the betting committee of the jockey club. The chances now are that both of them will be forbidden the entire of all race tracks, and possibly be driven out of France by the universal disgust.

An Expert Money Handler. One of the most expert money handlers in the treasury department at Washington is a woman who has the remarkable record of counting $5,000 coins in a single day. So delicate and sensitive is her sense of touch that even when counting at this tremendous rate she detects a false coin with unerring instinct.

A steam tramway in Salvador is nearing completion, connecting the capital with San Tecla, which is expected to be in operation in time for the fairs held in August.

Gladstone, a fawn rabbit, was sold in England recently for $100. Its ears are 27½ inches in length and 7½ inches in width.

MUSICAL AND DRAMATIC NOTES.

John Stetson is backing Dixie in his "Adonis II" venture.

It is whispered that Dan Frohman has engaged Kyrle Bellew.

William Gillette is enjoying himself at Divonne-les-Bains, in France.

Mr. William Redmond will be Mr. Salvini's leading support next season.

From far across the ocean comes the news that Mrs. James Brown Potter does not like acting and would retire if she could.

John Drew will make his first appearance under Manager Charles Frohman's direction at Palmer's theater, New York, Oct. 3.

The Kendals have announced their intention of returning to America in 1893 and spending their season in Chicago during the fair.

"Santuzza" aprons are among the new things for home wear; they imitate the little apron worn by the heroine of "Cavalleria Rusticana."

There are by actual count only about sixteen legitimate and quasi legitimate companies to go upon the road next season. A majority of them will go to the small towns.

Daniel Bandmann, who is living on a ranch in the Bitter Root valley, got a divorce from his wife, Millicent Palmer Bandmann, and married Mary Kelly, the actress, at Missoula, Mont.

The H. E. Dixey Opera company, with Camille D'Arville, C. W. Dungan, Eugene Cowles, Fred Lennox and others in the cast will revive "La Mascotte" and other old operas at Palmer's theater, New York.

Colonel Henry Manlyson and Marcus R. Mayer have gone to Europe to complete arrangements abroad for an opera company for a season in the United States and Canada, commencing at the Tremont theater, Boston, Oct. 17, followed by a ten weeks' season at the new Fifth Avenue theater, New York.

Annie Hindle, an Englishwoman of about fifty-two, known as a "male impersonator," was married at Troy to a woman named Louise Spangeli. She told the clergyman her name was Charles Edward Hindle. Annie has once before done the same thing. In fact once she was a bride; twice she has been a groom. Once she had a husband and twice has she had a wife. Once she was a widow, once a widower and now she is a husband again.

CROWN AND SCEPTER.

The Prince of Wales blushes upon slight provocation.

The young king of Spain, who is hardly out of his cradle, is learning to ride both a pony and a bicycle.

The chief amusement of the little girl queen of Holland is to work in the garden and feed her pigeons.

Queen Margherita of Italy wears a necklace of numerous rows of pearls, which is increased by the row the king gives her every year. The chain is too large to pretty.

The German emperor has a pet aversion for short overcoats and shoes with pointed toes. His clothes are all made to fit him snugly, particularly his trousers, which inclose his legs as closely as a ballet dancer's tights.

The private apartments of Queen Victoria are hung with a series of paintings representing incidents in her domestic life since the time of her marriage. The latest addition is a picture of the christening of the youngest child of Princess Beatrice.

Pope Leo XIII will celebrate two anniversaries next year. Feb. 19 will be the fiftieth anniversary of his consecration as bishop, and Dec. 13 the fortieth anniversary of his appointment as cardinal.

The officials of the Vatican will commemorate the days in an appropriate manner.

The Princess Enlia, daughter of Queen Isabella of Spain, is very beautiful, but decidedly eccentric, and has a habit of wandering about nights in male attire, visiting the barriers (beer saloons) and in a style that in a maiden not a princess would be considered decidedly unconventional.

The Electrical Decorating company, of New York and Brooklyn, is the latest new enterprise.

An ingenious arrangement for preventing sparking between brushes and commutators in dynamos has recently been devised.

Only a few years ago there was not a mile of telegraph in the Chinese empire; today there is more than enough to girdle the earth.

The work of laying a telegraph belt all around the island of Great Britain has been begun, and it is expected that it will be completed at the end of the year.

New England Telephone and Telegraph company will run a distance telephone wire to Belknap Falls, Vt. This will complete a telephone circuit 1,000 miles long.

In the Granville electric speed indicator the log itself is made one plate of the battery for working the instrument, the iron hull of the ship the other plate and the sea itself the exciting liquid, so that insulation is not required.

In London they are successfully lighting their omnibuses by means of electricity from storage batteries. The apparatus consists of a five-cell secondary battery, which gives a current of one ampere at ten volts for fifteen hours.

The government will exhibit a large collection of sea monsters at the World's fair.

Under the direction of Professor Putnam an effort is to be made at the Columbian exhibition to ascertain whether the various people who were here when Columbus came were all one race, or two, three, four or possibly five different races.

Mrs. Humphry Ward has been invited to lend the original manuscript of "Robert Elsmere" for exhibition in the Woman's building at Chicago, and an effort is being made to secure the manuscript from Helen Hunt Jackson the manuscript of "Ramona."

Frank D. Millet has been appointed to have charge of the interior decoration, coloring, etc., of the World's fair buildings. He takes the place made vacant by the resignation of W. L. Prentiss. Mr. Millet is reputed to be one of the well known artists of New York.

The total space allotted to the British section at the Chicago exhibition is expected to be about 300,000 square feet, as compared with 250,000 square feet at Paris (1889) and 194,000 square feet at Philadelphia. This does not include the space allotted to Canada and Australia.

LARGEST CIRCULATION IN DULUTH.

Entered at the postoffice at Duluth, Minn., as second-class mail matter.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.,
July 22.—Fair weather still continues all over the country. Duluth was the warmest place in the Northwest yesterday with the exception of Miles City, Mont., where 90° was reached against 84° here.

Light thunder storms were traveling all over the country in all directions, the most severe at Fort Buford, Dak., where three and one half inches of rain fell.

The barometer is slightly below the normal
all over the country with the greatest depression
over the Northwest. There is at present no sign of any cooler weather for this section,
except that there are faint indications of a storm forming over Texas, which, if it moves in its usual direction, would bring cooler weather
by Sunday.

Duluth, July 22.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Continued fair and warmer; light easterly winds.
B. H. HICKSON,
Observer.

WASHINGTON, July 22.—Forecast till 8 p. m.
tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Fair today; local showers tonight; or Saturday southerly winds.
For Minnesota: Local showers tonight or Saturday; southerly winds.

THE SATURDAY HERALD.

The Saturday Herald is the most readable and most complete newspaper issued in Duluth. This fact is not disputed even by the morning papers,
which every Sunday make unsuccessful efforts to rival it. The great demand for the Saturday edition of The Herald
and the rush of advertisers to secure preferred positions in its columns, not taking into consideration its much greater size, tell the story very emphatically.

Tomorrow's issue will be very interesting, including the following special features, among others: "The Blessed Babies," by Helen E. Gregory-Fletcher,
M. A., a well written and finely illustrated article; "Nye About Roads," the men of Bill Nye's most amusing letters, aptly illustrated; "For Retail Clerks," an interesting account of the recent international convention at Cleveland; a column on the latest books and magazines which breathe the air of the mountains and the seaside; a graphic description of the beauties of Isle Royale, the gem of Lake Superior;
a host of articles for women's reading;
the doings of fashionable people; the latest theatrical gossip and the coming attractions in Duluth; complete account of the Turnfest; the political talk in Duluth and the Sixth district, and many other features, supplemented by all the news of the day.

MINISTER WHITE.

In appointing Hon. Andrew D. White
to be United States minister to Russia, President Harrison has done well. It is an excellent selection and will be warmly approved in all sections of the country. The appointment of Mr. White is above criticism. There is absolutely nothing that can be uttered against it,
while very much can be said in its favor.
Mr. White is admirably equipped to discharge the important duties of this high diplomatic position. He has the ability demanded in such an office, and
at the same time he has enjoyed a diplomatic experience which, combined with his ripe scholarship, will prove a valuable aid. There is no man in the country who is better fitted to be sent abroad as a representative American than is Hon.
Andrew D. White.

Mr. White has had what may be called a brilliant career, and he is an example of the eminent position that may be attained by the scholar in politics. Of New England parentage, he passed his collegiate course at Yale, where he graduated in 1853. He then spent two years in Europe, chiefly at Paris and Berlin, in the prosecution of historical studies, and traveled on foot through many of the noted localities of the continent, especially in northern and western France. At that time he became attached to the American legation at St.
Petersburg, where he remained six months, so that he is not a stranger to the court to which he is now accredited
as minister plenipotentiary.

Returning home in 1856, he studied history for one year at Yale. In 1857 he was elected professor of history and English literature in the University of Michigan, where he remained for five years, resigning on account of ill health.
Then he returned to Syracuse, N. Y., and was elected to the senate for two terms. While in that body he introduced bills that codified the school laws,
created the new system of normal
schools and incorporated Cornell university. He became the first president of Cornell, but resigned owing to failing health in 1885. From 1879 to 1881, Mr.
White was United States minister to Germany, and filled that post with credit to himself and his native country.

Among the leading candidates for attorney general is Hon. H. W. Childs, now of St. Paul and formerly of Fergus falls. Mr. Childs has been deputy attorney general for several years and has done excellent work for the state. He is a warm friend of Duluth, and the St.

Louis county delegation should remember him.

TO SECURE INDUSTRIES.

A meeting of the members of the chamber of commerce, the jobbers'
union and the real estate exchange is called for tomorrow morning at the chamber of commerce rooms to discuss way and means for inducing industries to locate at Duluth. This is a very important matter, and every member of the three bodies interested should be present on this occasion and lend his assistance towards securing a united effort in the direction desired.

St. Paul and Minneapolis have associations formed for the purpose of securing industries for those cities, and considering the disadvantages under which they have labored owing to the poor location
of the Twin Cities for manufacturing purposes, they have done remarkably well. Such an association in Duluth would have a much easier task before it, owing to the superior advantages which this city possesses for the establishment of industries
of all kinds—advantages which are not equalled at any other point in the Northwest. Superior has gained several industries which would, under natural conditions, have been located on this side of the bay, on account of the inducements which were offered by the two large land and improvement companies operating there. This shows the benefits of united effort.

There are now several industries which are seeking sites in Duluth. With proper encouragement they will locate here. At present there is no one to extend the little encouragement or assistance that may be necessary, and unless some action be taken to extend inducements by some body of men working unitedly for the city's interests, they will be likely to go elsewhere. The future growth of Duluth must depend to a large extent upon its manufactures. There is no question about the great advantages offered here for the establishment of new flouring mills and the creation of a vast iron and steel industry, with all its varied branches. But it will be a long time before these industries are secured,
unless the citizens take united action toward presenting our advantages to the men who have capital for such enterprises and securing their co-operation.

WILKOMMEN.

The Herald, on behalf of the citizens of Duluth, extends a hearty welcome to the visiting Turners, who have come here to attend the great Turnfest. It is expected that fully one thousand Germans from all parts of Minnesota, as well as many from Wisconsin, will be present at this great gathering and take part in the exercises. Elaborate preparations have been made by the local society, and there is no doubt that the Turnfest will be a great success.

The calisthenic exercises by the Turners form a prominent and interesting feature of these gatherings, and the program which has been arranged indicates that the present one will be no exception to the rule in this respect. The grounds at Oat-ka beach have been put in good shape for the exercises, and all the citizens who take an interest in such events
will find ample accommodations for their comfort and a hearty welcome from the Turners.

The Republican congressional convention for the Sixth district endorsed Senator Cushman K. Davis as his own successor. The Second district convention followed suit yesterday. The last state convention did likewise, so that if endorsements were all powerful Senator Davis would have an easy victory. But there is a deep laid scheme to defeat
him, and the only way to prevent its success is to elect to the legislature only men who are known to be his friends.

The revised figures of the city assessor
show that the personal property assessment of Duluth this year is increased $1,019,452 over 1891. These figures tell the story of Duluth's growth in business and wealth. There are few cities in the country where there is such a large increase in proportion to the population.

When Dakota was a territory politics were always very warm there. Just to keep up that condition, when a congressional convention was held in South Dakota yesterday, the thermometer indicated 102 degrees in the shade.

It would be poor policy to instruct the St. Louis county delegation to the Republican state convention for any particular candidate. If any instructions are given they should simply be that the delegation should vote as a unit.

The Republicans of the Second district have nominated Prof. James Mc-Cleary, of Mankato, for congress. Mr.
McCleary is a man of great ability and if elected will be a valuable representative
in congress.

A man living in Chicago has applied for a divorce from his wife because she will not leave the fair state of Minnesota and go to the Windy City. All of which goes to show that she is a very sensible woman.

Charlie Foster denies that he intends to resign the position of secretary of the treasury. The denial was unnecessary as no one believed the report. An Ohio man never resigns.

Several days ago the ladies of West
Duluth held a meeting at Mrs. D. C.
Prescott's to arrange for systematic work in promoting interest in the World's fair. A large number of ladies were present and became members. Another meeting will be held next Tuesday at 2 o'clock at Mrs. Prescott's and all ladies, whether they have been personally solicited or not are requested to be present and in perfecting the work and help make the exhibit from St. Louis county a success and thus take a part,
however small, in woman's work in the World's fair.

The question of a public drinking fountain is again being discussed and it is the general sentiment that the village should take some steps to provide for the wants of man and beast in this direction. It is understood that if the village will provide the fountain and pay for the necessary connections that the water company will furnish the water
free.

John Johnson, plain drunk, was fined
$5 this morning in the municipal court.
E. M. Stoneman, of Chicago, is a guest of friends at this place.

Paul.

Mrs. E. S. Stevens, of Grand Rapids, visited her daughter, Mrs. E. J. Luther, today.

J. O. Hulen and wife, of Stillwater, are

C. A. Johnson and Rev. Hocanzen returned yesterday from a visit to Chicago.

The ladies of the Congregational church
have made arrangements for a free entertainment at the church this evening.

wise injuring him.

The New York Sun Strongly Opposes
the Anti-Option Bill.

New York, July 22.—The Sun has an editorial this morning headed "A Delusive Measure," in which it says:

"The anti-option bill, with which Senator Washburn is energetically bulldozing
the senate, is not only special legislation
of a very reprehensible character, but it is distinctly fraudulent. This, we think,
was made apparent in the discussion
which is now pending. Senator Washburn, formerly a partner of Pillsbury, of Minneapolis, and in his time one of the great speculators in grain and flour
that this country has known, is the active principal agency now discernible in promoting this measure. He represents,
not openly to be sure, but not the less absolutely, the milling interests. The passage of the anti-option bill means millions out of the pockets of the farmers. Now we have no objection to the mills making millions out of the farmers,
or out of anybody else, by any fair and equitable process of business, but to seek to do it by special legislation, which affects to be instituted in the interest of the farmers themselves, is to our mind
an impudent imposture. The anti-option bill is a bunco-steering measure and should be squelched."

FOR CHILDREN OF ALL AGES.

The Safest Way to Eat in This Hot Weather.

People Suffer Not From Heat, But
From Improper Food.

A Simple Suggestion That Will Make Life Happier in Vacation Time.

People don't suffer in the summer
from the heat, but from improper food and indigestion.

"Did you ever notice," says a writer in one of the magazines this month, "that in nine cases out of ten, when a man has been taken home from his work, having fallen with what is termed 'sunstroke,'
his wife remembers that he had been complaining of some stomach trouble?"

Food is "improper" that fails to supply the system with what Doctor Gull aptly calls "the raw material of the blood."

The child who is trying to play all day
in this vacation time and complains of headache, or cannot sleep, or, in spite of the out-door air and plenty of exercise, is pale and languid, or has no appetite at breakfast, and is fussy and irritable—that child is numerous.

And the cause—

The child needs better food, food that will give nourishment to the brain and
the nervous system and the muscles;
food that contains the elements of nourishment, and repairs the waste that always goes on.

At night, just before bed time, give
the child or the invalid a glassful of lactated food. It makes a delicious drink,
it contains all the good elements; it nourishes the digestive organs, and will draw the blood from the brain to the stomach, and the child will have calm and refreshing sleep.

In the morning, one who uses lactated
food the night before, will feel like a new person, will have a vigorous appetite for breakfast, a clear head and ambition and good spirits.

The overworked business man and the woman who feels "tired," any person who is out of sorts in this hot weather,
should follow this plain suggestion, and drink a glassful of lactated food at night before retiring.

Lactated food is the proper nourishment for children of all ages, in the summer. It keeps the baby well, gives health to the child, brings strength and vigor to the middle-aged, and is a perfect diet for the old folks. It is not a medicine, and it is not a secret mixture.
It is a pure food, safe, simple and invaluable for infants and invalids. Physicians all recommend it, and it is a long and well-tried diet in nurseries and institutions for the aged and infirm. It is good.

IN DEATH'S JAWS

Experience of Two Men Lost in the Great Desert of Southern Arizona.

One Crawled Four Miles on His Hands and Knees to Alay His Thirst.

Unprecedented Record of Thirst, Privation and Endurance—Five Days Without Water.

HO goes into the garden of hell plucks blindness and death.

Such is a literal translation of an old Spanish-Mexican proverb touching the so-called "Huerta del Infierno." This desert extends from Tucson to Yuma and far southward into Mexico, and except the desert west of Great Salt Lake, Utah, there is no region in the west to compare with it. Even the sandy toad and steel gray rattlesnake of the high plains cannot live in it. The red ants of the sand hills are rarely found, and, as frontiersmen say, "The jack rabbit that has to cross it takes his rattlesnake along."

Of course this is an old tradition that gold in immense quantities may be found in the bordering mountains—there always is "gold beyond the desert" in the popular fancy. Many have sought it, but surely none have had such terrible experience and survived as that of J. H. Van Horn and Martin Waer, of Tucson, who recently returned from a quest for gold. Their story is confirmed in almost every particular, incredible as it may seem, and briefly it runs as follows:

They started with a light wagon drawn by two good horses. They had two kegs of water with them—ten gallons for the horses and five for themselves. They carried an abundance of provisions, including a good supply of canned goods. They entered the desert from Quita Voequia, on the line between Arizona and Sonora. They knew they had not water enough to last across the desert, but they had been there before and knew where to find holes in the way, so they drove on past the hundreds of rocky mounds—each showing where a gold seeker had lain down to die of thirst and madness—and on to where the unburied skeletons dot the road. When men get as far as this they have no time to bury others.

Their water kegs were emptied early in the morning of the day on the evening of which they reached the first water hole. On reaching it they greedily broke through the thick clump of mesquite that marked the only water for miles. They stood on the edge and looked, Van Horn and Waer side by side, and behind them the quivering, drooping horses, with their hot, inflamed nostrils. At the bottom of the natural tank was a patch of caked, cracked yellow earth. The water hole was dry.

Seven miles further on was another water hole, so they whipped their team forward, but the horses gave out. They hitched the team and Waer, the younger and more vigorous, started on with them, leaving Van Horn under the wagon. This is the story Waer tells:

"When I got near the tank I tied the horses to a bush. They were wild for water and I was afraid they would break from me and founder themselves and foul the water into mud. I might have spared myself the trouble. The water hole was dry.

"These water holes are not living springs, you know, but merely basins that catch the water that drains from a hill and hold it. There was not much rain last winter, and the evaporation had sucked from the ground the last drop of moisture.

"This was serious. I knew those horses could not go another day without water, and without the horses—

"I would not allow myself to think beyond that.

"I got the horses and struck off across the desert again. There was a line of mountains twenty-five miles away, and I expected to find water in some of the canyons. The horses began to groan after a bit. I never heard so pitiful a sound before, and I hope it is the last time I ever will hear it.

"Then one of the horses held back. I tried to lead him, but he dropped to his knees and then lay over on his side. I was terrified, but I worked on. A hundred yards farther on the other horse lay down. So it went. Then night came but I did not dare to stop. There was no question of grit at all, only I knew that it was either push on or lie down and die. I reached the mountains at daybreak, but could find no water. When the sun came up I could not travel, for the heat made me so dizzy that I could not walk. I lay under a bush all day.

"God, how I wanted water; just a spoonful, a drop.

"Several times during the day I tried to travel, but I could not, for the desert, and the sky whirled before me and down I'd go.

VAN HORN. WAER.
"About sundown blood began to ooze from the nostrils of one of the horses, and he soon died. Then the other one went the same way, and I was alone.
"Fortunately my keg of the land was familiar to me. I knew the Gila river was not more than forty miles from me, and as I had traveled nearly that far from Van Horn I determined to make the river. If I went back to him without water I knew it would be all up with both of us. He might live until I got help.
"So away I went; my head was light and things swam before me, but I made good progress.
"I removed every stitch of my clothing, with the exception of my shoes, and started out. I did not stop one moment, but kept right on. I did not think of getting tired. I was crazy for water.

"It was 2 o'clock in the morning when I reached the river. I drank and thanked God. It was the sweetest water that ever touched my lips.

"After drinking all I dared, though I felt as if I could drink the river dry, I put on my clothes, filled my canteen and started for a ranchhouse a little way up the river. It belonged to a Mexican. I asked him for the use of horses and a wagon to go for Van Horn. He told me that his horses were not fit for the trip; that they would die before they had gone half way; but that there was a ranch about eight miles farther on, and the man there might assist me.

"I ran as fast as I could, for I knew that every moment counted. The fellow would not do anything, but pointed out another ranchhouse about three miles up the road, and he told me that he thought the Mexican living there would help me. I saw that this man, after hearing about Van Horn, was sure he was dead, but did not like to tell me so.

"When they heard my story at this last place, however, they at once hitched two mules to a wagon and also saddled two mules. Two of us rode the animals while one drove the mules attached to the wagon.

"It was the fifth day after I left Van Horn. We started in the morning and reached the wagon at 1 o'clock.

"Van Horn was gone! On the wagon seat were two notes. One directed what should be done with the wagon and the other said he thought I had perished, and he would try to get back to the last place we had got water. One Mexican staid with the wagon, while the other one and I struck out on Van Horn's trail. Twelve miles out we found his blanket. I dreaded to look lest I should see his corpse. Fifteen miles further we stopped for night till the moon came up, for we might lose the trail. Then on we went all about 2 o'clock in the morning. I heard a shot. I fired my revolver and then an answering shot came back. It was Van Horn.

"We found him in an arroyo under a mesquite bush. I picked him up, and he whispered, 'Oh, God, I did not expect to see you alive; I thought you were dead.' He asked for water. I gave him a little at a time. I built a fire and made him some coffee. He drank no less than six cupfuls and a gallon and a half of water. He then began to feel better.

"He could not have lasted over six hours longer. His feet and hands were full of cactus thorns and were cold, while his head was burning hot.

"We made him as comfortable as circumstances would permit, and then took him back to the Gila river, and later to Tucson."

Van Horn was not the first who sought the shelter of the mesquite brush that shaded the arroyo. Near where he was found was a broken down wagon with the skeletons of four horses.

In the shade of the brush were four human skeletons.

Van Horn's story was their story—only no rescuer came to them in time.

CRAWLING OVER THE DESERT.

Three days later Van Horn was able to tell his story. "When night came after Waer left," he says, "I was alarmed, but had canned fruit enough to partly assuage my thirst. At the end of the second day I felt that Waer was dead and started back. I traveled at night, as the sun made me dizzy. The next night I felt very weak and left my blanket under a bush in order to lighten my burden.

"That night was a terrible one. My supply of canned fruit gave out, and toward morning I crawled no less than four miles on my hands and knees, dragging my things along with me. I was searching for a 'nigger head,' the leaf of the cactus plant. About daybreak I found one. I shot several holes through it and with the barrel of my rifle broke the leaf off. I cut pieces off with my knife and chewed them. I got my hands full of them, but I did not mind that. There was a moisture in the fleshy leaf and it seemed to allay my thirst.

"That evening I dragged myself up right with the help of the mesquite bush and looked all around, hoping to see something living. My gaze was arrested by a line of low hills on the southern horizon.

"I was startled by their resemblance to a man's face. It seemed to be turned directly toward the sun. I was weak and dizzy and I almost fainted when I saw the features change before my eyes. The corner of the mouth seemed to turn up and the eyes wrinkled. I knew I was going mad. Madness comes before death on the desert, you know. I stared at the hills. The great face was distorted with a hideous grin. I thought a malignant giant was laughing at my sufferings.

"I knew I was crazy and I held onto the mesquite bush lest I should run out on the desert shrieking and dash my brains out against a rock.

"The horror of it all drove the dizziness from my brain. Then in an instant I saw that the grin was simply a ravine in the hills which the sun made prominent and the wrinkles about the eye were caused by the same combination of light.

"It was a relief to know I was sane, I tell you.

"Along about 2 o'clock in the morning I heard a peculiar noise. I roused myself and listened. It sounded like a mule braying. I fired my rifle, but heard nothing more. I fired again. Then I heard a shot. Again I fired, and that time there was another shot and Waer hallooed. I was not so far gone that I could not recognize his voice. I raised myself on my elbow and tried to reply, but I was too weak. I remember saying something, but what I don't know. In a little bit Waer was by my side. If it had not been for my gun I would not be alive. God bless that little gun."

So ends their story. It need only be added that both are respected citizens of Tucson. Their story is accepted in all its details, and they are living monuments of the most marvelous escape ever recorded in western annals.

HERE IS EVIDENCE.

Mr. Biederman Has a Few Words to Say:

Mr. Fred Biederman, employed by W. T. Baily of West Duluth, says: For three years I suffered with pains in my back, mental depression and general weakness. I felt tired most of the time, and had dizzy spells. I tried various remedies, but failed to get any permanent relief. Finally, after reading different testimonials in the various papers, I concluded to consult Dr. Speer & Co., of West Superior. He explained my difficulty at once and placed me under treatment; his remedies have had the desired effect, my disagreeable symptoms have rapidly disappeared and I am well pleased with the result. I should be pleased to give any further information to anyone interested. And I can be found on First street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth avenues east, West Duluth.

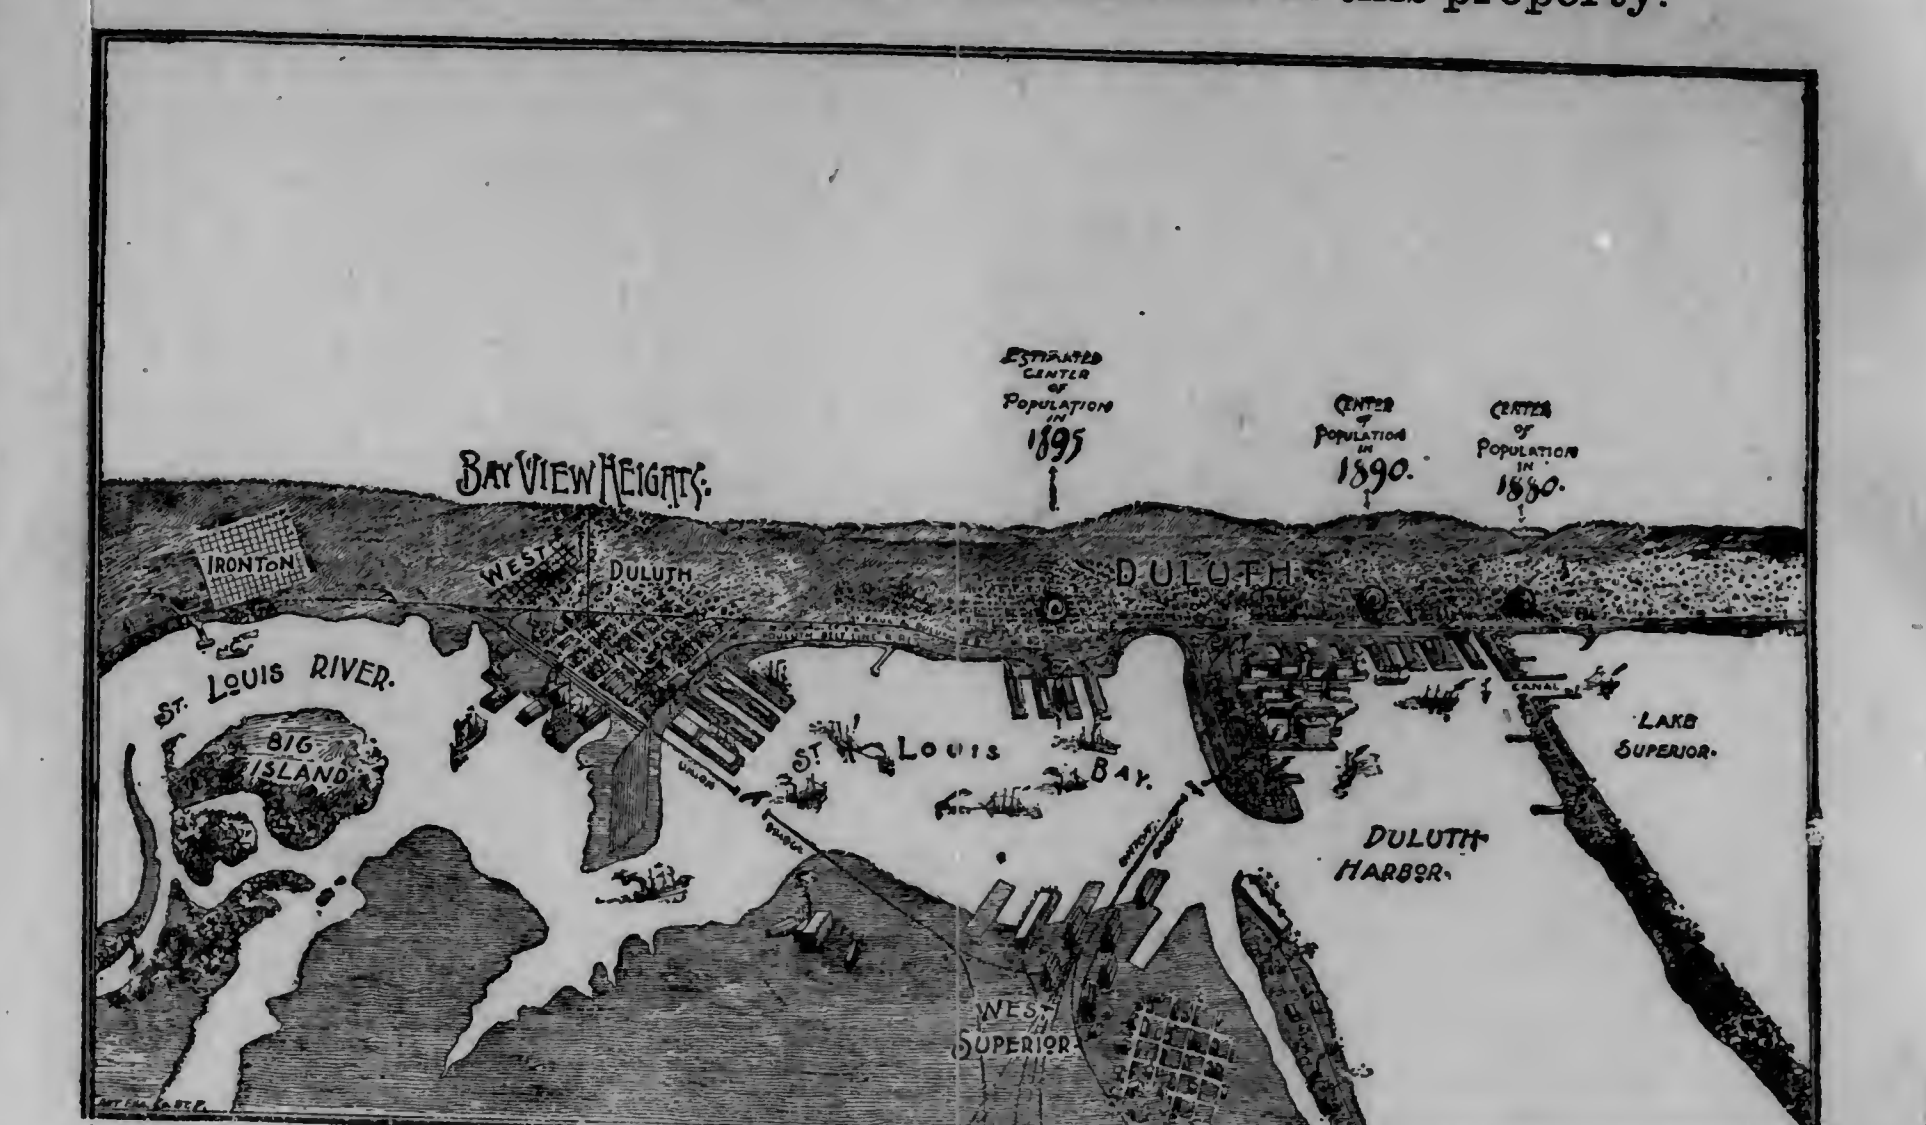

Dr. Speer is a graduate of the medical department of Harvard University class of '74, and is registered in both hemispheres as such.

NEW SOUTH WALES

The Great Interest Being Taken in Australasia in the Columbian Exposition.

Each of the Five Colonies Will Have Its Own Exhibit and Commissioner.

Sketch of "Farmer" Smith, Who is the Kansas Republican Candidate for Governor.

The Hon. William Austin Hutchinson, of Sydney, New South Wales, who recently arrived in Chicago as commissioner to the World's fair, is perhaps the best posted man in regard to the island continent to be found in it, and his appointment is an honor to both countries.

It shows how deeply interested Australia is in the fair. Each of the five colonies will have its own exhibit and commissioner, together they will expend $300,000 on their section.

Their largest exhibit will be of raw wool from their 60,000,000 merino sheep. They will also have beautiful exhibits of gold, silver, copper, wine and wheat, besides some manufactured articles. Another fine exhibit will be of hard woods, both in their native state and manufactured furniture.

Though every general reader knows that Australia is rapidly coming to the front among the nations, it is still surprising to learn how completely the people here realize many of the reforms still looked upon as purely ideal in England and the United States. The control of telegraphs, prisons, schools, hospitals, etc., is in the general government, and the management gives satisfaction. The problems of municipal government appear to have been solved. Taking it generally, Australia is doing many things which will be of immense value to other nations as object lessons.

HE'S CALLED "FARMER" SMITH.

Sketch of the Man Who Leads the Kansas Republican.

The nature of the political weather in Kansas is clearly indicated by the preponderance of farmers on all the tickets. The Republicans have named "Farmer" Smith and "Farmer" Moore for governor and lieutenant governor, and the nickname in each case is well bestowed, for both are practical farmers. Hon. Abraham W. Smith is almost a giant in stature and is possessed of the most robust health. He is a ready, though not a polished, speaker, and his campaign will be one of the most aggressive and vigorous ever conducted in the state. He promised the convention that he would visit every one of the 100 counties in the state during the campaign, a task which has several times been attempted, but never accomplished.

He was born Oct. 13, 1843, at Hiram, Oxford county, Me., received a common school education, served through the war for the Union, learned the machinist's trade and worked at it for some years; then went to Kansas, where he homesteaded a quarter section in McPherson county, in 1872. He has represented his district five times in the state legislature, serving as speaker in the session of 1887.

The Bell Trade Completed.

When Mr. F. A. Ober, the commissioner of the Latin American department of the World's Columbian exposition to the West Indies, was in Santo Domingo during the past year he was presented with an ancient bell of the time of Columbus, which had been used in the chapel of the shrine of Santo Cerro in that island. This was given by the capellan of the sanctuary of Santo Cerro on condition that a new bell be sent to his place. This was done, and through the courtesy of Mr. Thomas McCallahan, superintendent of the Samana and Santiago railroad, it was carried to Santo Cerro, whence it was borne on men's shoulders to the Holy hill and presented to the shrine of the Virgin of Santo Cerro. There was great rejoicing, and the country people flocked from all parts of the Vega. The "gran function," on the occasion of the dedication of the new bell, would have been of much interest, but the rains made the roads impassable. The bell was hung in the old tower on the very spot where Columbus once stood and viewed the valley 400 years ago, and now sends out its clear tones over the interior hills of Santo Domingo.

Rules for Old People.

Science has demonstrated, as the deduction from many hundred observations, that old people should avoid high altitudes and that abundant sunshine is their best medicine. As to sea voyage, they gain or lose by it much like others. It is obvious that the falling vitality—that is, the impaired vigor of circulation, assimilation and excretion which characterize advanced years, and the spinal maladjustments frequent at that time of life, as rheumatism, cardiac disease, gout and renal affections—serve to determine the climatic, local problem, and thus, in a word, moderate warmth, with fair equability, abundance of sunshine, with adequate shelter and level walks, evidently meet the most obvious indications called for by these affections. The unsuitability of the mountain climate to the aged is due primarily to the cold, which depresses those in whom the circulation is feeble.

You may be under the impression that it makes but little difference where you buy your groceries. Perhaps you are disposed to think that you are pretty sure to be served just as well in one place as in another—that, on the whole, all groceries are very much alike, no matter where they come from. Nothing could be further from the truth. In groceries as in everything else, can be found the good, the indifferent and the bad. Not to go into further details, we simply tell you this: From now on you will get the best and nothing but the best and you'll get it at prices that the closest purchasers will endorse.

To Organize Employees.
W. G. Thorpe, of St. Paul, organizer of the Railway Employees club of the United States, is sending out circulars informing all railroad men that a meeting of railway employees will be held in Duluth for the purpose of organizing them in a general body to protect their interests. The circular says that it has become evident that the situation and welfare of railroad employees are endangered; that a law is being prepared by railroads which will compel them to work from three to five hours longer for the same pay and which shall place the authority to discharge employees and fix their wages with the railroad and warehouse commission. All employees are called upon to attend the meeting.

The Increase Greater.
The personal property assessment figures published in The Herald yesterday have been revised and while the total for this year is unchanged, namely $2,308,908, the comparative figures of other years make the following showing:

1890, personal property assessment, $4,381,100
1891, personal property assessment, $4,381,100
1892, personal property assessment, $2,308,908

This shows the increase this year over last to be $1,019,452, and over 1890 to be $927,808.

H. C. FRICK SHOT.

The Head of the Carnegie Company Fatally Assaulted at Pittsburgh Today.

Three Shots Entered His Body, and His Recovery is Considered Very Doubtful.

His Assailant Was Alexander Beerkmann, a Russian Jew, who is Now Under Arrest.

The Excitement in Pittsburgh is Very Intense, and is Growing Every Minute.

PITTSBURG, July 23.—H. C. Frick, chairman of the Carnegie Steel company, has just been shot. Three shots were fired. All took effect, one in the neck and two in the back near the right side, just above the hip. His assailant was badly used up, and it is evident that a hard fight occurred. The man was placed under arrest and is now in the central police station. He is young, smooth faced, tall, slender. His name has not yet been ascertained. One of the clerks in Mr. Frick's office says that Mr. Frick is very badly shot, but it cannot now be ascertained whether the injuries are necessarily fatal.

Dr. Litchfield, the attending physician, says he cannot as yet tell what the result of Mr. Frick's wounds will be. The man who shot Mr. Frick refuses to give his name. He is a Russian, about 21 years old, 5 feet 6 inches high. He has been in this country about six years, and in this city two days. The last place he worked was in the Singer sewing machine works in New York. The revolver used was a 38 calibre.

Another man has just been arrested on Fifth avenue as an accomplice of the assailant of Mr. Frick. The city is in a fever of excitement never before known. The entire block in which are located the Carnegie steel company's general offices, is crowded with excited citizens. The news spread like wildfire and thousands of people are hurrying to the center of the city from its different sections.

A gentleman who was passing on the opposite side of the street says that when he heard the first shot fired he looked up to the sixth story of the Carnegie building and saw Frick rush to the window and make a frantic effort to pull it up. It failed to budge, however, and he then turned and grappled with his assailant. Immediately thereafter he heard two more shots fired.

THE STORY IN DETAIL.

Mr. Frick's Assailant Was a Russian Jew.

PITTSBURG, July 23.—Henry C. Frick, the head, chief and practically the absolute dictator of the Carnegie iron and steel enterprise, the controller of the coke industries of the western part of the state, and the possessor of a fortune variously estimated at from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000, was shot and perhaps fatally wounded a few seconds before 1:45 o'clock this afternoon in his private office on the sixth floor of the Chronicle-Telegraph building on Fifth avenue.

A moment before the tragedy a slim, dark complexioned young man, neatly dressed in light clothing, entered the elevator car on the first floor and requested to be let out at the office of the chairman of the company. The elevator man, while the car was ascending, noticed that his passenger acted rather nervously and had a wild look in his eyes, but accustomed as he has been during the past few days to seeing all sorts and conditions of men, he did not give the matter a second thought. Leaving the car, the stranger proceeded across the hall and entered Mr. Frick's outer office, and requested the usher to take him to Mr. Frick.

The boy, having recognized his visitor as a man who called yesterday and was refused an audience, complied and immediately thereafter the voice of Mr. Frick was heard in the outside office saying: "Let him come in." The man stepped briskly through the glass door into the private office. What brief conversation passed between the two men, is not now known, but it was hardly more than a minute before there was a noise like a scuffle, and then a shot rang out upon the air. Before the startled clerks in the other offices could rush to the scene, there were three more shots. The first man to enter the room found while blood was streaming from his wounds. At the sight of the clerk, the would-be assassin shook himself loose from his victim and dashed out of the door, but instead of taking to the stairs made a bound into the elevator car which was standing there with the door open at the time. The elevator man had sufficient presence of mind to hold him in the cab until the arrival of Officers McRoberts and Cressin, who placed him under arrest. In the meanwhile, an immense crowd had begun to gather in the streets and when the officers appeared with their prisoner, who was pale and trembling, and with his clothing spattered with blood, there were hundreds of groans and howls, intermingled with cries of "shoot him!" "lynch the murderer!"

It was with difficulty that the officers succeeded in conveying the man in safety to the patrol box at the corner of Wood street and Fifth avenue, from which the patrol wagon was summoned. He was roughly pushed into the vehicle and taken to Central station, where he gave the name of Alexander Beerkmann, and said that he resided on Forty-second street, New York. He was, he said, a Russian Jew, had been in America six years, and in Pittsburgh two days. He has been stopping at the Merchants' hotel on Water street. When questioned regarding his occupation, he said he had been a compositor on a New York paper, but declined to give its name.

Upon being searched, a number of 38-calibre cartridges were found in his coat pocket. During the process of searching, he became wildly excited, and became deathly pale. It was the general impression of all who saw him at this juncture that he was undoubtedly demented. Before being locked up he was asked if he knew Mr. Frick, and replied in the affirmative. "Why did you shoot him?" was asked, and with a half hysterical gurgle he replied: "I guess you know that." Immediately after the tragedy doors leading from the Carnegie office building were closely guarded, and admittance was denied to everybody, no matter what the nature of their business. Inside the building the confused murmur of the crowds upon the street were plainly heard.

In the meantime all the physicians in the immediate neighborhood had been summoned and with Dr. Litchfield, an eminent practitioner at their head, proceeded to administer to the wounded man who, although weak from the loss of blood and suffering great pain, still retained consciousness. He was lying on a couch when the doctors arrived, and the first report that came out, which was evidently based on the superficial examination, was to the effect that four shots had taken effect, that one had penetrated the bowels and another had entered the cords in the back of his neck. Later the semi-official statement came that three shots had taken effect, one in the ear, another in the neck, and a third in the back. The unfortunate man had also received a serious gash in the back from a sharp knife.

It was decided that the patient could not be immediately removed to his residence, except at the risk of his life, and for two hours thereafter the physicians exerted themselves toward alleviating his sufferings by all methods and by all means known to medical science. At 2:30 p. m., work came from the room that one of the balls had been extracted, but which one was not stated. At this hour the attending physicians will risk no opinion regarding the chances of Mr. Frick's recovery.

It is feared that the effect of the news upon Mrs. Frick, who eight or ten days ago became the mother of a little boy, and who is devotedly attached to her husband, will be very serious. The excitement in the city is growing with every minute, and no such fever has been experienced since the year of 1867. Business men have left their stores and are mingling with the surging crowd of people, and business in the central portion of the city for the time being is practically suspended.

The police discovered in the would-be assassin's mouth two small dynamite cartridges similar to those with which the anarchist Lingg blew his face to pieces in Chicago. He was noticed to be nervously chewing while in the elevator after the shooting.

Frick May Live.

PITTSBURG, July 23, 4 p. m.—Dr. Joseph Dixon, one of the leading surgeons of this city and who has just come from Mr. Frick's room, says he does not think the wounds will prove fatal and that there is every prospect of his pulling through. It is reported that Mr. Frick said to his doctors, in the midst of his agony while the bullet was being extracted from his neck, that the attack would in no wise change his policy regarding the Homestead strike. The shooting was done with a Hopkins & Allen 38-calibre revolver. Four chambers of it are empty. The weapon is number 120,998.

MORE MEN AT WORK.

The Homestead Mills Gradually Getting Into Operation.

HOMESTEAD, Pa., July 23.—The Carnegie steel works are being operated as usual today by non-union men, whose numbers are gradually increasing. Three Delaware, Lackawanna & Western passenger coaches are reported to have run into the works last night over the tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad, and a number of men are said to have been debarked. There is now no doubt of the truth of the statement that the Carnegies have had hundreds of applications for positions in the Homestead mills from non-union men. These workers are being sent to the mills in small batches of from ten to fifty, and as the number increases more fires are lighted and new works started.

The greatest fear that confronts the company in the operation of their plants, with the exception of possible damage to the mills by the strikers, is that members of the Amalgamated association may secure employment as steel workers or mechanics, and endeavor to cause dissension among the non-union men and retard the progress the company is making in operating the works. Danger from this source, is not, however, likely to appear while the works are so well guarded. In addition to the militia-men numbering nearly 6000, the company has its own watchmen and a force of coal and iron police inside the works, while the borough of Homestead has on duty its four regular policemen and sixty special officers. DULUTH'S SOCIETY.

Politics, the Turn Fest and Hot Weather Combine to Make Social Life Dull.

Picnic and Camping Parties Are Numerous at O-at-ka Beach and on the Point.

The Pavilion is Catching its Share of Society People—Social Chat and Personals.

Social events in Duluth during the week have been somewhat interfered with by several matters. The political excitement the first part of the week kept the gentlemen away from social events and the great Turnfest now in progress has monopolized a great share of attention during the last two days. The sweltering heat of the week has driven hundreds on to the lake boats and to camping places in the woods. Park Point in general and O-at-ka beach in particular are dotted with the white tents of the campers and the clear sunshiny weather of the week has made life under canvas very pleasant. The inland lakes and trout streams have also claimed a large number of Duluth people who will probably return before long with sun-browned faces and any amount of fish stories. The crowds at the Pavilion have been enormous and both the afternoon and evening concerts have been listened to by thousands of people drawn thither by good music and cool breezes.

Social Chat Chat.

A large number of Duluth people have visited Lake Vermilion during the week. Mrs. J. B. Adams gave a very pleasant reception to about thirty friends last evening.

Miss Minnie Meinig entertained a number of friends at a birthday party Monday evening.

Prof. Toanning's pupils gave a very enjoyable piano recital at the Saturday club rooms Wednesday afternoon.

The pro-Cathedral ice cream social Thursday evening at the Ready block drew a large number of ladies and gentlemen.

Mrs. J. C. Hunter entertained a number of lady friends with a 4 o'clock tea yesterday afternoon at her home on East Second street.

The dancing party and social given by Mrs. J. C. Hunter Tuesday evening was a very fine affair and thoroughly enjoyed by the large number present.

Mrs. A. M. Miller entertained the ladies of the St. Louis county World's Fair association Monday afternoon. A number of committees were appointed.

Among the weddings of Duluth people which have taken place during the week are the Sanders-Thurston, Fletcher-Hammons and Waite-Payne nuptials, the latter occurring at Beloit, Wisconsin.

A birthday party was given Wednesday evening in honor of Mrs. John Campbell at her home, 725 Garfield avenue. There were fifteen couples present and a pleasant evening was spent. An excellent supper was served.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Williamson, of West Duluth, gave a very pleasant evening party to a select gathering of young West Duluthians Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Williamson's sister, Miss Berry, of Washington, D. C.

Monday saw the return of the private steam yacht Nautilus from a week's cruise around Isle Royale. The guests were B. F. Howard and family, Capt. Flynn and wife, and Jay Cooke Howard of Duluth, and E. Long, wife and son, of St. Paul.

Mr. and Mrs. Grenough, of Boston, accompanied by Mrs. Goodrich of St. Paul and W. H. Bliss, the attorney of the Northern Pacific railroad, and Reginald Paris, of Paris, France, arrived in the city on Monday on a flying visit to President Greathings of the Duluth & Iron Range in a special car. Mr. and Mrs. Grenough are on their way to Japan and will not return for a year. After enjoying a planked whitefish dinner at the Spalding and visiting the pavilion, the party returned to St. Paul on the private car Minnesota Monday night.

It was a right jolly party of Nebraskan editors and their ladies who visited Duluth during the week. They were H. M. Wells and wife, Crete Vidette; C. W. Davis and wife, Salem Index; F. G. Simmons and wife, Seward Reporter; E. Whitcomb and wife, Friend Telegraph; W. N. Huse and wife, Norfolk News; Mrs. M. C. Dixon, Crete W. R. McCauley, Kearney Courier; E. L. Brown, Kearney Courier; L. A. Varner and wife, Sterling Sun; Miss Jessie Ireland, Papillon Times; D. M. Butler, David City Tribune; Miss Ruby Simmons, Seward.

A DULUTH SUBURB.

A Visitor Describes One of Our Summer Resorts.

I am sitting on the lower of two verandas running across the front and side of a commodious hotel enjoying a most beautiful landscape.

Immediately in front and sloping 60 feet in a distance of 1200 feet to the water, is an open field of clover cut with slightly wooded ravines. To the left is a cleanly grove of balsam, maple, and aspen. To the right are alternate stretches of timothy, clover, and strawberries, divided by water courses fringed with balsam and varied luxuriant shrubbery.

With alternate lines of green turf, bust, reeds, and unruined water reflecting the rich foliage of the distant shore, the beautiful river and lake stretch away in the foreground. A steamer passing at the propitious moment, cuts the still water that reflects its perfect counterpart beneath. Further to the right a quaint little steam yacht glides away, and a becalmed sail in the distance seems stretching its white, still wings out as if waiting some master hand to paint the perfect scene.

All this coupled with the beautiful sunset sky, and a wonderfully pure air, reveal to me why this place has enjoyed so sudden and unanticipated a notoriety as a summer resort.

This remarkably beautiful spot is so near the city of Duluth that it becomes a part of her in 1894. A company has located very large steel works here which are now being built, and the clang of manufactured iron and steel will soon break the silence of years. The hotel, though I am told that it was built for the accommodation of a portion of the employees of this plant, (as it must require several hotels and boardidg houses to care for the all when the works are in full operation), is in the meantime being filled with ladies and gentlemen from the city, who are here for a few days outing.

Our genial and bustling host, Col. Hall, kindly showed us over the hotel, containing forty light and airy rooms, a part of them newly furnished and occupied, and others to be likewise furnished on a day's notice when required.

I have visited many summer resorts and prospective cities, but nowhere have I seen a more attractive place for rest and healthful homes than this, so redolent with myriad breathings of nature, so free from the contaminations of the city however clear.

As I remember some of the uninviting suburbs of Chicago, and other cities, I must congratulate Duluth on having so charming an addition to her future greatness, and I promise myself at least one lot here as an investment.

By virtue of the recent appropriation by congress, I am advised that the harbor is to be dredged to this point at least in the near future, making it possible for the largest vessels to touch at the wharves at Ironton. This resort is now reached by steamer from Duluth landing a quarter of a mile distant, and by four Short Line trains daily.

ALLIANCE LEADER.

Gen. James H. Baker, the Alliance Nominee For the Governorship of This State.

Tom Carter, Who Is Campbell's Successor as Manager of the Republican Campaign.

Both These Gentlemen Are, of Course, Natives of the Great State of Ohio.

A four handed fight is on in Minnesota. There are Democratic, Republican, Old Alliance and People's parties. The Alliance folks have nominated General James H. Baker for governor. He was born in Monroe, Butler county, O., May 6, 1829, was educated at the West-

J. H. BAKER.

legan university, of Ohio, and took charge of a female seminary at Richmond, Ind. Later he became an editor in Ohio, and in 1855 was elected secretary of state. At the expiration of his term he removed to Blue Earth county, Minn., and in 1859 was elected secretary of state for that state. He served as a colonel in the war for the Union, was then made brigadier general and provost marshal for Missouri and later returned to his home in Minnesota. From 1871 to 1875 he was commissioner of pensions, and has since been active in all movements designed to benefit farmers.

TO BE RUN BY CARTER.

Campbell's Successor as Manager of the Republican Campaign.

The Hon. Thomas Henry Carter, now chairman of the Republican national committee, vice W. J. Campbell, is of Irish ancestry, and was born Oct. 30, 1834, in Junior Branch, Scioto county, O. The next year his parents removed to a farm near Pana, Ill., and there the boy was reared. His summers were passed in the ordinary work of a farmer boy, doing chores, tending stock, hoeing corn and cultivating muscels.

THOMAS HENRY CARTER.

On reaching his majority he located in Burlington, Ia., where he earned a living by toil of various kinds and studied law in the intervals. In 1882 he went to Helena, Mon., which is still his home, and where he is known as a practicing lawyer, but he soon got into active politics; was first the territorial delegate, and when the territory became a state, late in 1889, he was elected its first congressman. He was defeated, however, in the attempt to succeed himself, and then received from President Harrison the office of commissioner of the general land office.

In the Fifty-first congress he was chairman of the committee on mines and mining, and as such was active in having a protective duty put on the silver-lead ores of Mexico. He is a stout advocate of the free coinage of silver, and served as secretary of the Republican congressional committee. He married in Helena, his wife being a sister of Thomas Cruse, a wealthy mine owner.

A Paradox.

"How polished Mr. Smithers is in his manner."
"Yes—it's rather queer about Smithers. One so polished as he has no right to be so abominably dull."—Life.

We Yearn a Little Yearn.

Oh, for a carload of ice cream
And a lake of lemonade.
A million fans all run by steam,
A county or two of shade.
Clothes as thin as gauzy tales
Of husbands who have strayed,
Oh, for the blast from polar vales,
Or the glance of a Boston maid.
—Cincinnati Commercial Gazette.

More Restful.

"Don't you think this suit is more becoming than my last?" he asked.
"I don't know," she answered drearily.
"It would please me better, George, if you would always wear black."
"And why," he asked tenderly, bending over her to catch the love light in her eyes.
"Because," she replied with a far away look in her great hazel eyes, "I don't get so tired looking at black."—Clothes and Furnisher.

The Weather.

U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.,
July 23.—A storm of considerable energy is central over Northern Minnesota. Rain has fallen in the Northwest and a light shower at Buffalo.
Over the other sections no rain has fallen.
The temperature has fallen over the Northwest and remains high elsewhere.
The highest temperature here yesterday was 75°, lowest last night 62°.DULUTH, July 23.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Generally fair, possibly light showers.
Slight change in temperature. Fresh easterly
winds shifting to southerly.
B. H. BROOKS,
Observer.WASHINGTON, July 23.—Forecast till 8 p. m.
tomorrow: For Wisconsin: Generally fair;
possibly local showers today or tonight; winds shifting to southerly; cooler in western portion. For Minnesota: Fair; winds shifting to westerly; cooler in southern portion, and cooler in northwestern portion Sunday morning.

THE SCHOOL BOARD.

In another column will be found a communication from Dr. S. C. Maxwell
in regard to the recent school election, in which he argues that the defeat of the old members of the board was not due to the action of any secret society but to entirely foreign and somewhat independent causes which led to the same results. His first reason is that there has been apparent great anxiety on the part of the old members of the board to re-elect themselves from year to year, and the people thought the honors should be passed around.In the second place, he points out that there is no official publication of the proceedings of the board, and that the people wanted directors who will order
the publication of the board's proceedings. His third and last reason is that many people were displeased with the course of the old board toward the movement to secure an American flag and place it on top of the new high school building. All these causes, the doctor assumes, resulted in the rather surprising vote last Saturday.This may be correct. The Herald does not presume to decide, but there was evidently some powerful reason to produce this result. The suggestion that the proceedings of the board should be given an official publication in full is eminently sound, and it is one that the board will do well to adopt. The Herald believes that the proceedings of all bodies which handle public moneys
should be published in full. This is no reflection upon the motives or actions of the present or previous boards. The Herald believes that they have acted honestly and wisely. The people, however, want to know just what is being done with the money that they contribute for the support of the schools. They know nothing now on that point, except
in a general way, which is rather unsatisfactory.The proceedings of the school board in St. Paul are published in full in the official paper, just as are the proceedings of the city council. This is the proper course. It is the most satisfactory to the public. The directors of the independent school district of Duluth
should carry out this suggestion.

THE FAIR NOT BANKRUPT.

Probably on account of the appeals to congress for a further appropriation of $5,000,000, some ignorant person started a report that the World's fair is bankrupt; that it had drawn its last cent and used its last postage stamp. Of course this story is false, but it has proved very annoying to the management, because it has been published in many newspapers
and naturally is doing the fair harm.
The statement is authorized by the management that the exposition has now $2,500,000 cash in bank and about $1,000,000 more in sight. It has not had,
at any time for a year and a half, less than $1,000,000 to its credit in cash, and has had as much as $3,000,000 at one time. During the last six months the money has necessarily been expended rapidly for constructing the great exposition buildings. About $750,000 a month has been paid out for this purpose. A like expenditure will be necessary for several months to come, and more money will be needed by October.
The bulk of the receipts of the fair
from admissions, etc., will not begin to come in, of course, until the fair opens.
It is in order to tide the enterprise over until that time that the government has been asked to advance $5,000,000. The most conservative estimate of the fair's receipts and expenditures places the former about $4,000,000 in excess of the latter. There need not be the slightest fear about the fair being bankrupt, or even of its becoming "hard up" if the government gives the aid which has been asked, and which is confidently expected.
Should such aid not be given, the public
can rest assured that Chicago itself,
though it has raised $11,000,000, and
ought not to be expected to do more,
will put its hand deeper into its pocket
and will provide enough money to carrythe fair through to the grand success which it is determined it shall be, and which it certainly will be.The fair is not bankrupt and will not be bankrupt. The only foundation for the injurious report referred to is the fact that the national commission, or supervising body, has expended all of the money which the government appropriated for its expenses for the current year. That body does not provide the money for constructing the buildings,
gathering the exhibits, or otherwise putting the fair in complete condition for the inspection of the public. This is done by the "World's Columbian Exposition," or local Chicago corporation.
The fair will be dedicated and opened on time, and all bills will be paid.The Minneapolis Times yesterday alluded to the Tribune of this city as
"the leading Republican organ at the head of the lakes." Of course this has aroused the ire of the News, and the result is the infliction upon the poor public of another discussion as to which is the only genuine, pure and undiluted Republican organ, with the trademark blown in the bottle. But neither one claims to be more than an organ. The Herald is the only live newspaper at the head of the lakes, and it is not in the organ business.The sea serpent has left the ocean and is now in Lake Erie on his way to the World's fair, according to the testimony of Capt. Patrick Woods, of the schooner Madeline Downing. He says that he saw the serpent on July 13 in the lake between Buffalo and Toledo, and he was
"a terrible object, with sparkling eyes and a large head." All of which shows
the extreme dangers of drinking ice water
in this torrid weather.The tariff question and the silver question may be very important in the eyes of the politician, but it is the servant girl question that has the most prominence in the homes.It is noticeable that Mr. Cleveland betrayed no surprise when informed by the notification committee that he had been nominated for president. Somebody must have betrayed the secret.There are many indications that the Republicans of the Third district will nominatate Joel P. Heatwole, of Northfield, for congress. He has ability, strength and popularity.The Paris exhibition was open on Sundays, and neither the city nor the visitors were any the worse for it. Why then should the Columbian exposition
be closed?Bismarck is charged by Kaiser Wilhelm with the offense of "majestaetsbe-ledigung." If you don't know what that means, attend the "commerz" at Turner
hall.Chicago has 300 cases of typhoid fever. "Boil the water" is the injunction of the health board. It has a familiar sound.

The Deacon Case.

PARIS, July 23.—Edward Deacon has begun an action against his wife, charging her with adultery. The action has been instituted, it is said, in order to enable Mr. Deacon to get possession of his children on his release from prison.

A MOST BRUTAL MURDER.

Killing of a Federal Gauger by a Mail
Robber.NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 23.—United States Storekeeper and Gauger J. H.
Ballinger was shot and instantly killed
last night six miles east of Cookeville, in Putnam county, while trying to arrest Jeff Sloan for robbing the mails. The murder was a most brutal one. Ballinger had traced Sloan to a log cabin,
the doors of which had been barricaded.
As the officer with two men approached,
the cabin Sloan fired both barrels of a shot gun nearly filled with buckshot.
The lower part of Ballinger's body and his bowels were fairly riddled. Death relieved his sufferings in a few minutes.
The two companions of Ballinger rushed
at once to the aid of the dying man, and Sloan slipped out of the cabin and fled.
The murderer has not yet been caught.

HILL AND CLEVELAND.

Propositions for a United Party in New York.NEW YORK, July 23.—Senator Hill
was at the Normandie hotel in this city yesterday, and Lieut. Gov. Sheehan had a conference with him during the day
and afterwards met Mr. Cleveland. Mr.
Cleveland and Mr. Sheehan fully discussed the situation in New York. Propositions, it is said, looking to the most cordial relations between Mr. Cleveland and the New York leaders were made by the ex-president, who said that he would do nothing which would interfere with harmony or keep anybody out of the party. On the contrary he would use every endeavor to make every man feel that the party was united.

THE ORDER OF ELKS.

Steps Taken to Have the New York
Case Decided.WASHINGTON, July 23.—The grand trustees of the order of Elks met here today. Decisive steps were taken in regard to what is known as "the New York case," which has been regarded with interest throughout the country. It was decided to push the hearing of this case at the October term of the supreme court of New York state, and the matter was assigned to Grand Exalted Ruler Hay and Grand Trustee Campbell to bring the litigation to a speedy end. If it is not settled in the courts, steps will be taken the following year to institute
a new lodge in New York city.

Killed by Thugs.

WASHINGTON, July 23.—A man named Peter H. Young was struck on the head and killed last night by unknown thugs, on Third street near the capitol. Young was proprietor of a small tobacco and confectionery. An axe handle covered with tufts of hair was found near the scene and may give a clue.

A Double Murder.

DENVER, July 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Scott were murdered assaulted while in their bed early this morning by some party unknown, and frightfully chopped with a hatchet. They died in a short time. The murderer is unknown but the woman's former husband, Peter Heenan, is suspected.

Attempted Suicide.

NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., July 23.—A young lady named Allison, a school teacher residing at Corry, Pa., attempted suicide at the lower rapids on Thursday evening. She jumped into the water, and was being carried out into the ed-
dies when a couple of men rescued her.

Smuggler Captured.

QUEBEC, July 23.—Bouchard, the "Smuggler King" of the St. Lawrence has been captured in his stronghold and his followers with him. A quantity of smuggled goods were also seized.

Won By Scotland.

LONDON, July 23.—In National Rifle association meeting today, the international trophy was won by Scotland with 1602 points, England 1682. Maj. Pollock, of the Third Renfrew volunteers, won the Queen's prize by 277 out of a possible 300.

WOMAN'S WORLD IN PARAGRAPHS

Sweet Revenge in the Shape of Flats for Women Only.The ordinary boarding housekeeper has for fifty years been the terror of wage earning women. If she took the woman boarder at all, she did it with such a give-him-a-cold-potato-and-let-him-go air that the working girl felt painfully her helplessness. She was made to understand that men were in all cases preferred to her and that if men could be had to fill the landlady's
room's the landlady would not hesitate
a moment about turning the girl into the street. It seemed in truth that the boarding housekeeper was the natural enemy of her own sex. Well, the tables are being turned now. Working women have at last found a way to circumvent
the enemy. Blessed be the man who invented flats and the modern apartment house! Working women, from those in literature and art to those who are clerks in stores and employees in factries, have found out that by putting their little funds together from two to four of them can rent a flat of their own and have that which every natural woman's heart yearns for a home, with or without a man
in it, as the case may be, but in any event a home. Girls have discovered that they have only to keep good natured, do as they would be done by
and not let their tongues wag too freely
and they can live together in happiness
and harmony and make for themselves
the faintest, brightest of homes. Every year by the hundreds they are deserting
the forbidding old boarding house, where they were only tolerated, not welcomed,
and taking little flats and making homes.
Bless them, how they do enjoy it! They can have their friends come to see them
they have their own pass keys and go and come as they please, and no spiteful gabble assails their ears. These hard working, self respecting women always
pay their rent and are neat, businesslike
and quiet. And now comes in the sweet revenge. It is coming to be that if house agents can rent flats to respectable working women they prefer them greatly to families or bachelors. They do not smoke or have noisy beer drinking parties, and they do not wear out stairs and woodwork. In London builders who see the signs of the times are constructing apartment houses "for women only." In New York an agent thinks himself very lucky if he can fill
a flat house with refined, quiet women who earn their own living and mind their own business.It is a sign of the times that a woman's free trade club, the "Frances Cleveland club," has been started in New York by Mrs. Mary Frost Ormsby. Sarah E.
Fuller, the engraver, is secretary, and the Marquise Lanza, Dr. William A.
Hammond's daughter, is chairman of the executive committee. These women are in earnest and they intend to have similar clubs established all over the country this summer, to induce men to vote for Cleveland and free trade. The foundation principle of the clubs is opposition to the McKinley tariff, because in the judgment of these ladies that tariff increases prices of necessities and makes life harder for poor people. The attention of Mrs. Ormsby was first called to this question when she went among the Italian women last year to persuade them to help in the World's fair. She found them poverty stricken and staggering under a burden of taxes on imports. Finally Mrs. Ormsby became a free trader. On the other hand, when, some time since, I brought this question of protection or free trade up for discussion in a class of Cincinnati
ladies, who were learning parliamentary usage, I found that only one of the whole number went in for free trade
that, too, although her husband was a Republican. I rejoice that women begin to have "views" on the tariff question. They are naturally better economists than men and the time is coming
when their judgment in national economies will be needed and asked for.One person, a young lady, is courageous enough to criticise the voice of Mrs.
Kendal, the British actress who knows it all. The young lady is Lily Holt, a head, granddaughter of the veteran actor, James E. Murdoch, and herself a platform reader. Miss Hollingshead pronounces Mrs. Kendal's voice thin and poor in the upper register and monotonous in the lower register. She further declares Fanny Davenport to have the best voice of any woman who appears on the stage in America today.Mrs. Lena Sittig, of Brooklyn, has invented a waterproof cloak called the "Duck's Back." It is made of a storm cloth prepared without any rubber about it, and is so ingeniously arranged that a lady's skirts cannot possibly come in contact with mud and rain, since they are covered underneath as well as outside.In England it is not very uncommon for women to serve as vestrymen in the Episcopal church, but in America it is an innovation which some half fossilized Episcopians regard with horror. Why?That is a good, helpful plan adopted by the Mississippi Woman's Legion of Industry. Some years ago this legion was formed to enable Mississippi women to make progress in various ways of making a living, so they might better meet the new demands that have come on them since the war. A bureau of education was one department of the legion, and this branch established an industrial institute and college. Ever since then the college has had its hands
full training young women of the state
to "teach, typewrite, report, keep books, cut, drape, sew, etc." The enterprise has been crowned with success, and the demand for trained girls in various occupations is growing. The college is prepared now to supply such demand. This is how women may help one another.The girls are taking so many prizes from young men in every branch of learning in which the two come in competition that it is no wonder the boys are appalled to education. One can understand why they are so. How about that gray matter theory?

A GRAND PARADE.

Great Turn Out of Societies and Turners of the State This Morning.

Opening of the Athletic Exercises and Contests at O-at-ka Beach This Afternoon.

Great Program of Events for Tomorrow at the Beach—This Evening's Entertainment.

The second day of the great Minnesota state Turnfest now being held in Duluth is passing off very pleasantly. The weather at the hour of starting the parade, 10 o'clock, was a trifle threatening but it soon cleared away and sunshine followed the clouds. The visitors kept coming in on every regular train and specials were run on two lines of roads and while nearly all the active turners have arrived the majority of the guests will not be in here before this evening. They are in the best of humor and all seem to be enjoying themselves. Long before the hour of starting the parade the streets around Turner hall on Sixth avenue east were filled with a great concourse of spectators, the grass plots about the county building being covered with ladies and children. The procession moved promptly over the line of march as planned in about the following order:

FIRST DIVISION.
Police.
Duluth City Band.
Marshal, George Schmidt.
Central Committee.
Flags of Visiting and Local Societies.
Drum and Fife Corps.
Judges of the Exercises.
Instructors of Turn Societies.
Active Male Members.
Active Female Members.

SECOND DIVISION.
Pulaski Band.
Marshal Kroljanka.
Various German Organizations from Duluth.
Superior and West Duluth.
Citizens in Carriages.

The Turners showed up well in their attractive uniform and the ladies, of whom there were about 100 in line, with their pretty suits, came in for the lion's share of attraction. Each of the societies as the parade passed the city hall gave three hearty cheers to which Acting Mayor Hugo and Private Secretary Walsh responded by raising their hats and bowing at each cheer.

After returning to the hall a fine dinner was served by the ladies of the Duluth society, and at 1:30 o'clock the excursion to O-at-ka beach began. Ferry boats, with scows, are running from the foot of Fifth and Sixth avenues west every few minutes. The crowd at the beach is probably in the neighborhood of 2000 people and the exercises are being carried out as per the program, which is as follows for the balance of the day:

8 a. m. Beginning of the special volunteer, lasting all afternoon.
9 p. m. Supper on the grounds.
7 p. m. Return to the hall.
8 p. m. Grand gymnastic exhibition and entertainment by all the visiting and local societies and ladies' classes.

A number of Chicago and Milwaukee turners are expected in during the evening and they will act as judges in a number of the events. Tomorrow, which is the great day of the turnfest, will nearly all be celebrated at O-at-ka beach, and the attendance is expected to reach nearly 5000. The program is a long one and embraces a great variety of exercises in which the lady classes take a prominent part. The following is the program:

8 a. m. Breakfast.
7 a. m. Rehearsal of the Calisthenics (Wand Drill) by all the active Turners.
8 a. m. Rehearsal of the club swinging by all the ladies' classes.
8:30 a. m. Single prize turning contests till noon.
12-2 p. m. Dinner.
2-4 p. m. Prize turning contests of all the societies.
5 p. m. Grand calisthenics exercises (Wand Drill) by all the active Turners, with music.
6:30 p. m. Club swinging by all the ladies' classes.
5 p. m. Dumb-bell exercise by the "Best" class.
6 p. m. Supper.
7 p. m. Return to the hall.
8 p. m. Rehearsal of the special turning, (geometric Turners) as addresses, declamations, reading of essays, etc. The Duluth Concordia will assist in entertaining by vocal music.

WILL GO IT ALONE.

The Jobbers' Union Will Entertain the Western Traffic Association. A meeting of the joint committee of members from different bodies in the city was called for yesterday afternoon to arrange for the reception of the members of the Western Traffic association who visit Duluth next month. The only committee present, however, was from the Jobbers' union and that body will go ahead and entertain the association alone. Thirty-five railroad men will be here.

Immediately afterward the transportation committee met and several complaints as to rates were filed for presentation to the traffic association. It was also decided to ask Superior to join with Duluth in making complaints as the interests of the two places are identical in this respect.

The Joint Committee.

The committee appointed by the chamber of commerce, real estate exchange and jobbers' union to devise some means of encouraging the location of industries met at 4 o'clock this afternoon. The jobbers' union is represented by F. A. Patrick, H. H. Hanford, R. Fitzgerald, H. M. Peyton and D. G. Prescott; the chamber by G. G. Hartley, J. Pantan, Maj. Baldwin, S. F. Boyce and B. Silberstein, and the real estate exchange by R. A. Taussig, G. A. Leland, T. W. Hoopes, C. E. Lovett, W. Van Brunt and Secretary Woodbridge.

TRAGEDY IN FLORIDA.

Cowardly Murder of a Man by His Brother-in-Law. JENNINGS, Fla., July 23.—A cowardly, cold-blooded murder was committed near the village of Belleville late yesterday afternoon. Allen Holzendorf was shot and instantly killed by his brother-in-law, Edwin Hendry.

The two men met in a road near that place. Hendry carried a Winchester rifle and Holzendorf asked him why he always carried a gun; was he a coward? Hendry replied: "I will show you whether I am a coward or not," and fired the fatal shot. Hendry escaped.

A Railway Exhibit.

BALTIMORE, July 23.—The Baltimore & Ohio railway company will expend $75,000 upon its exhibit at the World's Columbian exposition. Maj. J. G. Pangborn is vested with the full direction of all matters pertaining to the company's representation and will control its management during the exposition. The evolution of the locomotive will be a striking feature of the exhibit.

Daniel Dougherty Ill.

PALM BEACH, Fla., July 23.—Daniel Dougherty, the famous lawyer and orator, is lying dangerously ill at his residence in this city. Although he has been suffering for nearly two months his condition has been known to but a few. An attack of malaria fever, which liver trouble, is rendering his condition very desperate. The ailments were brought on by overwork.

Shot by a Negro.

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 23.—Justice of the Peace Henry Long, of Kenner, eleven miles above this city, was shot and seriously wounded by a negro in ambush about 6:30 last evening. Judge Long has taken an active part in the transformation of Kenner into a Democratic town, it having been Republican up to last election. The would-be assassin was not doubt paid to accomplish the deed. If caught he will be lynched.

Rich Gold Specimens.

DEADWOOD, S. D., July 23.—Fred Haines, an engineer, brought into town yesterday specimens of gold that assay $46 to the ton. The rock fairly glitters with the precious metal. Haines refuses to say where the find was made, but claims there is plenty where it came from.

Severe Hail Storm.

BEDFORD, Pa., July 23.—A severe hail storm occurred here yesterday. Window panes all over the town were broken. The loss to Bradford will reach $5,000. Vegetation of all kinds was destroyed. Hail stones measuring four inches in circumference, and weighing four to five ounces rained down constantly for two hours.

A Lynching in Prospect.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 23.—Pearl Hower, a white girl 15 years old, of Kansas City, Kas., was assaulted in her home yesterday by an unknown negro. There was great excitement in Kansas City over the assault and a crowd is hunting the negro. He will meet the usual fate if captured.

Valuable Horses Burned.

BALTIMORE, July 23.—The famous Bollingbrook stables on the farm of S. Walden at Middleburg, Carroll county, were struck by lightning and set on fire last night. The flames spread and soon enveloped the whole series of buildings, which were destroyed. The blaze lit up the country for miles around. The cries of frightened horses could be heard for a long distance. Sixteen horses perished.

Run On a Bank.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., July 23.—A run was started yesterday on the People's Savings bank and last night at closing hour about $10,000 had been paid to frightened depositors. The panic was caused by a joke. All depositors were paid promptly without a question. The bank is solid and has a surplus over money deposited.

A Wedding Spoiled.

BARABOO, Wis., July 23.—A wedding was announced to take place here last evening, the contracting parties being Miss Cunningham, the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Cunningham, and Mr. Marshall. The wedding was set to take place at 7:30 o'clock, but at the appointed time the groom failed to show up. Miss Cunningham is heart broken.

Sabin to Nominate Nelson.

STILLWATER, July 23.—At the Republican county convention today ex-Senator Sabin will be elected chairman of the Washington county delegation to the state convention. It is probable that Sabin will be called upon to place Knute Nelson in nomination for governor.

Tornado in Iowa.

OTTUMWA, Ia., July 23.—A terrible tornado swept over the mining town of Hiteam, just west of here, on Thursday, blowing down and uprooting a residence. Several persons were injured, one man probably fatally.

The Farce Ended.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., July 23.—The great farce is over. All the prisoners charged with the murder of Williams and Bright are free on the streets of Forsyth. The state entered a nolle pro in each case, in utter despair of securing convictions under the present regime of Taney county.

President Chapin Dead.

BELOIT, Wis., July 23.—Dr. Aaron H. Chapin died at noon yesterday, at the age of 75, after being unconscious for four days. He was for thirty-six years president of Beloit college.

A Chickasaw Defaulter.

EL RENO, Ok., July 23.—It has just been learned that the Chickasaw nation's permit collector, H. H. McLane, is a defaulter in the sum of $3,500. Governor Byrd has removed him from office and appointed in his stead Grave T. Chase.

A HISTORIC SPOT.

The Island of Mackinac, With its Wealth of Attractions For Summer Tourists.

Rich in Legend and Romance, and the Scene of Bloodshed in the Past.

The Old Fort From Which French, English and American Flags Floated in Turn.

ISLAND OF MACKINAC, Mich., July 16. —[Special to the Herald.]—This is my first visit to Mackinac, and to say that I have enjoyed it, does not fully express the pleasure of my vacation in this picturesque spot. But please do not call it Mackinac. It is pronounced Mackinaw, and if you wish to be on good terms with the remnants of the old French population and the fastidious later comers, you will call it Mackinaw, with the accent on the "na."

From the moment you leave Duluth, by way of the Duluth & South Shore railway to the Point de St. Ignace, thence by way of steamer to the Island of Mackinac, five miles from the point, the trip is an interesting one. It costs only $10 for the round trip by rail, with special sleeper and dining car attached—a genuine stroke of railroad enterprise to induce people to come to this beautiful lake region.

The island of Mackinac is one of the historic spots of the Northwest, rich in legend and romance as well as varied in its wealth of attractions for summer tourists. Let the word summer be emphasized, for in winter Mackinac is a bleak and icebound isle, with a garrison of soldiers and 200 population, quite different from the 4000 or 5000 who throng its numerous hotels, and people its throng and bustle of fashionable watering place.

Entering the little bay at the southwest end of the island, the steamer finds a harbor almost under the embattled walls of old Fort Mackinac, towering 100 feet above the placid and sparkling surface of the Straits of Mackinac, in which the island sits, and not quite equidistant between Lakes Huron and Michigan. Three flags have floated from the center pole of the old fort—French, English and American—and its walls bear historic evidence of many scenes of bloodshed in which cunning and treachery quite as often played a part as courage and patriotism. The stars and stripes have floated there continuously since 1814, and the sentinels who pace the ramparts and the brass cannon that guard the walls are there for Uncle Sam. The old block houses with their peculiar construction and rows of loopholes, were erected in 1780, and give a good idea of the early modes of defense, while not far away the old time sally-ports tell the story of the dashing assault upon the enemy. The fort covers the harbor completely and gives a splendid view for miles in every direction.

Just below the fort is a two-story weather beaten wreck of a building, on the island, was born in 1814, and since unoccupied, but still a landmark of former days. This is the oldest house in town, and was a famous trading place in the early days when fishing and trapping were the staple industries of the Northwest. It was owned and conducted as a general store by Dr. Mitchell, who combined the practice of medicine with commerce, and is supposed to have been the first physician in Mackinac.

Ignace Pelott, who is the "oldest inhabitant" of the island, was born in ninety-nine years ago next Christmas—smart, sharp-featured, keen-eyed old man, who can see eight miles without his "glasses" for he never owned a pair, can hear a watch tick, never was sick a day in his life, has smoked for ninety years and can remember way back of the time when his grandfather's clock stopped never to run again—says Doc Mitchell was a humorist with saw and knife beside being a bad man in a trade. Mr. Pelott told me that he caught a trout right out in front of his house that weighed ninety pounds. He is a fisherman by profession, but varied that tantalizing occupation by raising Irish potatoes, which he says was the only crop raised on the island. Anchor rock, formed to fit its name, is a curious ornament on the lake front near Mr. Pelott's home.

In a lot all overgrown with weeds and bushes, not far from the old Mitchell building is an ancient tombstone. It is gray and mottled with age, and leans like the tower of Pisa. It is all that remains of the first cemetery of Mackinac. The board fence is partially gone, and on the day I visited the spot the week's washing of a neighboring family fluttered a strange rumour. The old stone bears this inscription:

To the Memory of Mary Puthoff, Consort of Major William Henry Puthoff. Died March 15, 1823.

Afterwards I learned that Maj. Puthoff had been prominent in the early history of the town. He was also the Indian agent at this point.

The natural scenery of Mackinac is its greatest charm, next to the cool weather and the absolute absence of bugs—especially mosquitoes. All over the island nature has been lavish of her gifts, and romantic retreats, entrancing views and towering heights abound. All these I have visited, exploring the pretty gorges, gaving in rapid admiration at the wonderful panorama on land and water, and finally scaling the dizzy rocks overlooking yawning precipices, until, as Bill Nye says, they won't have to be scaled again until a new set of scales grow out.

The history of the island abounds in romantic Indian legends, and these are entwined about Arch Rock, an oval circle in the very center of a rugged wall of rock 150 feet high through which the smiling surface of the crystal waters may be seen as through a kaleidoscope. There's lover's leap, a rock from which an Indian maiden leaped to her death for love, and Robertson's folly, where a British officer met the same fate for the same halycon cause. Love got in its work on the island in the early days, under the friendly shadows of nodding trees, but now the summer hotels with their long promenades, orchestral selections from the operas and polished ball rooms have captured the whole business. But this does not interfere with those who prefer the primeval way, for the old places still remain and the pale moon and coyly-twinkling stars hide behind the clouds for those who would have them do so, just as in the days of old when Indian lover wooed Indian maid with song of prowess.

You may find it pleasant to visit the Devil's kitchen, Scott's cave, walk around the sugar-loaf rock, drive through the winding roads of the National park, or fish or dance, or flirt, or play tennis, or enjoy yourself in any way you will, but enjoy yourself you must if you spend a few days at Mackinac island.

The John Jacob Astor house is the old headquarters of the American Fur company, now but little changed since 1820, on or about the time the first of the Astors began to lay the foundation of the immense fortune of the family. The books of the old firm are still there, as is also Mr. Astor's strong box. But enough of Mackinac. Come and see for yourself. One day will prove more than I can tell. It is just the place for a change from the toil of city life. The excursion rate is too cheap to deter anyone. C. A. W.

TALMAGE AND THE CZAR.

The Brooklyn Clergyman Feted in St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, July 23.—The Rev. Mr. Talmage, the American clergyman, now on a visit to this city, was invited by the czar to the palace of Peterhof where a suite of rooms was specially arranged for his use. The czar gave Mr. Talmage a warm and hearty greeting but did not kiss him, as he did the German kaiser. His majesty said that he desired to thank the Americans for their kindness in relieving the sufferers from famine in Russia.

Afterward the czar conversed at length with Mr. Talmage on political and religious subjects, and the reverend gentleman gave his majesty some interesting views on the progress of religion in the United States. Mr. Talmage was introduced to the empress and the imperial children, who all treated the reverend visitor most graciously and regarded him with much curiosity.

The czar manifested great interest in America and American affairs, and asked numerous questions on social and political subjects. The officials at St. Petersburg gave a banquet in honor of the American clergyman. The Rev. Mr. Talmage will start today from St. Petersburg to make a tour of Scotland.

WHO WILL GET IT?

What Will Be Done With the Democratic Congressional Nomination is Exciting Interest.

Searle Men Will Work For Senator Keller's Candidacy, and Try to Nominate Him.

"Bob" Kennedy Withdraws From the Shrievally Contest—County Politics Getting Warm.

Now that the struggle among the Republicans over the congressional nomination is ended and Duluth has been denied the candidate, the Democrats are determined to nominate a Zenith city man if possible. Just who shall be selected to make the race is troubling them, however, and a number of names have been suggested, but on no one of them do all Democrats seem to settle with unanimity.

A few days ago it was stated that there had been a conference between People's party and Democratic representatives with a view to fusing, Parsons to be withdrawn and a man placed in the field upon whom both parties could unite. This reported conference was a myth, evidently put out as a "feeler," and none of the prominent men of either party know anything. A. C. Parsons, the People's party nominee, was around trying to find out where the conference was held and who was there. There was a good deal of talk of fusion around the street, however, and a few men were proposing the withdrawal of Parsons and the placing in nomination of John Jenswold, jr., provided the Democrats would accept him. This deal would hardly go however.

Two or three days ago the name of H. B. Moore was prominently mentioned but it does not seem to have drawn the discordant elements together. Other names mentioned for the nomination are Maj. Baldwin, T. T. Hudson and Mayor d'Autremont, the two latter being more seriously entertained.

Outside of this city several names have been suggested, among them Henry Keller, of Stearns, H. C. Stivers, of Brainerd, and George Geissel, of North Prairie, Morrison county. More is heard of Keller than any of the others because he has announced that he wants it. Stearns county people are not united on him by any means and the St. Cloud Daily Times, which is undoubtedly the leading Democratic paper of the district, says of Keller's candidacy, not mentioning his name, however, and of the congressional situation:

"The logic of the situation demands that the Democratic nominee come from Duluth or the northern part of the district. So far as we are advised, Stearns county has no candidate who is worthy of the support of her Democrats. There has been some little talk of a certain individual; but whatever he may think of it, Democrats generally regard the idea as absurd. It has been intimated that the friends of the Republican candidate would be pleased to see the party alluded to, nominated, and in fact, will put forth efforts in that direction. We trust that there is no truth in the latter regard. The Times hopes that the coming congressional campaign will be a clean contest, free from personality, crimination or recrimination; and therefore, we trust that there will be none of the former well known influences set at work to control Democratic conventions in Republican interests."

That the Republicans will endeavor to control the Democratic convention is certain and the Searle forces will make every effort to have Stearns county send a delegation to Brainerd which will favor the nomination of Keller. This was talked of freely around the Spalding by Republican politicians after Searle's nomination. In Stearns county Searle will have the support in this scheme of John P. Hammerel, sheriff of the county and who is supposed to be a Democrat. He has been in Duluth recently and did not hesitate to say that he would vote for Searle.

It may not be as difficult for Searle to carry out this scheme as might be at first supposed. The Stearns, Morrison and Wright county delegations can control the nomination, having 59 votes out of a total of 114. Keller is a fighter, too, and spends plenty of money.

There are many Democrats who claim that the A. P. A. association and another organization, whose objects and purposes are the same, will endeavor to dictate somewhat as to who shall be the Duluth candidate. Indeed it is said that when John Jenswold's name was suggested it was at once given out that he "wouldn't do" his wife belonging to the Catholic church. It is also freely stated on the streets that Mayor d'Autremont will be opposed because his course as chief executive of the city has not met the approbation of these organizations.

COUNTY POLITICS.

Bob Kennedy Withdraws From the Race for Sheriff.

The county political situation has been changed somewhat since yesterday noon by the withdrawal of "Bob" Kennedy from the race for the nomination for sheriff. He found the range against him and without them could do nothing although he claims to have made great headway in the city.

The greatest contest will come over the nomination for county treasurer. J. E. Cooley and E. C. Holliday are both making a vigorous canvass. Treasurer Crossett is not idle either and will not let the nomination go without some hard work. J. H. Nordby is bestirring himself pretty lively to get into Auditor La Vague's shoes and the latter is giving him plenty to do.

For the office of register of deeds, David Williams and Walter Marvin are pushing their claims but it is said, and on pretty good authority that a dark horse will be sprung on Monday. Judge Ayer will probably have no opposition.

The caucuses will be held this evening and there will probably be a large vote. The convention will be held Monday afternoon at the pavilion at 2 o'clock.

"The Irish Gossoon."

Carroll Johnson in "The Gossoon" drew a fair audience at the Temple last evening, but not as large as it should have been. Johnson is a clever actor and a good singer, and though his brogue is rich enough he is nevertheless distinct and clear in articulation. Miss Barrington, the leading lady, is a good actress and Miss Osterman is very pleasing and makes a charming Annabel. Miss Mortimer as Pansy, the English maid, is excellent and exceedingly amusing. Thos. Dempsey as Dandy Darrah and Chas. Frew as the rascally Allen did splendid work. The play is bright and sparkling with wit and yet is thrilling enough to satisfy any gallery. Tonight "The Gossoon" will be produced again.

Holland's Circus.

With rare discrimination and after an investigation which must have been unusually thorough and impartial, the afternoon paper condemned in very strong terms the afternoon performance yesterday of Holland's circus, now holding forth at the Nester addition. It need only be stated that, because of delay in arriving here and getting the canvas spread, the circus was unable to give any afternoon performance whatever yesterday, to again expose the utter untrustworthiness of statements emanating from that source as well as the rank injustice of such an attack upon a concern which, while it does not pretend to carry a menagerie or equal Barnum's "greatest show on earth," still gives a first-class circus performance and succeeded in thoroughly pleasing those who patronized it last night.

Mr. Holland has been met by many Marquette citizens and they all speak very highly of him and of the neat little circus show which he gives. He has the reputation in all the upper peninsula towns which he has visited of giving one of the best shows yet seen up here, and guarantees satisfaction to the public at his afternoon and evening performance today.—Marquette Mining Journal.

Holland's circus will exhibit Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, afternoon and evening, at the corner of First street and Third avenue west.

Will Come This Way. John Birkinbine Argues the Furnaces Should be Nearer the Ore.

John Birkinbine, an authority on iron matters, said at a recent meeting of mining engineers: "The rapid development of the western portion of our country, particularly that which is tributary to or can be easily reached from the great lakes, may divert from Chicago and vicinity part of the future iron production to points nearer the ore fields, and yet within convenient reach of cheap transportation for the fuel. Whether this fuel will be transported in its raw state and coked at the blast furnaces, or whether it will be conveyed as coke, is a problem in process of solution, but I confess to feeling a gratification that the enterprise which I had the privilege of suggesting five years ago—viz: The erection of a blast furnace at Duluth, Minn., in which Minnesota ores are smelted by the use of coke made near at hand from Pennsylvania coal carried by vessels to the head of Lake Michigan—has been sufficiently successful to encourage other lake ports to seriously consider the advisability of carrying out a similar project."

WILL HAVE A CLOCK

Strong Probability That the High School Will Be Ornamented By One.

The Board of Education Will Ask the Assistance of the Council in Purchasing it.

A Clock With Four Illuminated Dials and Chimes Can Be Had For $5,500.

A communication will be presented to the council Monday evening from W. E. Richardson and H. W. Pearson, of the board of education, asking the co-operation of the council in procuring a clock for the tower of the Central high school. This it has frequently been suggested would be an excellent thing to do, and would not only be an ornament, but would prove a great benefit to the citizens.

The committee of the board suggests to the council that a clock with illuminated dials and a chime of bells should be purchased. One with four dials, all illuminated, and with striking Westminster chimes would cost set up complete between $5,400 and $5,800. This would include a chime of bells. The board informs the council that the clock if put in would be of more service to citizens generally than for school purposes, and therefore it would like to have the assistance and co-operation of the council in the matter. The high school building, the committee says, is a credit to the city, and it would be deplorable to use any false economy in finishing it.

The aldermen will probably receive the matter favorably as Duluth has nothing in the shape of a town clock at present, and although an appropriation may not be made still the idea will undoubtedly be approved.

All Aboard for O-at-ka Beach. Plenty of accommodations will be furnished for reaching O-at-ka beach tomorrow and Monday by boats leaving Northern Pacific dock, foot of Seventh avenue west, every few minutes.

H. C. FRICK SHOT.

Clear's sixteen deputies have charge of Homestead today and the authority of the military has been minimized.

The men on guard duty have been given to understand that the civil authorities, and not the militia, are in command and that their orders must be obeyed when they call on the militiamen to assist them in the discharge of their duty. An order has been issued to the deputies to prevent unusual gatherings about the town, and strict injunctions have been given to disperse any attempt at demonstration on the part of workers, particularly if speech-making is contemplated. There are no signs of disruption in Camp Black, although many rumors of home-going have placed the lethargic militiamen on the qui vive for orders to break camp. The Third brigade band has been ordered home but the men under arms have received no similar instructions.

Reports have been made at the headquarters of mechanics and laborers that about twenty-five of their men have returned to work in the mill. Despite the strenuous efforts of the Carnegie company's officials to prevent scouts sent out by the strikers from getting into the works, several agents of the locked-out men have managed to get inside of the big fence, and frequent reports come to the headquarters of the advisory committee of the condition of affairs there. The company particularly objects to the efforts of the newspaper men and others to keep tally of the number of men landed by the steamer Tide each day, but so far the attempts to prevent have not proved successful.

TWO MORE ARRESTS MADE. Matthew Foy and Peter Allen Arrested for Murder.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 23.—O'Donnell and Ross had two of their fellowmen for company in the county jail last night. At a late hour Detective Jesse Morris came in from Homestead, having in custody Matthew Foy, aged 55 years, father of William Foy, who was dangerously injured by a Pinkerton bullet, and Peter Allen, aged 50 years, whom he had arrested at Homestead on warrants charging them with murder.

These are two of the fifteen men against whom Secretary Lovejoy made information on Wednesday, and which information were mutually suppressed. As a consequence the men were taken by surprise when accosted by the detective in Homestead yesterday, and were hustled on a train before the half dozen persons who had gathered could get an inkling of what was going on. Upon reaching this city they were at once taken before Alderman McManis and committed to the county jail for a hearing on Tuesday next.

Both men admitted that they were on the ground during the rioting, but denied that they had done any firing or otherwise participated in any violence. Both men are above the average of increased intelligence. Foy was arrested in a C. A. R. suit and wore a veteran's button.

O'DONNELL AND ROSS. Their Case Now in Progress Before Judge Magee.

PITTSBURG, July 23.—The hearing of Hugh O'Donnell and Hugh Ross is in progress before Judge Magee at the courthouse. The prosecution is making a strong effort to hold the accused men without bail. Judge Magee, however, indicated that evidence must be presented to establish a charge of murder in the first degree. Superintendent McConnell, of the Carnegie Steel company, Capt. Connor and another Pinkerton man, who were on the barges during the battle, have testified. O'Donnell's presence on the shore. They have not yet proven that O'Donnell participated in the riot, or that he did anything to encourage the men engaged in it.

BACK FROM WASHINGTON. Harbormaster Miller Returns After Doing Good Work.

Capt. J. W. Miller, who has been spending the last six months in Washington, returned home this morning in the best of health and the best of spirits. Mrs. Miller also returned accompanied by Mrs. C. C. Bacon.

The captain reports that everything that was set on foot for Duluth's interests has been accomplished. The harbor appropriation has been increased to $125,000; the life saving station will go ahead in a lively manner; an appropriation covering the cost of lighting the channels in the harbor has been secured and the United States engineer, Capt. Fiske, will be ordered to have the Rice's Point channel widened to 200 feet for its entire length, without waiting for the formality of bids or advertising, but with the greatest haste possible.

There are a number of other things which have been accomplished, but as the council has not received official notice of them, the captain does not feel at liberty to make them public.

WHEAT DROPPED AGAIN. Sluggish Foreign Demand Caused a Decline in Prices.

This market was inclined to weakness in the early hours today, due to sluggish cables and a disposition to sell on the part of foreign houses in American markets. Trading was very dull, both in cash wheat and futures, especially in the latter. The wheat stock here will show a decrease of about 220,000 bushels during the past week. The close was dull at 3/4 c lower than yesterday. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, 82 1/2 c; July, 82 1/2 c; September, 82 c; December, 82 c. No. 2 northern, cash 79 1/2 c; July, 79 1/2 c; September, 78 3/4 c; December, 80 c. No. 2 northern, cash 71 1/2 c. No. 3, 63 c. Rejected, 51 c. On track, No. 1 hard, 82 c; No. 1 northern, 82 1/4 c.

NYE ABOUT ROADS.

He Thinks That Something Ought to Be Done to Make Them Better.

Efforts to Rear a New and Attractive
Mule and How They Succeeded.

The Young Man on the Steamer Who Was Very Gay Although Sad.

(Copyright, 1892, by Edgar W. Nye.)

Every friend of good government and civilization will welcome with a thrill of delight the news that we are going to have better roads in this otherwise well groomed republic. For over a century we have tried with each other to see which state and which city would excel in its parks, its living wild beasts, its jails, its schools and its churches. Ever since the invention of the locomotive, mechanics and farmers have fallen over each other in their efforts to see who could be first to trans-

ON THE ASHEVILLE ROAD.

chise, grant, bond, mortgage and otherwise give land, right of way, easement, conveyance and general hospitality to railroads, yet in the meantime driving into town on three wheels with the tired axle of the fourth one riding on a tamarac pole.

Every industry has preceded the civilization of practical roadbuilding. The time has come for emancipation. We have really overdone the building of railroads, and constructed them through space, hoping that agriculture would overtake the buffet car, but it cannot, because its wagon roads are impassable except to Scaphim.

Men of prominence throughout the country have been receiving for some time well penned letters from the typewriter of Albert A. Pope, of Boston, who has discovered, no doubt, that the reason he crowd into the cities to live is because he can get from one store to another without getting mired.

It is now proposed to make a road department in the exposition at Chicago, wherein may be seen all manner of roads, roadbuilding material, tools, machinery, etc., from a right of way with a rut in the center of it to a sprinkling cart that will wait for the man with the fresh duck vest and the linen trousers and newly polished boots before it will quit.

As originally designed, the roadmaking machinery and material, as well as cross sections of roads, were to be scattered over the ground, being in fourteen groups, that the visitor must look through five immense buildings, covering 70-80 acres of ground, in order to see what the world is doing in the way of making roads.

We have very often home grown products, I know as a farmer, which would yield something if we could take a profitable load to our nearest town, but where we can only draw 500 pounds and take off a wheel en route we find that we had better lose the goods than try to market them under such circumstances.

Referring to home grown horses, I will add that we need, if we could afford it, a strain of the better class of blood, such as the Fenelon, the Norman, and well known English families dating back to William the Conqueror.

I was never more mortified than last week. I had endeavored on my stud farm at Buck Shoals to rear a new and attractive mule, and in May we were blessed with a little bunny mule of the clay bank variety, sired by a Kentucky papa and dammed on the place.

For years I have not been cursed by pride. Since the artist has been practicing on me with a view to some day illustrating a book called "Life Among the Loys; or, Eighty Years on the Door for 'Ephistopheles,'" I can truly say that I am not proud, but a week ago I went to town with the mother of the new mule, as I deemed it time to wean her. So we left Marguerite moored to the well curb and I drove on to Asheville to market a bunch of fat pine.

The day was beautiful. The odor of clover and the sweet, seductive smell of the azalea seemed to lift me off the seat. A small black hornet also assisted in the great work.

"Oh, joy! oh, joy!" I said: "what a gladsome day. Is it not indeed a plumb honey?" as we say in Hooper township. The air was impregnated with ozone, and now and then we could hear the neigh of my palfrey neighing.

She neighed for her absent child with a mother's sigh. The fact that bitter things had been said about her and social ostracism had come with the little stranger did not steel her warm mother heart toward the little one. True, she could not remember any of her folk-

so freely to ears as Marguerite she recked not.

I had marketed my fat pine wood at the Kenilworth inn and ay with the money, for I have y in order to feed my stock on, so that they can cultivate my that I can look forward to the n I can buy more hay to feed so that they will feel strong enough to cultivate the soil, so that I will be cheered on to buy more hay for the same purpose.

As I stood at the porte cochere of the hotel, looking down into the eyes of a bright young girl from Tuxedo, who is here for her father's asthma, though he is not here yet, I heard, borne across the beautiful bosom of the Swannanoa, the mellow bray of Marguerite. She came with a famished snort, and Sheridan some twenty odd miles away was nowhere. There was a rattling of tiny hoofs on the gravel drive, a little glad cry of recognition from the mamma, and the clay bank mule Marguerite was monkeying with what is called the maternal font.

The reader can readily understand how the mule Marguerite, by connecting herself with my palfrey, had hurt me socially at Kenilworth inn, and how the young lady who came here to try the balsam and the healing of the North Carolina mountains for her father's asthma excused herself to get a heavier wrap, thereby intimating that there was a coolness between us, also that I needed a heavier rap. Anyway, I have never seen her since.

To return to our national roads, it is a wonder that we have, as Americans, so long submitted to the savage and dangerous ruts over which we haul our empty, wobbly, worn wagons. The reason is, doubtless, that we generally select our choicest and densest as to superintend the building and repair of our roads, and in many cities our streets also. He works on the roads in summer and sits on the jury in winter. He is generally a man who is selected because he has never been outside of the county. He is noted for his gravity, gloom and the opacity of his mind.

Another reason is the same that has been fatal to most all farm movements, though started with the most holy and honest motives, viz., that we farmers cannot, like the residents of cities, see each other every twenty-four hours and plot against other trades. When we have done over nineteen hours of work and another hour's wholesome thought interchange with our calf kindergarten, and then mutton tallowed our bunions, we must needs rest in order to be up and combating with the early bird for the ill advised work.

Still, somehow the foreign peasant in several European countries, far inferior to ours otherwise, has a road over which he hauls a carload as compared with the silly fiddle convention jags which we see so often here.

I am patriotic, I had almost said, to a degree. I shut away two solid hours of fireworks here this year, sent to me by the manager of Pain, the international pyrotechnician and feller of Sebastopol, Peking, Rome and other cities that had formed the habit of falling; did it, too, where the celebration of the Fourth of July has so long remained unobserved that the best bird dogs here tried this year to retrieve the common crackers, and looked thoroughly ashamed when they thought they had flushed a three pound rocket; and yet I say that, patriotic and enterprising as we are in other things, in education for instance, and the ambition to have about eight more churches than we can support in each village, together with other real evidences of advancement, we have got the worst country roads that have been permitted since the days when the earth was a vast hot, steaming ball of mud, fit only for a mighty lizard farm.

Some states have by nature a delightful country road. Kentucky was born with good roads. So were Colorado and Wyoming. In the very heart of the Rocky mountains these last two states have a natural roadbed wherever it is needed. Forty and fifty miles per day with an ordinary team is the rule rather than the exception, while in the spring, when the frost is coming out of the ground and the new milk cow is a burden in the land, the rich, deep, black country road of Iowa and Illinois cannot be passed even by a two-thirds majority.

But what are we to do? We may laugh over it if we choose. Some people have a wonderful control over themselves in their grief. Once there was a young man on board our steamer, coming from Queenstown homeward bound, who was the life of the party. When others were ill and had gastritis quite a considerably, he was always our bit of sunshine. He could tell stories—funny stories—tell them, too, so that they sounded like reading from a large leather covered some, never failing to put in the "said he," or the "oh, she replied," just as the book did. He could play the tumbler-onion and a voluntary on the mouth organ. He was like a bottle of champagne, ever fizzing and the life of the party all the way over.

when we got to sandy hook he strove of accident in the midst of a joke and said, softly to a passenger whom he led aside behind the smokestack:

"I am gay, as you see; gay to the age. I spread joy among the passengers wherever I go. I am a ray of sunshine—here, there and everywhere. People fluster about me to get a hearty laugh and catch the contagion of my merry atmosphere and enjoy my inexhaustible fund of anecdote, but my heart is really sad on the inside.

"I am going home to bury my young wife. She died in Chicago and will be buried in Brooklyn on my arrival. Have you any idea what it costs to bring a remains from Chicago to New York over the Pennsylvania road?"

Again returning to the matter of wagon roads, let every one who reads this letter resolve that he or she will not rest content till our roads shall be equal in every respect to our boundless enterprise in other respects, instead of being at the everlasting tail of barbarism. They are inhuman for one thing. We form societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals and then beat our dumb beasts through swamps and mud holes, over roads that it would bother a peri with eleven foot wings to go over lightly.

Let every one with an idea on roads go to Chicago with it, taking also a change of umbrellas and a scrip containing the price of two weeks' board and credit at the home bank.

Mr. Pope also suggests that cross sections of wagon roads be shown at the exposition.

I am collecting a few in North Carolina, and am getting cans made to put them in.

I have not decided yet whether to filter them or not.

Convenient Paperweight.

An Italian cure was about making a journey. Many friends called to say goodbye, and as had happened before each gave him a paper on which was jotted down a list of things which the writer wished the traveler to purchase for him. Only one of these friends accompanied his memorandum with the necessary money.

This one friend's commission the cure carefully executed and delivered the articles to him.

When the others called for their goods he said: "Soon after I sailed I took out all your papers to look them over and classify them. I laid them on the deck before me. Suddenly there came a gust of wind and they were all blown away. I could not remember what they contained, and so I could not do your errands."

"But," they objected, "you brought what so-and-so asked you to get."

"Oh, yes," said the cure. "You see he inclosed the cash with his memorandum, and that kept it from blowing away."—Youth's Companion.

SWEET FACES OF BABIES.

When One is Born There's An Angel in the House.

What One of These Sweet Human Buds
Means to Parents.

Here Albums That Contain the Likeness of Happy Little Ones.

As babies we were all interesting. And as parents there is nothing in this world interests us so much as babies. They are pictures that have no need of a frame, the fondest of them more beautiful than any painting ever can be.

Almost anyone who has peeped into the store windows of booksellers has seen the faces of the choir of angels by Correggio, and the pictures by Raphael of that childhood which Christianity defined, and the sweet faces of Sir Joshua's singing cherubs. But who will say that amid the whole group of the glorious pictures one blent, button-faced living baby is not more lovely, more angelic, fuller of inspiration than them all?

When the baby is born there's an angel in the house.

From the possession of one of these sweet human buds comes a sympathy for many things, a hundred hobbies never suspected, a new world of pleasure.

But babyhood is a serious affair, and many plain, homely truths must be looked in the face. The little one must live and be well. And yet those cold affairs, the doctor's figures, show us that far too few do live, and that fewer still are well.

And that July and August is the season when they suffer.

They starve and grow sick and die, for want of proper nourishment! The nursing mother is often weak or sick herself. In cities there is a proverbial danger in the milk supply. Cholera infantum comes, and half the funerals in July and August are of MARJORIE.

Wise doctors and experienced mothers know that the baby's health at this time depends on proper food. Do not, they are continually saying, experiment with cow's milk, condensed milk or doubtful preparations. If the mother's milk is, for any cause, insufficient, simply use the standard substitute for mother's milk, lactated food. In it the combination of the necessary elements of pure, healthy mother's milk is accomplished.

With pure milk sugar as a basis, there is combined the richest gluten flour of wheat and oats, which by long subjection to high steam heat under pressure, and while in constant motion, has been perfectly cooked by the important addition of pure malt extract. This extract is obtained from the finest malted barley, without the aid of heat, so that its full diastatic power is retained unimpaired. It is combined with the other elements of the food, the result being a homogeneous product that is assimilated by the feeblest stomach.

It is a safe, simple, invaluable food for infants, and they like it and thrive on it and grow healthy and strong. Half a dozen photographs were taken at random the other day from the huge albums that contain the like-nesses of hundreds of happy little ones whose kind parents have written to the Wells & Richardson company heart-felt letters telling of the good that lactated food had done their babies.

Mr. William May Smith, of Provincetown, Mass., a portrait of whose little son is given here, writes:

"My baby was a frail little thing when he was born. He was nursed at the breast until he was four months old. When the doctor said he and his mother would both die if he was not weaned. We tried cow's milk, which was not adapted to his needs, so we used lactated food, following the directions exactly. Since then he has gained a pound a month, has had very little sickness and seems strong and bright. I have had no experience with any other child or any other food, but I am sure this child has thrived on lactated food. One friend says of him: 'I would not have given 2 cents for him when he was two weeks old, but now, if he was mine, no money could buy him.' And I am sure his father and mother agree with the last clause of that statement."

Mr. J. B. Henderson, of Burlington, Vt., says:

"The photograph of little Marjorie, which I send you herewith, shows that her use of lactated food has been perfectly satisfactory. Living exclusively upon this food for months, without a sick day, is the best evidence that lactated food thoroughly nourishes. She had but little trouble while cutting her teeth, and I ascribe this to the bone-forming properties of the food, and that it prevents irritation of the stomach and bowels."

Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Haynes, 4 Autumn street, East Somerville, Mass., send this letter:

"Our little adopted daughter, seventeen months old, weighs 23½ pounds and is a very healthy, happy child. She owes health to lactated food. It agrees with her in every respect, keeping the bowels regular. I can recommend it for keeping the bowels regular and being the best food for bottle babies. Baby is the picture of health and shows nothing of the many diseases children usually suffer from while teething."

From Spencerport, N. Y., Mrs. L. J. Woodmansee writes:

"My little girl was quite sick last May with bowel trouble, and after trying several things, the druggist advised me to use lactated food. I did so and she improved rapidly. She has been using the food since then, and it has kept her well and strong. I shall always recommend it when I see a baby that is sick or fretful, for my experience has satisfied me that lactated food will make any child rosy, plump and well."

And so they write, hundreds of happy parents, about this nutritious, palatable and easily digested food, which comes done up in a handy package and can be had at any drug store.

THE LESLIE E. KEELEY CO.,

DW. J. H. ILL.

For the cure of Liqueur, Opium and Tobacco Habits, by the use of Dr. Leslie E. Keeley's Double Chloride of Gold Remedies.

Indorsed by progressive physicians, phar-thrologists, and divines. Endorsed by Dr. T. DeWitt Talmage, of Brooklyn, Tennessee, who recently visited Dwight, and addressed the seven hundred patients in line. The United States government has adopted these remedies for use in all State and National Soldiers' Homes. Care fully kept records prove 95 per cent permanent cures. 66,000 homes already made happy. The objectionable features of Salutarium treatment removed. All necessary liquors supplied during treatment. Patients are simply residents like ourselves.

TERMS:—$25.00 per week; board extra, $7.00 to $10.00 per week, to suit purse and local- itation. Good accommodations, including baths, at the Institute.

TEAS AND COFFEES.

We are now offering the heaviest haulers in the Northwest. Much of our vast stock is our own direct importation and we are certain of our ability to weigh out to the consumer Teas and Coffees at prices more nearly approaching those existing where the goods are grown than any competing house in this country, whether they be jobbers, wholesalers or exclusive tea dealers.

The following few are merely price examples and are selected from more than one hundred distinct varieties of teas:

Flax seed-dried Japan, per lb. 35c
Extra choice sun-dried Japan, per lb. 50c
A splendid line of pan and basket-dried Japan teas, all under the same name, 12c
Flax choice Breakfast, per lb. 35c
Flax choice English Breakfast, per lb. 35c
Challenge Cup Tea is an article of surpassing merit. It is a combination of very choice India and China teas specially blended for the making of those who are judges of a fine English Breakfast tea. It is of great strength, and of rich rich flavor. Fifteen cents per pound.

Flax choice Oolong, young Hyson at very heavy discounts from prices that tea-drinkers have been in the habit of paying.

Flax choice tea, per lb. 12c
Flax choice tea, per lb. 12c
Flax choice tea, per lb. 12c
Special Java and Mocha, blended with 50c
Lactated berries, per lb. 35c
Boston Special is a superb article that is selected from the very finest varieties of Java (no Mocha). It makes a drink that cannot be surpassed and is rarely equalled.

Special discounts on Teas and Coffees in quantities.

Millions of dollars have been expended in Baking Powder and Flavoring Extract advertising during a few recent years. It is well that the resulting fortunes are secure.

Yerxa's Double and Triple Strength Extracts and Yerxa's Gilt-Edge Baking Powder, lately compounded, are practical and scientific successes. They will do all that is claimed for them to a higher degree of perfection than any competing similar goods. One introduced and much becomes a necessity, and advertisers itself. Their success comes without expending millions to leave their goods at the hands of the public.

IT IS EASY

To get what you want if you know how. A few dollars will do the work of many if you use them judiciously.

TRY THIS PLAN

Make a list of the things you need—probably a FOLDING BED will head the list, then some CURTAINS for that room upstairs, perhaps a New CARPET for the parlor, or a BEDROOM SUIT. Make up your list and bring it to me. I'll squeeze the price just as small as possible and let you have the whole lot

WILL RECOVER

The Surgeons Expect That Mr. Frick Will Recover From His Severe Injuries.

Blood Poisoning the Only Thing Feared But no Traces of it Noticeable.

An Accomplice of Berkman Arrested by a Detective in Pittsburgh This Morning.

Over Two Hundred Workmen Arrived Today and Taken to the Homestead Mills.

PITTSBURGH, July 25.—Chairman H. C. Frick, of the Carnegie works, did not come down to his office this morning, as he jokingly assured his associates that he would, when he was carried to the ambulance on Saturday night. Nor is probable that he will be seen at his desk for many months to come. Reports from his residence this morning are to the effect that he passed a restful night, despite the closeness of the atmosphere. His extraordinary vitality was strikingly demonstrated yesterday, for although it was the hottest day that Pittsburgh has experienced in ten years, his wounds gave him apparently little trouble, while mentally he was bright and active.

His wounds were examined and dressed this morning but there were not the faintest traces of blood poisoning, or of any greater amount of inflammation than would be expected under the circumstances, and the results of the examination were decidedly encouraging both to his physicians and their patient. After the examination Mr. Frick asked for the morning papers and read with interest the accounts of the events of the would be assassin during Sunday and the interview had with him. As to the future of the sufferer, the surgeons say that it will not be possible for him to leave his bed even to walk about the room for a month or six weeks. It may be longer, but unless blood poisoning or some other unlooked for developments should supervene, they believe that he will improve rapidly and recover completely.

They are particularly concerned about the gashes on the underside of the leg just above the knee, which were made by the assassin's knife. These almost severed the tendons and will occasion excruciating pains at intervals for many weeks to come. Although the corps of surgeons take turns in attendance upon the wounded man, they include the most eminent skill in the city. It was decided last night to telegraph to an eminent New York specialist, asking him to come here at once to make a personal examination of the patient and advise concerning the treatment. This morning, however, a reply was received that the specialist in question, but whose name the surgeons will not give out, had gone to California, and thereupon it was decided to seek the aid of another noted surgeon, who, it is said, is at present in Washington.

The fact has been developed that on Saturday Mr. Frick received in his morning mail a letter which informed him that he would die before the next day. He passed it over to one of his associates with a joking remark: "I have but twenty-four hours to live." He afterwards placed the missive in one of the pigeon holes in his desk. He referred to the matter last night, and today it is being investigated. It is not thought, however, to have any connection with Berkman's action. The would-be assassin was quietly taken last night from the central station to the county jail, where he will remain until his trial in September. He was booked for felonious assault, the maximum penalty for which is but seven years, but other charges are to be added. A week from today he will be brought before Alderman Gripp, but this will be a formality, only to meet with the requirements of law.

He admitted to Warden McAleese that Berkman was not his right name, although he had borne it since his arrival in this country. But the closest questioning could not give out, and he revealed the name by which he was known in his native land. There is a good deal of mystery surrounding his recent movements which has yet to be penetrated. At the time of his arrest, he said that he had only come from New York the day before and had passed but one night in the city, yet he has been identified by several men, who have seen him around the Carnegie building for a full week. When first seen he was dressed like a tramp, and in the interval, he must have received remittances to enable him to purchase the new suit of clothes and the revolver and dirk. When arrested his entire resources was a five cent nickel. It is also said that he was seen at Homestead on Wednesday.

The local detectives are bending all their energies to discover whether or not the murderous Russian had any accomplices with him in this city, and a vigorous search is being made for a man answering the description of Aaron Stamm, who was Berkman's boon companion in New York, and who is said to have disappeared from his usual haunts in that city. When Berkman was dogging the entrance to the Duquesne club, where Mr. Frick lunched on Saturday, he was accompanied, so say several of the members, by a man whom they recalled as being a friend in a suit of blue-black cloth, but of whose facial characteristics they are unable to give any clear description.

It is thought that this fellow was an accomplice of the anarchist and waited at the bottom of the stair with the intention of assisting him to escape, but took flight after the firing of the shots and the assembling of the crowd. Berkman, however, appears to have been all alone when he registered at the Merchants' hotel on Friday night. Superintendent of Police O'Mara left for New York last night for the purpose of conferring with Inspector Steers, regarding the possibility of the attack being the outgrowth of a conspiracy among that section of the anarchists. Berkman bedded longed. He took with him several photographs of the prisoner and also it is believed private papers found on his clothing, which were likely to prove of value in the investigation at the New York end.

The action of Judge Magee this morning in admitting O'Donnell to bail was just what had been anticipated by those who heard the evidence adduced by the prosecution on Saturday. The court reviewed this evidence at length, cited the law on the question and announced as his conclusion that no case of murder in the first degree could be made out against the prisoner. It was apparent, he said, that O'Donnell was not an actual participant in the action, although there are grounds for the belief that he was a sympathizer, but evidence enough to justify an indictment for murder in the second degree. He hoped, however, that when the defendant came to trial he would be able to show that he was in no wise guilty of participation in an affray that had resulted in the loss of so many lives. It was the court's imperative duty to admit the defendant to bail, and that bail would be fixed at $10,000.

The decision was received with a buzz of satisfaction from the crowded court room, and it was fully a minute before the tipstaves could secure silence. It was then announced that no evidence would be offered against Ross, Foy and Allen, and bail in the same amount was fixed for each defendant. Bail was promptly given for all four prisoners and they were released. Robert Sterling, the starved, shabbily dressed young fellow from Chicago, who was arrested on Second avenue late last night while telling a small crowd that he had walked to the way from that city to kill Andrew Carnegie, will be sent to the work house today. When taken to the station he fainted for the want of food, and afterwards admitted that he had eaten nothing since Friday. He says he has lived in Chicago for years, had worked on the cable lines and was in the Haymarket square during the riot. The pockets of his clothing were entirely empty, save an ugly looking knife.

The orders signed by Mr. Frick, and posted at the Homestead works this morning, to the effect that men returning to work would be insured against removal is regarded as the final peace offering of the firm to the strikers. In this connection, a representative of the firm makes an important statement. "Even if Mr. Frick should die," he said, "the policy of the management in the present crisis will be strictly adhered to. The statement that Mr. Carnegie is not in wall with the strikers is a lie. The latter has pursued of late is absolutely and unqualifiedly untrue. It can be proven beyond peradventure, if necessary, that Mr. Frick has been but carrying out the plans formulated by Mr. Carnegie himself. As for our present position we are still willing to confer with such of our employees as are worthy of our confidence. But we will do no talking through a conference committee, composed of men not in our employ. Nor will we recognize the assumption that these strikers have a right to permanent employment, whether their services are satisfactory or not. Hereafter we will do business on the old fashioned plan, that we can hire any man who wishes to work for us."

It is understood that orders will be issued today by the Carnegie company to the superintendent and foremen of the Desquesne mill to start up at once with non-union labor. The men of this mill struck on Friday out of sympathy for the men at Homestead.

An Accomplice Arrested.

PITTSBURGH, July 25, 2:10 p.m.—Detective S. C. has just arrived at Central station with a man whom he arrested a short time ago as an accomplice of Anarchist Berkman. He says this man has been with Berkman since July 14. He will allow no one to see him, nor will he give any information concerning the place of arrest or anything whatever concerning the man, except that it is certain that he is an accomplice.

The fast express on the Pennsylvania road stopped at Swissvale this morning and over 200 men alighted. The steamer Little Bill was in waiting at the landing at City Farm station, close by the camp of the Fourteenth regiment, and the men were taken over the river to the mill yards at Swissvale. They are said to be skilled steel workers from New York, Philadelphia and Boston.

Berkman's landlord, with whom he stopped before he went to the Merchants' hotel, has been arrested as an accomplice in the attempted murder of Frick.

For Free Silver.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Senator Vest introduced in the senate a joint resolution authorizing the president to proffer to Great Britain, Germany and France, as inducements to enter into an international agreement for the free coinage of silver, a reduction of 25 per cent in tariff duties on textiles, hardware, earthenware and glass. Laid on the table.

IRON RIVER GONE.

The New City Suffers Terribly From Fire and is Almost Entirely in Ashes.

All the Stores, Saloons, Hotels and Boarding Houses Are Burned.

Supplies and Provisions Will be Sent From Duluth Everything There Being Destroyed.

IRON RIVER, Wis., July 25.—[Special to The Herald.]—Fire broke out yesterday afternoon in the yard of a boarding house on the south side of the track here at 4:15 and under the influence of a strong wind soon swept the entire city out of existence, with the exception of about eighteen shacks, all of the poorer class of dwellings. The flames spread with frightful rapidity until about 8 o'clock in the evening.

The losses are not known, but with buildings and stocks will run up to about $300,000. Several buildings on the north side of the track and 200,000 feet of logs belonging to K. G. Staples were consumed. The variety theater and one saloon escaped the general sweep of the flames, but they were in isolated places. An engine and five cars belonging to the Duluth, South Shore & Atlantic were burned and all the railroad depots and buildings. The marshal is severely blamed for refusing to allow some buildings to be pulled down to stay the course of the flames. There is very little food or provisions left in the city and no adequate shelter for at least 800 human beings.

The insurance will not reach 5 per cent of the loss. About six large general stores, seventeen saloons, five hotels and boarding houses and the newspaper office, besides a lot of dwellings and small stores were totally destroyed with their contents.

FACTS ABOUT THE FIRE.

Stories of the Progress of the Flames by Eye-Witnesses.

Henry Groesbeck, who arrived here at noon, says: "The town is in ashes, and there isn't a single place of business except a very small store and a saloon left. The wind was very brisk and the town was gone in about four hours. I think it caught from flying sparks from burning brush piles near town. It was first noticed in a boarding house."

Conductor Fox, of the Northern Pacific train, says: "We passed through the town about 10 o'clock; it is practically wiped out. Our track is all right, but was badly warped last night. We had to put in a couple of switch rails this morning. The road has a telegraph office open in a box car. There were only a few houses on the north side of the track, but Main street is nothing but cinders."

The railroads are doing all in their power to hurry up food and shelter for the unfortunate, and supplies will be carried there free of charge. The Duluth board of trade is trying to get up a car load of flour and Acting Mayor Hugo will spur the city to some action in the matter this afternoon. There were no lives lost, but a number of narrow escapes, particularly of sick people, were reported.

The heroic actions of Telegraph Operator S. B. Jeffries are on every tongue. As soon as the depot was sure of going he moved his instruments down the track and "cut in" several telegraph poles' length of wire from the station. He was driven from that place to another and another, but all the time kept his instruments working at the risk of his life. William Seeley, the night operator, materially assisted him.

Upward of 200 people huddled together in the saw mill last night and a number of others found refuge in the variety theater. The little city will be rebuilt better than ever within sixty days.

The postoffice and entire contents were destroyed.

HE FOUND THE ARK

The Very Remarkable Story That is Told by a Dignitary of the Greek Church.

He Claims That he Has Seen Noah's Ark on Top of Mount Ararat.

How and Stern Were Clearly in View But the Center Buried in Snow.

The Rev. Dr. John Joseph Nouri, D. D., LL. D., Chaldean archdeacon of Babylon and Jerusalem, pontifical delegate general of Malabar and ex-grand secretary of the Metropolitan archdiocese of India and Persia, has found Noah's ark! At least he says he has, tells a very strange though somewhat gossamer story about it and has gained believers among men of piety and learning. He is of the Orthodox Greek church and his labors have been chiefly in Africa and southwestern Asia.

Seven years ago he left his home in Jerusalem for an exploring tour around the world. He has but recently reached San Francisco, and thinks it will take five years more to complete the task he has laid out for himself, at the end of which time he will have journeyed some 400,000 miles, or sixteen times the circumference of the earth. His system is peculiar. He reasons out in a general way, with science and the Bible for a basis, that certain things are or should be in certain remote and unexplored sections of the earth, and then he searches those sections.

His first tour was in Africa, and though he did not find an ancient civilization he did see wonders. Up the Nile and over the hills to Khartoum was a comparatively easy trip. Thence he went to Timbuctoo with a great caravan, and after a long sojourn in that region explored the Mountains of the Moon. And there he found gold, of which he says:

"There are the rich gold mines of the world. No mines hitherto found can compare with them. They are destined to attract the attention of all nations of the globe. The country was richer and richer as we proceeded. Boulders lay in our pathway that were not boulders, in that but little of them were rock, but gold.

THE ARK ON ARARAT.

"I may say that the mines of that country, or rather the ore bodies, for they are not mined to speak of, are as much as $9 per cent. pure gold. I picked up some of the gold, intending to take it with me, but I got too much. It was too heavy, and owing to the hardness of our trip I was forced to throw a great deal of it away. Some of it I kept, but not much."

He organized his own traveling party, composed of native Christians and Mohammedans, but despite extreme caution was often in great danger. He preached everywhere that he was allowed, and tells the usual story of dark skinned barbarians who came to kill him, but listened to his sermon and were converted. He thinks France will build a railroad across the great desert to these mines; that gold held the output of California and Australia will be discovered; that civilized men from all lands will hasten there, and thus will central Africa be civilized.

He next crossed the east mountains to the coast of Abyssinia and was received with great honors. His expedition up the Nile and over the Ararat was an expensive affair, but he got there about five years ago, camped on the plateau and climbed the two peaks. Between them is a valley and from each side of it rise the peaks—one 16,000 and the other nearly 18,000 feet high. Starting in March they found the snowdrifts impassable and waited another month. Then they climbed to within sight of a narrow plateau almost on the summit, and on that plateau they saw the ark.

"The bow and stern," says the archdeacon, "were clearly in view, but the center was buried in snow and one end of it had fallen off and decayed. It stood more than 100 feet high and was over 300 yards long. The wood was peculiar, dark reddish in color, almost iron colored in fact, and seemed very thick. I think the wood has preserved the wood. I am very positive that we saw the real ark, though it is over 4,000 years old."

Though within rifle shot they could not reach it, the slope from the "bench" on which it rested, being a glare of ice and snow, and they could not remain till the midsummer thaw. Many educated gentlemen, including preachers, have called upon Archdeacon Nouri and found him a most fascinating talker. He speaks ten languages with considerable fluency, having also a smattering of the local dialects of various places. He is by birth a Syrian of the old Chaldean stock, and is a man of great wealth. His credentials are a study in themselves. His commission for Persia and India is signed by all the Greek bishops of those countries to the number of eighty.

According to a Philadelphia paper, one of the odd and at the same time pathetic sights often to be seen in Fairmount park on pleasant afternoons is a tall and handsome woman dressed in mourning and leading a pretty little pony by a black silk ribbon attached to its bridle. Speaking of her action in so doing one of the park guards said: "That lady has had a sad history. She is the widow of a man who died west Philadelphia man, who died leaving her with a handsome income and three children. The pony was the little one's most proudly cherished possession, and they spent much time riding on it in the park. A year ago they were all stricken with a fatal illness which carried them off in a few weeks, and their mother was utterly overcome with grief. She has kept the pony for the sake of the memory of her dead little ones, and often brings it out for exercise in the park."

The Dream Came True.

A boy at Knoxville, Tenn., dreamed that would amount a pistol it was so. He discharged and killed his little brother. The following morning at the breakfast table he related his dream, and after he got through eating he picked up a pistol to see if it was loaded, when it was discharged and struck his young brother in the head, killing him instantly.

SERVANTS OF INDIA.

The "kull" does odd jobs around the house and grounds.

The "chowkidar" or private postman carries cards and letters.

The "chowkidar" is a night watchman, who cannot be hired to open a door in the daytime.

The "dudhi" is the milkman, who always brings the cows and goats to the house to milk them.

The "gari-mah" or coachman looks after the carriages and drivers. If necessary he will help the "syce."

The "consarni" or headman, an indispensable individual, supervises the whole army of servants. His position is the same as that of a chief or chief steward.

The "khidmutgar" is a personal servant who also waits on the table and will help to look after the older children. Some "khidmutgars" are excellent waiters and can lay a table very tastefully.

The "bihishti" is a native carrier who supplies the bathrooms and waters the roads and gardens. He also sweeps out the rooms every day, but would not help the "pani-wala" for fear of losing his caste.

The "hawarchee" is the cook, who will prepare every meal but cannot be hired to wait on the table. He attends strictly to his cuisine and reigns supreme over the kitchen, which is in a separate building situated some little distance from the house.

The "dhobee" or laundryman washes all the clothes on the banks of a river or any place in the jungle where there is water. He pounds them clean on a rock or slab of stone, and will wash the clothes beautifully clean, even if he has to destroy them and smash every button into oblivion.

The "ayah" or ladies' maid is a servant of great importance. She is as good as a French maid without airs. All children have an "ayah" who will attend to them night and day. They have excellent judgment in the care of children and will even put themselves between the little ones and danger.

The "pani-wala" is a waterman who supplies the kitchen and drinking chattels only. The water is carried in goatskins. At railway stations the "pani-walas" meet the trains, calling out, "Ho, every one that thirsteth, come up to the waters." The sixteenth part of one cent is charged for a drink.

The "saees" or groom looks after the horses and cuts grass in the jungle every day for all the stock. Nearly every night in the year he must keep a good smoking fire in the stables on account of the mosquitoes. He must also keep a net on every horse in some districts, or they would be tormented to death.

The "chaprasi" or the master's body-guard has some strange duties to perform. He attends to his master at dinner parties and carefully watches him in case he gets too excited over his wine. If necessary the "chaprasi" will by some excuse summon his master out of the room and will by main force sometimes take him home.

Chicago enjoys the distinction of being the home of the first colored woman who has ever produced and published a novel. She is but twenty-six years of age and her name is Sarah E. Farro. The book is entitled "True Love."

From a clerk's desk in a French railroad office, where he tried his unpracticed hand at comic sketches for the company's advertisements in local newspapers, the late Alfred Grevin rose to the front rank of Parisian caricaturists.

Taine, the famous French author, is devoted to cats. He likes to sit with one in his lap, and often kneels before a novel in which one of these creatures is lying and talks to it affectionately. He has also composed several sonnets to them.

Alexander Dumas is nearly seventy years of age and has almost entirely given up authorship. All that he does in literary way nowadays is to produce a comedy at long intervals, spending years of patient elaboration on the work. M. Dumas is supposed to be the richest author in France.

A DEADLY POISON

Laffin, the Athlete, Dwells at Length Upon the Evils of Cigarette Smoking.

Physical Culture Declared a Panacea For Ills That the Flesh is Heir To.

What It May Do For Boys and Girls and Also For Grown Folks.

REGARD the habit of cigarette smoking as the curse of our young men. Its practice has filled our insane asylums, demoralized our institutions of learning and generally weakened the physical caliber of our youth more than all the other open vices put together. The death rate since the introduction of the cigarette is greater than ever was known before, and I exaggerate but a trifle in declaring that if the celebrated Tobacco Trust were to furnish coffins for all the dead who have or will succumb to the infamous habit it would bankrupt the whole concern.

The speaker was Professor J. M. Laffin, who has been called the champion athlete of the world, and who, as may be inferred from the foregoing remarks, holds decided views upon a subject that is entitled to respectful consideration. For years he has devoted himself to the study of the physical needs of the humanity of the nineteenth century, and it requires but a glance at his magnificent muscular development to see that in his person he is the embodiment of the laws of health and strength. In Vienna, Austria, in 1879, among a great number of contestants he was awarded the first prize for perfection in figure and physique. Only a correct estimate can be formed of his superb proportions by imagining a man who stands 6 ft. 9 in. in height, measures 42 1/2 inches around the chest, 17 inches around the biceps and 14 1/2 inches around the forearm. The muscles everywhere stand out like whipcords and can crack nuts upon their own with a hammer. What he is a cultivated gentleman who speaks many of the Continental languages with facility, and who in his own person illustrates the study and philosophy of observation that make his opinions valuable.

"Yes," he continued in his energetic manner, "while we are sending missionaries to Africa we are neglecting our young men at home. Many of them have acquired a habit that has become a social evil as distinct in its character as that of drunkenness. They depend upon their cigarette for a stimulant and resort to it with even more regularity than the drunkard takes his cocktail. Look upon the streets and you find it in the mouths of boys eight and ten years of age. Look in your colleges and you see a large proportion of the students wearing eyeglasses—a thing unknown two or three generations ago. Out of eighty young fellows who attempted to pass an examination at West Point only five were found physically capable of admission. Sixty out of the eighty were confirmed cigarette smokers.

"One of the noblest young men in New York, enjoying wealth, position and the full promise of a splendid career, not long ago went to ride in Central park. During his gallop he smoked upward of sixty cigarettes and afterward at the social dinner he smoked more. As he turned to say goodnight to his friends he staggered and fell in convulsions. The next night, and for twelve hours afterward the doctors worked over him to restore the lost vitality. The heart had surrendered to the nicotine and only a strong constitution enabled him to pull through, but he walks the streets today a wreck of his former self, a tremulous, half-dead, worn out young man."

"But, professor, how are you going to arrest this evil?"

"I would combine the forces of moral sentiment and the law. Already there is a statute that a boy under sixteen shall not be permitted to buy a cigarette, though it is constantly violated. I am myself organizing, wherever influence can reach, what might be called an anti-cigarette league, and with other agencies at work we may in time effect a reform. I would have public indignation so worked up on this point that every man who smokes a cigarette will say to the dealer in cigarettes, 'I will stop trading with you if you continue to sell this poison.' Poison! yes, that is no name for it. Think for a moment! There are five ingredients in every cigarette, each one of which is calculated to destroy human life.

"First, there is the nicotine or the oil of tobacco; next, the oil in the imported paper, which is nearly as destructive; third, the arsenic introduced to make the paper burn white and add a peculiar flavor; fourth, the saltpetre put in the tobacco to prevent it from molding, and finally, the opium that is sprayed on the tobacco to give it the insidious influence which it possesses over the brain. Can you wonder that the animal life of a young man is killed with such a disease? In the cigar or pipe we have but one poison—nicotine, but it is not inhaled. In the cigarette we have the vicious combination I have described, which the young smoker thinks should be cleverly drawn into his lungs to be a little later on poured out through nose and eyes and sometimes through ears."

"What is the effect? You see it in the nervousness, the hysteria, the insanity and utter uselessness of these young men in the practical affairs of life, and it comes, as the habit continues to grow as it has done during the last fifteen or twenty years, we shall cease to have a nation of men. In the next century the only men who will have any strength will be the foreigners. The natural American will be a thing of the past. We are almost there. Even some medical men of the present day who are addicted to the habit will tell you they have to stop smoking cigarettes in order to control their nerves sufficiently long to perform an operation.

"And what is the offspring of these inveterate cigarette smokers when they marry?" Oliver Wendell Holmes has strikingly said that 'Each of us is only the footing up of a double column of figures that goes back to the first pair,' and observation daily teaches us that children inherit from their parents not only their features but their intellectual and moral natures. Even the acquired habits of life are thus transmitted, and although the identical vice may not appear, there is still a morbid organization, a tendency to evil, so that what was the simple practice of the parent becomes an overpowering impulse in the child. I have seen children secretly smoking cigarettes at four and five years of age and young cigarette smokers of seventeen and twenty resorting to liquor because of an appetite. Your modern dandy is a cigarette smoker, and you never knew one to grow up to be a perfect man. A regiment of women, such as lived in the days of ancient Rome, would whip an army of them.

"There is no question that nicotine is one of the most virulent of the vegetable poisons, and although it has been introduced into the materia medica as a remedial agent, it produces such a prostration and relaxation of the whole system and such a frightful, deadly sickness that few practitioners enter upon its use except in the most desperate cases. Not long ago a child was suffering from a slight catarrh of affection, when a neighboring nurse happened in and advised the mother to give it an emetic of tobacco. A decoction was accordingly made and administered, but when a regular physician was called in the little one was in the agonies of death.

"The irritation which nicotine produces in the delicate and sensitive membrane lining the nasal passage is but a preliminary step to the graver evils of catarrh. Go to the homes of the Cubans and you find that the majority of them have voices that are unusual. Observe the stained fingers that have held the cigarette and ask yourself what must be the influence of an insidious poison inhaled into the lungs and brought in contact with the mucous membrane of the throat and nose when it can thus permeate the system. Do you wonder so many of our young men are afflicted with disease?"

"This is a subject in which the fathers and mothers of the country are vitally interested, and it is to them that we must look for the influences that will arrest the curse. They must begin in childhood, and by establishing a certain code of physical morals that may be easily laid down by an intelligent parent make physical culture a part of youthful education. The American boy ought to be a discoverer, an explorer of himself. His arms, legs, back and chest should be his continent. A hard biceps may not be a symptom of a weak brain, but the pleasure of being strong lies in the fact that others are strong around us, furnishing us companionship and competition, which are the fuel of life. Dr. Winslow used to say he never knew a man who had been the strongest man he had known to have been the strongest man in his college. A certain upper class man in college, who was a hopeless consumptive. The first time he weighed 300 pounds and the last pulled the stroke out in the great race between Yale and Harvard.

"But this physical culture should begin in childhood. Early impressions are very enduring and can make useful habits as well as evil ones a sort of second nature. In order to forestall the chief danger of indoor life the child should be taught early to seek fresh air, and he should know who he does so. One of the first out of door lessons for both sexes ought to be that of swimming, inasmuch as it not only promotes bodily vigor, but imparts confidence perhaps to some hour of peril. If it is near the water, let the children be taught to get in and out of a capsize boat, so that they may know what to do in an emergency. Teach them the nature of their own bodies, the functions of the different organs and the effect of evil habits in disturbing these functions. Make them temptation proof by inspiring them with an abhorrence of drunkenness and poison slavery of every kind. Insure them as to the constituent parts of ardent spirits and of the deadly cigarette, and point to the frightful examples all around them of men who have succumbed to both.

"A friend of mine used to take a little morning to the police courts in order to show the difference between cause and effect, and (though) he was a generous liver and maintained the old-fashioned sideboard in his dining room, those boys are today among the most temperate and exemplary men in New York. Frederick the Great ascribed his abhorrence of tobacco to the choking of the Wines of the Waterhouse clubroom, where the loon companions of his portrait used to indulge from 5 until 12 at night. It is not necessary to suffocate a child with nicotine fumes, but it can do no harm to take him once in a while to a smoker's den, where he can inhale the presidential air. A fit of nausea will thereafter make the plate about as palatable to him as a dose of castor oil.

"As you may infer, proper physical training begun early is my panacea for half the ills of humanity. Encourage nature. Boys are innately hardy. They have an unaffected indifference to wind and weather, and take delight in braving the extremes of temperature. Thus children can be made weather proof to an almost unlimited degree, and weatherproof people are almost always sickness proof. Girls who have learned to brave the dangers of northwest prairie storms can laugh at the rigors of the ice storm, and a child rough it, barefooted and bareheaded. Let him run the gantlet of skinned elbows and bruised heels while climbing trees or making a short cut over the fence, and an occasional rough and tumble fight will perhaps make him understand the reason for preserving the peace. Begin early and maintain the habit of exercise through life, and dying a natural death will no longer be one of the lost arts."

"A man should be physically developed before and not during the rush of life's work, for he will burn the candle at both ends if he tasks himself with vigorous physical exercise while obeying the demands of his business or profession. Proper physical training is nothing more than the proper pursuit of bodily health. It may be overdone by attempting to work at high pressure, but if all men and women took consistent and healthy exercise there would be little need for medical Men, and we could throw physic to the dogs. Cold water, sleep, giving tired nature time to exercise her grand renovating power, and plain, nutritious food; these, in addition to the physical culture of which I have spoken, constitute an infallible receipt for perfect health. It is also a good rule to get up from a meal with a good appetite. Overload the wagon and the wheels will creak."

GORDON-GORDON.

A Wealthy American Diplomat.

Since Minister Grubb returned to his New Jersey home American affairs in Madrid have been in charge of Harrie R. Newberry, who is far better known to Spanish dignitaries generally than any American minister for many years. He died, he did most of the work of a minister during the incumbency of General Grubb, who was unfamiliar with the duties of his office and the language of the country.

Mr. Newberry is a son of the late Congressman John S. Newberry, of Michigan, and is thirty-five years old. His father left him a fortune of about $1,000,000, his mother got at least twice as much, his brother Truman is worth at least $1,500,000—in short, the whole Newberry family is very rich. Harrie R. married Miss Hattie Dudgeon, daughter of a wealthy miller of Kalamazoo, and he and his wife became leaders in society as soon as he entered the diplomatic service.

He was in early life a noted amateur athlete, is a six-footer, broad shouldered and vigorous, which counts for a good deal in diplomacy, as the principal business of American officials abroad is to make a good appearance. He has been in Spain long enough to be familiar with its language and literature, is looked upon by Spaniards as virtually the minister, and he and his accomplished wife are at the head of American society in Madrid.

A Substitute for Tanbark.

A company has been formed in northern Mexico for the collection of the casahuate root, and 950,000 pounds have been shipped to Liverpool since the last of January as a substitute for tanbark in tanning hides. The company has three plants in the field, including about ninety employees, and the new industry is said to be very profitable.

Holding pillows in her teeth while she drew on pillow slips caused a chambermaid in a New York hotel to lose all her lower teeth. She had to change several beds a day, and this performance for a period of eleven years loosened her lower teeth that they dropped out.

A CHANGE FOR THE BETTER.

Capitalists have not been going into
many new enterprises this summer.
There has been a marked aversion to speculation, owing to a lack of matured
inducements, and there was a disposition to defer operations until the harvests more fully reveal what is in store
for the country during the coming year.
This feeling has not been confined to this country but has been equally general across the Atlantic. In short, on all the world's financial markets, there has been this disposition to postponement,
in the feeling that the situation, though not without many hopeful features, was scarcely ripe for large operations. The last few days of the past week, however, have witnessed a change for the better.Referring to this improved condition of affairs, Henry Clews, the New York banker, says: It is no light cause of assurance that the silver question seems to have fallen into the control of the conservative sentiment of the country. The vote of the house of representatives, controlled as it was almost entirely by political considerations, was plain evidence that neither party dared to commit itself to unrestricted silver coinage;
and behind this fact lies the stronger protection that each of the presidential candidates is absolutely committed against the free coinage heresies, which makes any further concessions to the silver faction in the highest degree unlikely for the next five years. In view of this prospect, it seems unnecessary
and unwise that some of the banks should raise any objection to paying out gold certificates to depositors desiring to export that metal. If gold is due to Europe, it must go, and no contrivance of that sort could prevent it. The banks may have the right to refuse payment in gold certificates, but they cannot refuse to pay in greenbacks, which are a claim for gold that the government surely would not hesitate to honor. There is such a thing as conservatism without wisdom, and this attitude of a few banks is a sample of it. At present, we have not reached the point at which our stock of gold is in actual danger, and it can serve no good purpose to exhibit such premature fears.

NO DAMAGE TO BUSINESS.

There is a very widespread impression
among the people that the presidential year damages business. Just what is the cause of this very general impression it is difficult to decide, because there is really nothing apparent which leads to such a conclusion. It is evidently one of those impressions which have become established through long and constant reiteration, without any one taking the trouble to dispute them. People have heard the statement made so frequently that they have accepted it as true.This general belief has, however, at last been disputed by an array of statistics that are convincing. In the North American Review for August, there is an article by F. B. Thurber, who points out that in such an age of evolution and change it is very hard to keep track of
and judge correctly of cause and effect,
and, in considering the influence of presidential elections upon business, we are very apt to overlook many other conditions which either directly or indirectly contribute to results. If we turn to statistics we do not find much comfort. The figures of the New York clearing house probably furnish as good
an idea of the state of business throughout the United States as any. All the business activities of the country are focalized here, and "Wall street" is a barometer for trade and commerce, as well as finance.Statistics show that in 1872, a presidential year, the exchanges were three billions of dollars more than in 1871, and only a billion less than the succeeding year. In 1876, however, they were three billions less than in 1875, and one billion less than in 1877, but in 1880 they were thirteen billions more than in 1879,
but eleven billions less than in 1881,
when we had a "boom" year, owing to the good crops in this country and poor ones abroad. Whatever incubus a presidential election might have been upon business, that year it was borne like a feather upon the crest of a tidal wave.The volume of exchanges steadily declined from 1881 to 1885, but in the presidential year of 1884 the exchanges were nine billions more than in 1885, from which point there was a substantial re-covery again during 1886 and 1887, but in 1888 they declined again four millions.
The summing up of these figures leads to the opinion expressed in the opening
lines of this article, that while a presidential election has some influence upon some kinds of business, there are other influences far more controlling in their nature.

THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

Lord Salisbury still retains the British premiership, although the elections have shown that his party does not command
the confidence of the people. Some of the Tory papers are even urging him
not to resign until defeated in parliament on a direct vote of want of confidence, the position being taken that the opposition is composed of a disunited force of Liberals, Parnellites, anti-Parnellites and Laborites, that the Liberals alone have not a majority and cannot depend upon the support of the other factions.It is hardly possible, however, that any one of these factions would refuse to join with the Gladstonians in passing a vote of want of confidence in the Salisbury cabinet and try to keep the Unionists in power. The anti-Parnellites, under Justin McCarthy's leadership, may be regarded as certain to support Mr. Gladstone in such a motion, and if the Parnellites and the Laborites should vote with the Tories, he would still have a majority of sixteen, sufficient to compel the resignation of the government. The fact, however, that the tenure of the new administration would be dependent upon the Nationalist contingent would not guarantee a long hold upon office.The Irish home rule question must be the first and important work of the new parliament to suit them, and they will also demand a full measure of home
rule, which may not receive the support of some of the Liberals, because it is a well known fact that several members were not elected on that issue and are not very favorably inclined to grant as much as the Irish members want. In that event, Mr. Gladstone will be in a perilous position, because without the support of either of these elements he would be in a minority. Parliament will meet on August 4, and then the real strength of the two sides will be made clear.From present indications, Deputy Attorney General Childs will show up in the Republican state convention on Wednesday with the largest following for the attorney generalship. Mr. Childs has made an excellent record and richly deserves the promotion which he seeks.
There is no doubt that the Republican candidate for attorney general will have a hard fight at the polls, as it seems likely that John L. Macdonald, the People's nominee, will be indorsed by the Democrats.According to the Iron Trade Circular's supplement of Jan. 16, puddlers' wages
were reduced in the north of England iron trade as follows: In July, 1890, from $2.15 to $2.07; in September, to $1.95; in May, 1891, to $1.80, and in September
last to $1.82. The lowest price for pudding in this country is two and a half times this rate.The Greenway government has been returned to power in Manitoba, but by a greatly reduced majority. The prejudice caused by the fight over the separate school question is responsible for the government's retention in power, that issue having to a great extent obscured
the serious charges of corruption made against the cabinet.President Loucks, of the National Farmers' Alliance, says he feels confident that the People's party will carry enough states to prevent the election of either Cleveland or Harrison by the people, thus throwing it into congress.
Mr. Loucks will be a sadly disappointed man on the morning after the election.The postoffice department has been a model for the conduct of public business under this administration. Nothing in the way of suggestion from any service in the world has been neglected. The postoffice service is fully abreast of the requirements of the age and is being improved every month.Ramsey county has elected a McGill delegation to the state convention, and Le Sueur sends an Ives delegation. It will thus be seen that every county is not going to Nelson, but at the same time the Alexandria statesman now has a lead that can hardly be overcome.The Red Wing Republican boldly challenges the free traders in its vicinity
to name a single article, affected by the McKinley bill, which costs more now or
a year after the bill passed than it did before. So far there have been no responses.The Minnesota State Agricultural society is making extensive preparations for the coming state fair and intends that it shall be the most successful fair ever held in Minnesota.The free iron ore bill will not pass the present congress. It would endanger Democratic success in Alabama and Tennessee.The Troy will call and return your AMUSEMENTS.

Final Appearance.
The final appearance of the Calhoun Opera company, which was a benefit for Manager Kirtland Calhoun drew a large audience. "Boccaccio" was performed in an excellent manner, better than at any time previous. The company will remain in Duluth this week and next Monday will go on the road.

Prinrose and West.

Prinrose and West's minstrels, who probably deserve to be called the best
on the road, will be at the Temple next Friday and Saturday evenings. Their attractions this year are entirely new,
and the jokes too. The performance is everywhere highly spoken of.

Anoka for d'Autremont.

The Anoka county Democratic convention was held on Saturday. Delegates to the state convention were chosen as follows: E. Hammons, John Coleman, Dr. A. G. Aldrich, T. M. Ryan,
G. Herring, John B. Honle and John Cleary. Delegates were then chosen for the congressional convention as follows:
L. G. Browning, W. A. Greenwald, G.
A. McCauley, Thomas Coleman, W. E.
Cundro and James Frost. A resolution was introduced instructing them for d'Autremont for congressman, but it was laid on the table. They were instructed for anyone but the favor him and also Wilson for governor.

Struck by Lightning.

Lightning struck a barn belonging to Frank Dahlgren, 224 East Eighth street,
last evening during the storm, and killed
a team of horses and a cow. No damage was done to the barn other than to rip up some of the shingles and split one or two pieces of studding. The team was valued at $100, and the loss falls hard on Mr. Dahlgren.

BORROWED TOO MUCH.

Argentina Gallantly Fighting Her Way to Financial Freedom.The Argentine Republic has for some years had what might be called a "tough time." A decade or so ago English capitalists, for no apparent reason, almost trod on one another's toes in a wild rush
to secure Argentine investments. Naturally, when men wish to lend they find no lack of borrowers, and the citizens of Argentina soon had cash galore, which they spent in promoting all sorts of costly and visionary schemes. Pay day and the crash came together, and when the republic reached bankruptcy it also reached common sense. The nation started in to settle its obligations and resolved thereafter to do business on a business basis.The total revenue for 1891 amounted to only $19,200,000 gold, as compared with $29,900,000 gold for the preceding year. The first quarter of 1892 showed a marked improvement, and for that period the revenues were $7,070,000
gold, against $4,850,000 for the corresponding period of 1891. This is an increase of $2,200,000 gold, and everything indicates that the receipts of the current year will be up to this standard. The total receipts for fifteen months, from Jan. 1, 1891, to March 31, 1892, amounted to $41,900,000 gold, or $155,150,000
currency, while all expenses during the same period amounted to $44,400,000 gold, or $162,700,000 currency.The returns of the commerce of the republic for 1891 and the first quarter of 1892 are cheering. In 1891 the imports were valued at $70,400,000 gold and the exports at $104,300,000 gold, and for the first quarter of 1892 the imports
were $15,500,000 gold and the exports $29,900,000 gold, making a total for the first quarter of exports $138,100,000
and imports $92,200,000, or a trade balance of $46,000,000 gold.Arrangements have lately been made to ship a number of horses to India for the use of the British army, and it is stated that owing to the admirable qualities possessed by these animals it is expected that within a very short time
the Argentine horse will rank as one of the most valuable products of that country.
In fact it can be asserted that the people of the little republic, having got into financial difficulties, are showing that they know how to get out of them
as well.

AN INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE.

A. L. Van Osdel Would Like to Be
Governor of South Dakota.The politics of a state just out of territorial infancy is always more or less lurid, as so many of the pioneers are on hand to claim their reward. South Dakota is certainly no exception, and Mr. A. L. Van Osdel, whom the independents recently nominated for governor, has come up through great tribulation.He went to the far west in boy-hood, and was a hunter and trapper
in Dakota. A. L. VAN OSDEL.
long before the territory was organized.
In 1863 he located on a farm near Yankton, where he still resides, and where he has accumulated a modest fortune of about $20,000. He has served many terms in the legislature, having been prominent at various times in both houses, and is now a member of the state board of agriculture. In 1889 the leading politicians of his party at Yankton opposed him bitterly, but he won the fight and was again elected to the legislature as a Republican. Soon after he withdrew from the party and became an independent.

East India Weather Signs.

Weather warnings in India are very quaintly expressed. In Jodhpore the inhabitants declare that when rain is coming the chameleons change color,
snakes climb a tree, the sparrow sings,
the north wind blows, the fish swim on the water surface. If at sunrise there are stripes of red light in shape of fish,
or if sunset red rays diverge from the west, "trouble shall have foam"—i. e., much rain will fall. When the northeast wind blows in August, the east wind in September and the sea wind in October, the crop is twenty annas (i. e., satisfactory) in November. If there are many clouds and flashes of lightning on July 18, "clean your granary and only keep enough grain for feed and plow," as the year will be good; but if the wind blows strong on July 25 "fame-
line will prevail and man will eat man."

June Frosts in England.

The sharp and sudden frosts of the middle of June in England made a distinct impression upon the midsummer landscapes. Bright October colors are introduced among the early summer foliage. Acres of bracken look as if scorched by fire. On Leith hill, Ram-more, the Holmwood and most of the Surrey and Kentish commons the effect is the same, while a good deal of the young fern has assumed a rich autumn tint. Many of the beeches bear one bough or more of golden leaf, an occasional sunset glow has been added to the branches of the oaks and the contrast to the cool midsummer green is by no means unpleasant. It is a touch of autumn's beauty, with no hint of coming winter.

Commerce of Uruguay.

The imports of Uruguay for the first quarter of the current year were valued
at $1,796,936 and the exports at $8,398, 392. As compared with the same quarter of 1891 the imports show an increase of $230,064, while the exports were practically without change.

Island's Cold Summer.

Jueland is suffering from a bitterly cold and late summer. Both the northern and eastern shores are still completely hemmed in by ice, so that the Danish mail steamer cannot make her usual summer trips around the island.

CLASSES COMPETE.

Grand Contests Between All Turner Societies of the State Yesterday Afternoon.

Gymnastic Exercises by Ladies' and Men's Classes at Turner Hall Saturday Evening.

Single Contests in Progress Today at the Beach—Awarding of Prizes Tonight.

The Turners have indeed been favored for every day since the great Turn Fest opened the weather has been delightful. Last night there was quite a heavy storm but it did not interfere in the least with the exercises. A large number of visitors arrived Saturday evening to spend Sunday and it can safely be said that the Turn Verein is entertaining 1000 guests, a decidedly heavy undertaking but one which it is carrying out in a manner creditable to itself and which is receiving the commendation of everyone.

Today will wind up the great festivities. At 8 o'clock the prizes will be awarded at Turner hall and a grand ball will follow.

GYMNASTIC EXHIBIT.

Saturday Evening's Exercises at Turner Hall.

A large audience gathered in Turner hall Saturday evening and a very creditable gymnastic exhibition was given. The exercises were opened by an address of welcome by President T. W. Hugo, of the council, who was introduced by P. S. Anke. Mr. Hugo delivered one of his best of hand talks, decidedly humorous and witty. One of his best points was that the council has under consideration the revoking of the Gas and Water company's franchise and will award to A. Fitzer & Co. the contract to pump water through the mains.

The gymnastic exercises followed. The horizontal bar work by about a dozen of the state turners, was a remarkably clever exhibition. The club swinging by the St. Anthony Ladies' Turn Verein brought the lion's share of applause, and deserved every bit that it received. The most difficult movements were executed with precision and in perfect union. The solo club swinging by Miss Sophia Maeder, of this society, would have done credit to a professional. The West Side St. Paul ladies' Turn Verein also gave a fine exhibition of club swinging, who were marched by the little girls of the Duluth Turn Verein, carrying lights of varied colors, was a very pretty feature. The classic groups presented by the Duluth Turn Verein were especially fine, and brought strong applause.

YESTERDAY'S EXERCISES.

Grand Class Contests at O-at-ka Beach Yesterday Afternoon.

There was a great crowd at O-at-ka beach yesterday afternoon and every boat which went down was packed with people. A number of scows, the steamer Barker and a number of small boats were thrust into service and carried passengers. The Minnesota Point Street railway will probably declare a dividend or put in an electric system from the profits of yesterday's business for every car was crowded to suffocation, even the top being covered.

At the grounds everybody was happy and although there was an abundance of liquid refreshments there was not a disorderly in the crowd. The dancing floor was crowded all the time and the man with the cane game got rich.

The athletic exercises attracted the greatest interest, however. The ground was sandy and no records could be broken, but some excellent work was done. It was class day, and the different turning societies competed for the honor of being the best in the state. The hop, step and jump, parallel bar work, throwing the shot, horse and buck exercise, wand drill and other exercises were gone through with. The wand drill by all the active turners was a grand sight. The "wands," as they are called, are in reality bars of iron weighing at least ten pounds, and the exercise is not so easy as it appears to be. The club swinging by all the ladies' classes was an unusually pretty sight, over 100 young ladies in sailor costumes taking part.

In the evening the mental turning exercises, as they are termed, were held at Turner hall. These consist of addresses, declamations, readings and essays. The program was a good one and an excellent literary entertainment was given.

TODAY'S CONTESTS.

The single turning contests have been in progress today at O-at-ka beach. These are the most interesting of the Turnfest, each individual doing his utmost to win. Adolph Stomitz, of Minneapolis, champion of the state turners does not want to do any hard work. Henry Dworschak, of Duluth, is expected to carry off some honors and with Stomitz out of the contests may carry off first prize. These contests will continue through the afternoon.

This evening at 8 o'clock all of the turning societies will assemble in Turner hall and the prizes will be awarded. After this a grand ball will be given formally winding up the twentieth state Turnfest.

HIS HEAD TAKEN OFF.

Man Found Dead in the Omaha Yards Yesterday Morning.

At 4:20 o'clock yesterday morning as some of the early employees in the Omaha yards were arriving they discovered the body of a man lying between the rails with his head completely severed and lying just outside the rails. He had a ticket to West Superior in one hand and in his pocket was a bunch of keys of about 24 years old and was plainly dressed. The hat which was found near the body was given to him by some person around the freight house as he, had lost his.

From the position of the remains which had evidently turned over once after receiving the injury and from a close inspection of the rails it is about likely impossible for him to have met his death by any but a wheel or wheels passing toward Lake avenue. There has been no positive identification although everyone who claims to have seen him before says that it was at West Superior. One man says he has frequently seen him playing a violin, another that he saw him in one of the warehouses where he was acting as check clerk.

A number of people have viewed the body today and two people are positive it is that of Prof. Richardson, a violin player and teacher, formerly of Secor, Mich. One of the parties says that Richardson tried to commit suicide there by placing himself under a train which was about to start. He was pulled out just in time to save him and then said he was tired of living.

SUPERIOR DOINGS.

North Dakota Elevators to Be Built in the Near Future.

O. O. Haugerud, of Grafton, N. D. L. Borge of Crookston, and J. L. Steenerson of Climax, Minn., the construction committee of the Northwestern Farmers' Protective Elevator company, are in the city to let the contract for the elevator to be erected in Superior.

The Younghougheny & Lehigh Coal company has commenced receiving coal at the Northern Pacific docks at the East End.

The Freeman mill is turning out 1,200 barrels a day.

Clarence Snyder, president of the board of control, was in the city yesterday, and inspected the city and county jails. Mr. Snyder was not at all pleased with the city lockup, saying it was poorly arranged, and had poor light and ventilation.

The barge Sagamore, consort of the big Pathfinder, was launched Saturday at the barge works.

A warrant was issued this afternoon for the arrest of Frank Sanders and John Welch, charging them with stealing a span of gray horses, valued at $300, and the property of Julius Kayne.

TO ENCOURAGE INDUSTRIES.

Duluth Industrial Association to Be Organized.

As a result of the joint meeting at the chamber of commerce rooms Saturday afternoon of committees from the Jobbers' union, real estate exchange and chamber of commerce the organization of the Duluth Industrial association is to be perfected as soon as possible. The object of this association will be to encourage the location of manufacturing plants, wholesale houses, and other institutions which it may be desirable for the city to acquire.

The plan is to have a capital stock of $500,000 which shall be used in taking stock in the various institutions which shall apply for assistance, but no bonuses are to be given. The stock will be made payable in installments and about 20 or 25 per cent will be collected each year, thus giving at least $100,000 to be invested yearly. It is believed that after the first year or so the dividends which the stock will earn will make the association a very desirable institution in which to invest.

Those present at the meeting were C. E. Lovett, T. W. Hoopes, G. A. Leland, E. W. Woodbridge, R. A. Taussig and G. W. Buck, of the real estate exchange; Maj. Baldwin, John Pantan, W. Van Brunt and E. R. Brace, of the chamber of commerce, and A. B. Chapin, H. H. Hanford and Secretary Buchanan, of the jobbers' union. The committee appointed to prepare a constitution and by laws was Maj. Baldwin, C. E. Lovett, G. A. Leland, D. E. Woodbridge and H. H. Hanford.

Democratic County Convention.

The Democratic county committee met Saturday evening at the Tilden club headquarters in the Fergusson block and Aug. 1 was determined upon as the date for holding the county convention. Delegates to the state convention at Minneapolis, Aug. 3, and the congressional convention at Brainerd on Aug. 9 will be chosen. Under the basis of representation decided upon there will be sixty-seven delegates in the convention. The congressional situation was formally discussed and it was the decided opinion of everyone of the committee that the nomination of a Duluth man should be urged.

A LIVELY WEDDING.

Knives and Revolvers Played Quite a Prominent Part at a Polish Marriage.

The Bride Shot in the Side and Trampled Upon by the Fighters.

The Dispute Was Which of the Wedding Gifts Was the Most Valuable.

MAHONEY CITY, Pa., July 25.—John Lipski, a young Poleander, was married at 2 o'clock yesterday morning to Miss Mary Kolzovitch. Among the guests were Michael Felinsky and John and Peter Kolzovitch, brothers of the bride. All drank freely and soon a dispute arose between two of the men as to which of the wedding gifts was the most valuable. They came to blows and Lipski, who was passing through the room with his bride, stepped forward to part the men.

Then the row became general and knives and revolvers were used. One of the shots struck the bride in the side, and she fell to the floor where she was trampled upon by the fighters. The neighbors summoned the police, who surrounded the house and arrested all who had not in the meantime fled. Mrs. Lipski and her two brothers were seriously wounded. Lipski was stabbed in many places, but none of his wounds are considered serious. Many others were cut but were carried home by their friends before the arrival of the police. Twenty-seven of the participants were arrested, several of whom bore ugly cuts.

A VIGOROUS CRUSADE.

Efforts to Drive Pinkerton Men From Summer Resorts.

NEW YORK, July 25.—The Herald says: A vigorous crusade against Pinkerton men, the initiative of which has been taken by members of the Waiters' union, has just been started in this city. The waiters claim that Pinkerton men are employed at several near by summer resorts, notably at Manhattan Beach and Gem Island, and that this is a clear violation of the anti-Pinkerton law recently passed by the legislature of the state, and it therefore behooves all organized workmen to insist upon a rigid enforcement of the law.

According to the waiters Pinkerton men not only act as policemen at these summer resorts, but also play the part of waiters and thus deprive many union waiters of an honest livelihood. As a remedy for this state of things an appeal to Governor Flower to enforce the anti-Pinkerton law and a consistent boycott of all summer resorts at which Pinkerton men are employed are proposed.

A VOLLEY OF STONES.

Strikers Attack Police at St. Louis but are Scattered.

ST. LOUIS, July 25.—In consequence of a notice from the proprietors of the St. Louis Smelting works to their employees that the company would not be responsible for any sickness or accident to employees, as a result of their dangerous occupation, the workmen, about eighty in number, went on strike Saturday. The proprietors feared an assault on the works and invited police protection. Yesterday afternoon Capt. Keeble with fifteen mounted policemen, went to Cheltenham, where the works are located and ordered the strikers to disperse. The police were met with a volley of stones and sticks. Finally Capt. Keeble ordered the police to charge the strikers.

What was done and after the police wielded their clubs with vigor for five minutes the crowd scattered in all directions. A force of police was left at the works last night but no trouble occurred.

SHOT BY HIS WIFE.

A St. Louis Man Killed in a Scuffle With His Wife.

ST. LOUIS, July 25.—Mrs. Ida Sadler, living at No. 3404 La Salle street, shot and instantly killed her husband, Marcus, at noon yesterday. Sadler had been drinking, and returning home after an absence of three days. He had some words with his wife.

On removing his coat his wife saw a photograph of a woman in his pocket. She demanded to know who the woman was. The woman, Sadler refused to give it to her, and his wife seized a revolver and threatened to kill him. Sadler attempted to get the revolver from his wife, and in the scuffle the weapon was discharged. The ball entered Sadler's breast near his heart, killing him almost instantly. Mrs. Sadler claims the shooting was accidental.

TO DEPOSE M'GUIRE.

Movement to Defeat the Secretary of the Carpenters' Brotherhood.

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—It is stated in labor circles that when the national convention of the Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners meets in St. Louis on August 1, an attempt will be made to depose P. J. McGuire, secretary of that organization, and also vice president of the American Federation of Labor. A resolution was adopted by local union 395 recently, charging that the disasters which had befallen the order were due to mismanagement of McGuire's office. The district council has unanimously endorsed the resolution and it will be formally presented to the national convention of the brotherhood in St. Louis by a delegate from this city. In the event of McGuire's re-election, the convention will be asked to remove the secretary's office from Philadelphia.

McGuire has become unpopular with the trade because, since his incumbency in the office at this place, the cause of the carpenters has not prospered. McGuire ordered the carpenters' strike in the spring of 1891, for eight hours and increased wages, and the strike proved to be a failure, disaster falling upon all participants in the movement. As the result the membership decreased to a few hundred.

STEALS BY CONDUCTORS.

A New System Adopted on the Missouri Pacific Trains.

KANSAS CITY, July 25.—Within ten days every passenger train running over the Missouri Pacific system will carry a collector and he will discharge the functions of the conductor, among them that of attending to the revenue of the road. Owing to rumors of steals which have prevailed for months and the recent culmination of events, the officials of the line in question have decided to adopt most heroic measures and put collectors on their trains. Since the discovery of the system of stealing by the joint work of the passenger agents and the conductors, the local ticket sales on the Santa Fe, Missouri Pacific, Rock Island and other roads have doubled.

The passenger agents who were caught conveying passengers to the implicated conductors have not yet been discharged, but as soon as the detectives get all of their evidence together the axe will fall. The other roads have not decided whether to adopt the Missouri Pacific's plan and put collectors or hire an entire new force of conductors and passenger agents.

FIGHT BETWEEN RAILROADS.

Exciting Struggle Over a Strip of Land in Missouri.

ST. CHARLES, Mo., July 25.—The situation caused by the seizure by the Washburn railroad of a strip of road between the St. Charles car shops and the Missouri river, and claimed by the Missouri, Kansas & Eastern road, is interesting and exciting. The seizure was made during Saturday night.

After the Washburn had torn up and rebuilt about 200 feet of the track the Missouri, Kansas & Eastern engine ran down the track and penned in the Washburn force. The opposition forces have been standing guard ever since. Both engines have been under a full head of steam for thirty-six hours and each side has been waiting to see what the other will do.

An application will be made to the courts this morning to decide the ownership of the track in dispute. The strip of road bed is small, but it is a great one-way for the Missouri, Kansas & Eastern road to get through St. Charles on its way into St. Louis.

A PROTEST FROM DAKOTA.

Col. Morton, of Fargo, Opposes the Anti-Option Bill.

FARGO, N. D., July 25.—Following is a copy of a telegram sent yesterday by Col. Charles Morton, of this city, to Senator White, of Louisiana:

"As one of the largest wheat growers in the Northwest, without an interest direct or indirect in any board of trade, I protest individually, and in the name of the wheat growers of North Dakota, against the passage of that most infamous measure, the anti-option bill. I wire you as our own senators are reported as voting with Washburn and the National Milling association. I cannot be kinder to secure delay sure. Congress will not wantonly destroy our agricultural interests. Intelligent investigation will convince any fairly-disposed mind that the proposed legislation is destructive to the farmer and landowner."

THEIR BOAT CAPSIZED.

Sad Drowning Accident at Detroit Yesterday.

DETROIT, Mich., July 25.—Miss Carrie Roberts, a prominent young artist of this city, was out boating on the river yesterday afternoon with Alfred Wells, when they got in the way of a passing boat and were thrown into the water by their boat capsizing. Before aid could reach them they both sank.

The bodies have not yet been recovered. Hundreds of people on shore witnessed the accident, but were unable to render assistance. Miss Roberts was well known and had gained a reputation locally as a fine artist.

A Double Tragedy.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 25.—At 10 o'clock last night Sam Winesberg was murdered and his wife fatally wounded by Mike Moylan and John Moylan. The tragedy occurred at the residence of the Moylan family, about four miles from this city, and was not known till midnight. The murderers are under arrest, but details are lacking except that the two were shot.

A Thrilling Experience.

Tom Martin and wife and C. B. Nichols and Earl Crawford were out sailing last night and were caught in the storm and on the lake. They had quite a thrilling experience and arrived on shore thoroughly drenched but safe and sound.

"The Best Is Good Enough."

The man who said "The best is good enough for me" may have been an egoist, but he had the merit of frankness at least. The motto of the Burlington route is: "Only the best is good enough for our patrons," and acting on that motto it has the best track, the best grades, the best coaches, sleepers and dining cars, the best connections, the best time, and reaches all the best cities in the West. Its employees are required to be courteous and accommodating, and the management endeavors to arrange all the matters of the train service so that the passenger shall feel he is receiving the best of attention, and that he is in the hands of the best railroad corporation.

The constantly increasing business done by this line, and the popularity it has already acquired in the great Northwest, show its motto to be a taking one. For maps, time tables, etc., call on your local ticket agent, or address W. J. C. Kenyon, Gen. Pass. Agent, St. Paul, Minn.

The Feeding of Infants.

The fact that about fifteen infants to every hundred born die the first year is significant and lamentable. "I am decidedly of the opinion," says the well-known authority, J. H. Hanford, M. D., "that the general introduction of lactated food would materially diminish this death rate."

A NARROW ESCAPE.

The Engineer of a Train Almost Lynched by a Colored Mob in Chicago.

His Train Had Run Into a Crowd and Injured Fifteen, Two Fatally.

Police Rushed to His Rescue, and He Was Taken to the Station.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Fifteen hundred colored people were congregated in the Grand Central depot about 10 o'clock this morning, awaiting the departure of a picnic train on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The train when backed into the depot was not stopped in time and knocking down the protecting post crashed upon the platform and into the dense crowd.

Immediately after the crash, Ike Rivers, a negro policeman, who was at the depot to accompany the picnicers, jumped upon the engine and dragged Engineer Williams from his seat to the platform. A crowd of colored men surged around the pair and were about to take summary vengeance on the engineer, when a dozen officers came to the aid of Rivers.

A crowd of police was formed around Williams, who was marched through the angry crowd from the station to the Harrison street station. A crowd of fully 500 colored people followed the engineer and his protectors to the station, abusing him as he walked along. The accident was due to failure of the air brakes to work.

Only one person was killed, Mrs. Dinah Carey of 352 1/2 Archer avenue, who died on the way to the county hospital. Henry Young, of 1209 State street, was severely injured internally and will probably die. About fifteen others were injured but not seriously.

PROSTRATED BY HEAT.

Fifteen Cases, Thirteen Fatal, Reported in Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., July 25.—Fifteen cases of heat prostration have been reported as a result of the hottest day of the year in this city. At 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon standard thermometers registered 102° in the shade, while the mercury in the weather bureau office at the top of a ten-story building rose to 98°.

The heat has been frightful, unaccompanied by the slightest cooling breezes. Among the cases of prostration reported three will prove fatal: John Hughes, aged 74; Annie Carson, aged 10, and William Bell, aged 54.

The Hot Wave.

ST. LOUIS, July 25.—The thermometer at the signal office at 10 o'clock this morning registered 90 degrees. A slight breeze gave some relief, but there is no immediate prospect of cooler weather in the next twenty-four hours.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 25.—Weather

pleasant, clear; southerly breeze; thermometer 80 in shade.

BOSTON, July 25.—The weather here

this morning is cloudy and very warm, thermometer 85.

TROY, N. Y., July 25.—The atmosphere

is oppressively humid, with thermometer 85 in the shade.

AUBURN, N. Y., July 25.—Weather

partly cloudy; thermometer 88.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., July 25.—Weather

partly cloudy; thermometer at 11 o'clock registers 85.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., July 25.—Very warm and muggy. General appearance of an electrical storm near at hand.

Torrid Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 25.—Deaths from the excessive heat bid fair to be more numerous today than yesterday. During the first half hour of business in the corner's office this morning nearly a dozen deaths were reported. Several of these were of deaths that occurred yesterday, but there were three that occurred this morning. The local signal service officials will give no promise of immediate change for the better in the temperature.

Not a Breath of Air.

BUFFALO, N. Y., July 25.—Yesterday was the hottest day of the season in this city so far. The temperature was 84 without a breath of air stirring. The heat continues today, the thermometer at 11 o'clock this morning registering 80 with every probability of going much higher.

Ninety in the Shade.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., July 25.—Yesterday was the hottest day of the season in this vicinity, the thermometer ranging for several hours from 90 to 92 in the shade. It is only a trifle cooler today, the thermometer at 11 o'clock indicating 86 degrees.

Ninety-Three in Ohio.

CONSUMERS, O., July 25.—This is the hottest day of the season. At 7 o'clock this morning the thermometer registered 93 in the shade and at noon had reached 97.

Fifteen Cases of Sunstroke.

CINCINNATI, O., July 25.—The signal service office figures show that the hot weather will continue until today. Nine cases of sunstroke were reported yesterday, of which two were fatal and four are in a critical condition. Six cases are reported this morning. The victims were removed to their homes. The thermometer at 10 o'clock registered 91 degrees.

Scorching Hot.

BALTIMORE, July 25.—The temperature today is scorching. At 8 a. m., the thermometer registered 86 and at noon had climbed to 92 with indications favorable to knocking out yesterday's record for the season of 95, before the day is over.

Work Suspended.

OMAHA, July 25.—The weather this morning is very depressing. At 10:50 the thermometer stood 94 in the shade. There is no wind and outside public work has been suspended.

THE DICK SWINDLE

The Romance of a Mortgage Which Has Created Considerable Interest in Frisco.

One Conspirator Dropped Dead When Confronted by His Partners in Crime.

The Woman in the Case Was Married to a British Columbia Lumberman.

The "Dick Swindle" of September, 1890, in San Francisco is cleared up at last. Two of the perpetrators are in jail and the third is dead. William J. Pilcher died in a chair at the office of the chief of police soon after being confronted with his partners in crime, but whether by apoplexy or poison is not yet proved. The whole affair is extremely curious.

Miss Emma L. Dick is a wealthy lady of San Francisco, and when a mortgage on her property for $8,000 was filed in the clerk's office it excited so much surprise

(she having a large surplus then in bank) that her lawyer called on her at once. She had executed no mortgage, and when the attorneys who drew up the instrument were called upon and described the woman who signed it, it was seen at once that she was an impostor. Then the long hunt began. One Ollie Hutchins, known to the police as an adventurer, answered the description and had disappeared.

Superintendent Charles Cody, of the San Francisco house of correction, knew her well and was put on the hunt. Again and again he almost got his hands on her, but she disappeared. At length one W. A. Lewis, a treacherous scoundrel, sent word that he would find her for a reward, and it proved that she was living with him on a homestead in Washington. Mr. Cody went there, but the woman had suspected Lewis and decamped. Mr. Cody was so disgusted with the sneak that he was half minded to let the fugitive escape, but he went on and found her at last on the borders of British Columbia, the wife of an honest lumberman, and as highly respected as any woman in the settlement.

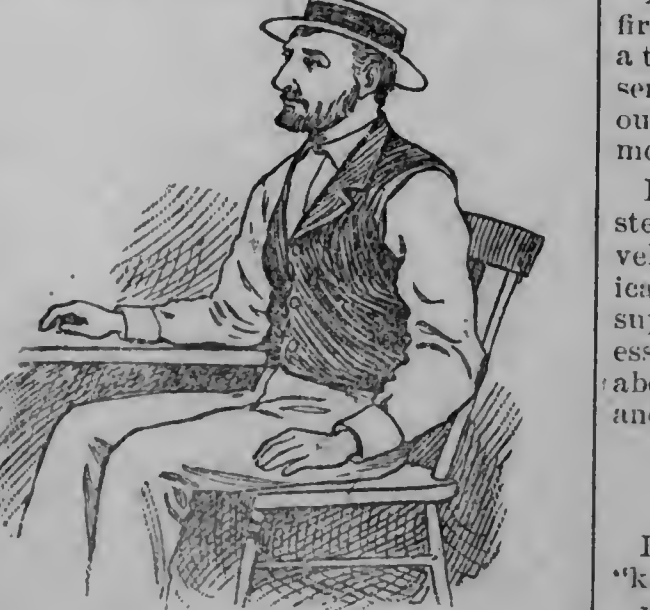

She told the whole story in detail, explaining that she had from the start expected to be arrested. Her accomplices, James E. Wells, real estate agent, and Pilcher were arrested as soon as she was brought to San Francisco. When Pilcher was confronted with her he staggered and turned pale. He asked permission to send a note to his wife, and had just written "My dear wife"—when a paroxysm seized him. His face turned black and froth issued from his lips. In about two minutes he was dead. "Prussic acid" was the first guess of the doctor, but later he thought it might be apoplexy. His wife declared that for many months she had expected him to die any day.

Wells, the other forger, stood it out that he did not know the woman, but the evidence against him was overwhelming. She says they assumed her transaction was legitimate, and that she knew no better till they divided the spoil. On her threat they gave her $1,500 and shared the rest among them. The oddest feature of the case is that she had told her husband all about it, that he and she agreed that she should take her punishment and then they would live together, and that the police believe her story.

Religious and Heathen Rites Combined. An interesting gypsy burial took place recently at the Catholic cemetery in Wisconsin, near Berlin. The son of the gypsy chief was carried to the grave accompanied by members of the race from far and wide. A band of music led the procession, followed by gypsies playing the fiddle and clashing cymbals. The splendid metal coffin was carried in a first class hearse, on each side of which the cousins and uncles of the deceased rode on horseback, their bridles and saddles being covered with crapes. Close behind the coffin rode the six oldest members of the clan beating tambourines while they muttered prayers. Then came a troop of gypsies men, women and children in carriages, on horseback or on foot, and in their picturesque costumes. The procession was closed by the parents of the deceased, accompanied by four "mourning women," who raised a fearful howling. The sight attracted thousands of spectators. The burial was accomplished with the usual Catholic rites, but afterward the gypsies offered up a dog as a "sacrifice to the moon" in an open field near by.

He Claims Strange Powers. Dr. Eliza Richardson, of Hampstead, N. H., has scored a brilliant success. He found a man hanging in the woods, and did it "by the occult eye," without leaving his own house. He tells a straight story, but the people are suspicious of such knowledge, and the doctor has had to give a very circumstantial account of how he did it.

It was on this wise: Jonathan Glass, farmer, of Chester, N. H., left his house as usual on the 23d of June and was never again seen alive. After a long and fruitless search they consulted Dr. Richardson, clairvoyant, who lives on a farm about ten minutes' walk from the Hampstead depot. He described a certain place in a swamp

ELIZA RICHARDSON. northwest of the Glass farm, and "clairvoyantly saw" Mr. Glass hanging in a tree there. The place was found and the man and all the surroundings as described. Then the people suspected that the dead man had been murdered, but it was conclusively proved that Dr. Richardson could not have known anything about it.

Several years ago he discovered another lost man who had died of exposure, and this is his explanation: "It is just as you follow with your eye a man you see going anywhere. The people gave me a description of the man when he left home, then I fixed my mind on him and followed him right along. I wasn't in a trance. I just naturally see things that way sometimes."

The doctor is eighty-two years old and is still a "powerful healing medium." Many rheumatic and otherwise crippled people visit him and insist that they receive great benefit.

HERE IS EVIDENCE.

Mr. Biederman Has a Few Words to Say:

Mr. Fred Biederman, employed by W. T. Baly of West Duluth, says: For three years I suffered with pains in my back, mental depression and general weakness. I felt tired most of the time, and had dizzy spells. I tried various remedies, but failed to get any permanent relief. Finally, after reading different testimonials in the various papers, I concluded to consult Dr. Speer & Co., of West Superior. He explained my difficulty all once and placed me under treatment; his remedies have had the desired effect, my disagreeable symptoms have rapidly disappeared and I am well pleased with the result. I should be pleased to give further information to anyone interested. And can be found on First street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth avenues east, West Duluth.

His Name Was All Right.

A young fellow six feet tall and weighing 200 pounds not long ago applied to a Detroit merchant for a position in his store.

"What's your name?" inquired the merchant.

"Little Dickey Robinson," replied the young man promptly.

"What?" exclaimed the merchant in astonishment as he surveyed his proportions.

"Little Dickey Robinson," was the reply, this time several tones louder.

"It made the merchant half angry. "What in thunder does a great big fellow like you mean by giving such a name as that?" he asked indignantly. "Haven't you got loose from your mother's apron strings yet?"

The young fellow's temper was admirable, and he was after a job, besides.

"I give such a name as that, sir," he said, "because that is my name, and if you've got a man in this house that thinks he can lick me or dare to make fun of that name, trot him out."

The merchant began to smooth him down and asked for an explanation.

"It's this way," he said quite good naturedly: "my mother's maiden name was Little, my father's name was Robinson and his mother's maiden name was Dickey. They wanted me to have the family names, and so I'm Little Dickey Robinson."

The explanation was eminently satisfactory: so was the young man, and he's going to work soon.—Detroit Free Press.

HERE IS EVIDENCE.

Mr. Biederman Has a Few Words to Say:

Mr. Fred Biederman, employed by W. T. Baly of West Duluth, says: For three years I suffered with pains in my back, mental depression and general weakness. I felt tired most of the time, and had dizzy spells. I tried various remedies, but failed to get any permanent relief. Finally, after reading different testimonials in the various papers, I concluded to consult Dr. Speer & Co., of West Superior. He explained my difficulty all once and placed me under treatment; his remedies have had the desired effect, my disagreeable symptoms have rapidly disappeared and I am well pleased with the result. I should be pleased to give further information to anyone interested. And can be found on First street, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth avenues east, West Duluth.

IT RAN SMOOTHLY.

The Republican County Convention Moved This Afternoon Like a Well Oiled Machine.

Capt. W. H. Smallwood Was Elected Temporary Chairman Without a Shadow of Opposition.

Present County Officers to be Nominated—Kendall Men to Have County Committee.

The Republican county convention opened at the pavilion this afternoon, and there was a fair crowd in attendance, although the building was not filled by any means. The spectators who were present would, however, have filled the city hall chamber four or five times over. There was not much excitement, everybody seeming to be convinced that the old officers had the machine fixed, because the caucus went their way Saturday evening without a struggle. There was nevertheless plenty of button-holing by the officers as well as aspirants.

The pavilion made an excellent convention hall, being cool and pleasant and in striking contrast to the hot, stuffy places where they are usually held. Manager Strang was on hand with a great pitcher of lemonade for the reporters and made himself popular all around.

The Kendall element was strongly represented and was prepared to see the program carried out as agreed, the county officers to be renominated and the Kendall men to be given the county committee. Sam. Phillips, in spite of the late congressional defeat, was on hand fitting around as fairlike as ever. "Zeke" Kendall was on hand also, as well as John McKinley, F. B. Daugherty, Lon Merritt, C. F. Johnson, Will Sargent, Capt. Sellwood, and all the old faces always seen at county conventions.

John Owens, of Tower, called the convention to order at 2:45 o'clock, and read the call. H. C. Kendall nominated Capt. Smallwood for temporary chairman, and he was elected without opposition. Capt. Smallwood came forward and said:

"Gentlemen: I thank you for the distinguished honor conferred on me of presiding over this, the largest Republican convention I am told, that has ever assembled in St. Louis county, the greatest Republican county in the state." Capt. Smallwood said that the convention had met under favorable auspices, and proceeded to enlarge on the great accomplishments of the Republican party during the four years President Harrison has been in office.

S. A. Phillips moved that G. Lind, of West Duluth, be made temporary secretary and he was elected without opposition. Senator Daugherty moved the appointment of a committee on credentials; Mr. Kendall of a committee on permanent organization; and Senator Daugherty of a committee on resolutions. Capt. Smallwood named the following: Credentials—B. F. Howard, E. L. Fisher, W. N. Shepard, F. B. Daugherty and Harry Armstrong. Permanent Organization—H. C. Kendall, Lon Merritt, C. C. Tear, V. Dash and M. C. Crummon. Resolutions—O. D. Kinney, John McKinley and S. A. Phillips.

A recess of fifteen minutes was then taken.

The Driving Park.
The meeting to make arrangements for the driving park, which was to have been held this afternoon, did not take place owing to the Republican convention. The meeting will take place tomorrow at 3 p. m. at the chamber of commerce rooms and a full attendance of all interested is desired.

WHEAT WAS UNCHANGED.

The Main Trading Today Was in Cash and Track Wheats.

The wheat market here opened weaker this morning owing to lower cables, but soon firmed up on the strength of bullish crop news. Trading was mainly in cash, and there was an excellent demand for track wheat for milling purposes at 1/2c above Saturday. The afternoon session was dull and the close was mainly unchanged from Saturday, the early advance being lost on free Chicago selling late in the day. Following were the closing prices:

No. 1 hard, cash, 82 1/2c; July, 82 1/2c; September, 81c; December, 80c.
No. 2 northern, cash, 79 1/2c; July, 79 1/2c; September, 78c; December, 76c.
No. 2 northern, cash, 71 1/2c; No. 3, 69c. Rejected, 51c. On track—No. 1 hard, 82 1/2c; No. 1 northern, 80 1/2c.
Receipts—Wheat, 47,361 bus. Shipments—Wheat, 94,538 bus. Cars on track, 258; last year, 9. Car inspection today, 82.

Weekly Statement.
Showing the stock of grain in store at Duluth (by grades) for the week ending Saturday, July 23, 1892:

No. 1 hard wheat	120,492
No. 2 northern wheat	1,615,507
No. 3 northern wheat	421,044
No. 3 spring wheat	13,028
Rejected and condemned wheat	35,025
Special bin wheat	72,323
Total wheat in store	3,901,872

Decrease during the week, 11,173. In store this date last year, 98,907. Decrease for the week last year, 427,709. Stock of fax seed now in store, 75,381. Increase of fax seed during the week, 1,585. Although the above statement shows a decrease of only 41,173 bus in the wheat stocks, there was a real decrease of 250,000 bus, as over 200,000 bus were loaded out on Saturday but have not been yet reported from the elevators.

Outside Markets.
CHICAGO, July 25.—The close: Wheat, July, 78 1/2c; September, 78 1/2c @ 1/4c. Corn, July, 50 1/2c; September, 50c. Oats, July, 31 1/2c; September, 30 1/2c @ 3/4c. Pork, September, $12.25. Lard, September, $7.35. Ribs, September, $7.07 1/2 @ 7/10.

MINNEAPOLIS, July 25.—Wheat: July opened at 77 1/2c, August opened at 76 1/2c and closed at 74 1/2c; September opened at 75c and closed at 73 1/2c; December opened at 77 1/2c and closed at 77 1/2c.

DROPPED DEAD.

Nehemiah Hulet Expires Suddenly from Over-Excitement.

Nehemiah Hulet, for thirty-five years a settler of St. Louis county and county treasurer for three terms, dropped dead at Aldrich station on the Duluth & Iron Range railroad about 11:20 o'clock this morning. He was running to catch the Iron Range train and the exertion brought on heart failure and he fell exhausted, expiring shortly afterward. President Greengrass was on board and held the train but death came so quickly that no aid could be given. Mr. Hulet was 70 years old and was one of the wealthiest men in the county, his possessions being estimated at $750,000, principally real estate. He was a bachelor but has a nephew, Miah Hulet, who is connected with the Sandstone company at Fond du Lac.

Warm In Iowa.
DES MOINES, Ia., July 25.—Weather very warm and sultry, with a slight breeze. The thermometer at 10:30 registers 91 in the shade.

The Reasons Why
The Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway is the favorite:
It is the oldest and was the first in the field.

It's train service is the very best. It is the first to adopt improvements. It's sleepers are palaces on wheels. It runs elegant drawing room sleepers on all night trains.

It's trains are lighted by electricity. It runs luxurious chair cars on day trains. It is the only line using the electric berth lamp.

It's dining car service is unexcelled. It's trains run solid to Milwaukee and Chicago.

It is the best route to St. Louis and the South. It is the best route to Kansas City and the West.

It runs four daily trains to Milwaukee and Chicago. It runs two daily trains to St. Louis and Kansas City.

It is the Government fast mail route. It is popularly styled the "Old Reliable." It furnishes safety, comfort and speed to patrons.

Died of Heart Trouble.
KINGSTON, N. Y., July 25.—Nicholas E. Brohead, treasurer of Ulster county, died early today of heart trouble after an illness of a few days. Mr. Brohead was treasurer of the Ulster county savings institution, lately wrecked and now doing business under the order of the court. It was through his efforts that the crookedness of Ostrander and Trumbour, the bank wreckers, was first discovered.

The Weather.

Ammonia Power for Trains.

A Philadelphia civil engineer, who has recently returned from England, found that a railroad from Manchester to Bolton is being operated by a novel process, called the anhydrous ammonia motor. "His name indicates its nature. Ammonia is the most ever present of all the elements, and its marked affinity for water is its chief and distinguishing characteristic. It is a well known fact that ammonia will make its way to water as surely as an object thrown in the air will be drawn to the earth again by the force of gravity. Now it is simply this characteristic of ammonia that an English scientist, aided by a shrewd inventor, has turned to practical use as a motor power. The affinity of ammonia for water is an energy that these two men have utilized. The scientist made the discovery and the inventor has made a curious little contrivance to fit it. It consists of a small box in which are placed in proper proportion jars of water and of ammonia, so arranged in juxtaposition as to generate and direct the energy of the affinity described, and a power is obtained sufficient to run a train of cars."

The Vine Market in Mexico.
American exporters of fruit trees, cuttings, etc., are finding a new and growing market in Mexico, where great attention is now being given to the cultivation of fruit, and especially to viticulture. One nursery established an agency in Mexico three years ago, and during the first year exported 1,000,000 grape cuttings; the second year there was an increase of 30,000 cuttings, and so far this year 900,000 cuttings have been sold. The American vine is a great improvement upon the native vine, and produces from fifteen to twenty-five bunches of grapes, while the latter yields from three to five bunches.

Had Killed Scores of People.
A few weeks ago there was killed near the village of Mordaha, in the Rajshahi district of India, a panther known as the "Aranil-Lalpur nag enter," which for cunning and bloodthirsty ferocity has seldom had a rival. This animal used generally to lie in wait for his victims near villages, and in a tree, and was eventually killed, after considerable difficulty, by a party of sportsmen beating with a line of eighteen elephants. It took, however, several shots to kill him, and he received eight wounds before succumbing. Some idea may be formed of the taste of human blood exhibited by this feline scourge. In 1890 he killed eight people; during 1891 and 1892 he was credited with the following: 1891—January, 8; February, 2; March, 6; April, 1; May, 7; June, 8; July, 7; August, 14; September, 12; October, 13; November, 10; December, 13. 1892—January, 14; February, 21; March, 8. Of these sixty were children under ten years of age, and forty women.

Adventures of a Washing Machine.
After the Salina county (Kan.) cyclone a grocer missed a washing machine which was standing on the pavement just before the storm. It was picked up the other day on the open prairie, several miles from Salina, in a perfect state of preservation.

BLACK ANARCHY.

The Transplanted Monster Again Has Raised Its Hideous Head in This Country.

Revelations Made as a Result of the Attempted Assassination of Mr. Frick.

Henry Bauer, the Head Center of the Anarchists of Allegheny, Arrested Today.

Mollick, the Baker, Caught at Long Branch—Herr Most to be Arrested.

PITTSBURG, July 26.—Anarchy in the United States is not dead. It is not even sleeping. Its high priests are just as wide awake, just as venomous, their ramifications just as extensive, and perhaps more so than they have ever been. The lesson and warning, afforded to the element by the execution of Spies, Parsons, and their associates, and by the repeated prosecutions and convictions of Herr Johann Most, have failed even to bruise the head of the transplanted monster. Anarchy is as much a thing of life as ever.

So much has been evidenced by the attempt upon the life of Mr. Frick and the subsequent developments which have come to the surface. The police are naturally jubilant over the arrest of Carl Knold, and believe that they are now on the way toward the fountain head of the conspiracy that culminated in the tragedy of Saturday last. For some time past the socialistic and anarchistic elements of Allegheny have been keeping under cover, and the authorities had flattered themselves that their vigilance for the past two years had been rewarded and that that element had lost its desire for mischief.

They have, however, been undecieved for the search of Knold's residence last evening, proved conclusively that the circle or section, or whatever it may be called, had been continuously engaged in active propaganda and intimately associated with other opponents of free government and liberty-loving institutions in different parts of the United States. In the rooms were found many varieties of anarchistic literature and correspondence, indicating that anarchy has abiding places whether in the persons of groups or individuals in New York, Chicago, Denver and other points. A large number of cyphers and cypher communications which were brought to light, indicated the existence of a general and secret mode of communication. One of these cyphers, enclosed in an envelope bearing a New York date, appeared to be based upon the Hebrew alphabet. This appeared to dovetail in with a second that appeared to be simply a combination of unintelligible scrawls, and this by figures on its back was apparently a key to a third, in the form of an ingenious geometrical chart, with numerous curves, each different from the other. A linen railroad map of the United States had upon it three marks intended to indicate air lines between New York and Chicago, and these were marked at intervals with figures which related to cypher words on the back.

So extensive was the supply of anarchistic literature found in the place as to indicate that it must have been used as headquarters for the distribution of this dangerous stuff through the country. There were numerous copies of Freedom, a rabidly anarchistic sheet emanating from Chicago, and edited by Lucy Parsons, the dusky relic of the executed anarchist. The paper was filled with matter bloodthirsty and bombastic, some of the articles calling upon anarchists to pull down the wage question and wage slavery. One copy contained a letter from a local anarchist, telling Mrs. Parsons that her paper as truly advocates and defends the principles of revolutionary communism. The anarchist as did the Alarm, edited by her husband, and pledges for its cordial support all the "Comrades" hereabouts. There was also a bundle of another Chicago anarchistic sheet, named Capitalist, printed on deep red paper and of Herr Most's Freiheit. Some had black and others red borders.

Of various communications in German and written from widely separated places, there was enough to fill a small satchel, while as a finale, the police came across a packet of tickets for a raffle of a fine relief picture of the five martyrs of date, named Engel and Fischer, the proceeds to go "for the benefit of the English agitation" and the raffle to be held next month.

Knold is still held at the central station and an information of some kind will be made against him today in order to insure his detention. The police are in consultation with the law officials of the county this morning on this point. He will probably be charged with conspiracy and with being participes criminis to the shooting. He is very unlikely to secure bail, for his employers, who had no knowledge of his anarchistic temperament, have declined to stand by him, and the combined available capital of the anarchist colony of Allegheny will probably not reach a fifth part of the amount that may be demanded for his appearance.

All the available detectives of the city are engaged in the search for the satchel carried by Berkman when he reached the city, and it is thought it may contain documents or other matter which will afford additional clues to the conspiracy. It is not at the hotel nor at the Union station, and the police think that he may have left it in some saloon. It is of the telescope variety and grayish in color. Berkman is beginning to chafe under the strict regime and frugal fare of the county jail, and he is more ugly and morose in his disposition than ever. He denies that he is acquainted with Knold or stopped at his house, and when confronted with a man who saw him in the place he persisted in his denial with considerable volubility and a dangerous gleam in his eye.

When he was told that under the six informations filed against him by Secretary Lovejoy, charging felonious shooting, felonious cutting of telegraph entry, he could upon conviction be sentenced to thirty-three years' imprisonment, he merely shrugged his shoulders, and then going into the further corner of his cell, puffed viciously at his cigarette.

The report from Mr. Frick's home this morning was that all through the night his condition was entirely satisfactory. He slept most of the night and awoke this morning refreshed and cheerful. No dangerous symptoms have developed, and all danger is believed to be over, unless some unexpected complications arise. His physicians are entirely satisfied with the condition of the patient. Every symptom is carefully watched, and so far, none to be feared have developed, and the danger point is believed to have been passed.

The officials of the company intend to show that they are capable of taking care of the present situation even with Mr. Carnegie away and Mr. Frick disabled. This morning Mr. Lovejoy said: "Mr. Carnegie will not come here until we send for him. He called, asking if his presence was needed and was answered that it was not; that we were in good shape, and that it was not necessary for him to come. Mr. Carnegie was away from a telegraph station and did not learn of the shooting until yesterday."

HENRY BAUER ARRESTED.

The Head Center of the Allegheny Anarchists Placed Under Arrest.

PITTSBURG, July 26.—At 11:30 five police officers arrested in Allegheny Henry Bauer, the head center of the anarchists of this region. At the Central police station at noon, the officials stated to the United Press that they regard the arrest of Bauer as the most important since the shooting. He is a professional agitator, drawing his support from the anarchist groups and devotes his time to the distribution of the revolutionary literature received from Chicago.

He lives at a shoemaker's at 73 Spring Garden street, Allegheny, where he was captured. On Sunday he was seen entering Knold's house with a parcel. He has been identified as a man who was with Berkman in the corridor of the Carnegie company building on Saturday, just before the shooting, and handed Berkman a small package just as he entered the elevator. This package is supposed to be either the revolver or the cartridges, afterwards found in Berkman's pocket. This development has so far been kept secret by the police, although it is admitted that the second man was seen in company with Berkman on the street.

A man named Paul Eckert, who occupied a portion of Knold's house, was for a short time under the suspicion of the police, but his statement being satisfactory he was not detained.

In a search of Bauer's house in Allegheny, the police found a breech loading gun, a bulldog revolver, several packages of cartridges of 22 to 24 caliber, several peculiar looking articles, shaped something like a half flattened marble and with a string in the end, believed to be powerful explosives; numerous books on anarchy, anarchistic literature, papers, pictures of Chicago anarchists. A good sized load has been taken to the central station.

Bauer has admitted that he is the man who distributed the anarchistic literature among the militia and strikers at Homestead. He also admits that he met and talked with Berkman at Knold's house last week. He has also been identified as the man who was looting about the entrance to the Duquesne club house on Sixth avenue last week.

ARBITRATION TRIBUNAL.

Petition to be Presented to the County Court.

PITTSBURG, July 26.—A petition is to be presented to the county court asking it to appoint a tribunal of arbitration to settle the Homestead trouble. The petition has been in circulation since Friday last. It is necessary for the employees of five firms to sign the petition in order that the court may have jurisdiction, and this has been complied with.

The consent of the Carnegie Steel company is, however, necessary before the county court can act in the matter. This step is under a state law passed eight years ago, but which has never been put into operation.

Most to be Arrested.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 26.—The chief of public safety, Murphy, of Allegheny, says that a warrant is out for the arrest of Herr Most for attempt to murder, and he will be arrested this afternoon.

Regiment Ordered Home.

HOMESTEAD, July 26.—The Eighth regiment of the National Guard has been ordered home, and it is probable that the main body of the soldiers will be withdrawn in a few days.

ACTION IS TAKEN.

Capt. Cameron and Engineer Daniels, of the Bruno, Have Their Licenses Taken from Them.

Their Testimony Has Been Forwarded to United States District Attorney Hay.

Government Inspectors Are Watching Excursion Boats—Other Licenses May be Revoked.

Last Friday the local government inspectors, Captains Chalk and Monaghan, resolved themselves into a court of inquiry regarding the late fatal disaster on the ferry N. H. Bruno, by which F. H. Gettling came to his death. The proceedings were characterized with absolute fairness to all parties, but with official exactness. A most searching inquiry was made into the affair, and the testimony was carefully reviewed by the inspectors several times, until yesterday, when the licenses of Captain Cameron and Engineer Daniels were revoked, and they can no longer be employed in their respective capacities on any United States vessel, for some time at least.

The papers in the case together with extracts from the testimony taken before the coroner's jury, were also forwarded to United States District Attorney Hay at St. Paul for presentation to the United States grand jury, and for such further action as he may deem proper. It is understood that a recommendation for leniency accompanied the papers as far as Capt. Cameron is concerned.

THE CHAMBER MEETING.

Committee Appointed to Go to Grand Forks—Other Business.

The board of directors of the chamber of commerce met this morning. The communication inviting the chamber to participate in the reciprocity conference at Grand Forks on Sept. 1 and 2 was read. Col. Graves made a few remarks as to the benefits which may accrue from the conference. The chairman named the following committee to go to Grand Forks: Chairman, Col. Graves; G. G. Hartley, S. A. Thompson, A. T. Crossley, D. G. Cash, Maj. Baldwin, O. F. Stearns, J. D. Ensign, J. G. Hale and E. C. Gridley. The city council and jobbers' union will also be requested to send representatives.

The county fair project was discussed, but the general sentiment was that it could not be made a success and no action was taken.

A. Hirsch, who has taken a great deal of interest in securing a wholesale confectionery establishment which wishes to come here, reported that he had secured a lease of the Hayes block rooms until Aug. 1, 1893. The company which wants to come is a good one and will put three men on the road at once.

As a committee to assist in entertaining the traffic engineers, these were appointed: Chairman, H. B. Moore; J. F. Johnson, W. E. Richardson, D. G. Cash and A. T. Crossley.

MUNICIPAL COURT.

A Good List of Drunks, Fighters and Disorderlies.

Mat Anderson, Dave Smith, John Gonier and John Larson, formed a quartet of very untidy looking drunks who rode up to Sharpy's lookout for a ten days' stay this morning, from the municipal court. E. C. Thurston was charged with keeping his saloon open on Sunday, but on motion of City Attorney Smith the case was dismissed. P. McGraw, a disorderly, and Jas. Ryan, W. Hannis and Jas. O'Brien, three alleged vagrants, are to be tried at 3:30 this afternoon. Jim French was charged with assaulting a man named Gleason, and his case is under advisement as he pleaded guilty, but the court was made aware of some very extenuating circumstances.

The non-union scappers and union scappers, sometimes called plumbers, had another ruction yesterday and Wm. Mullen and Sampson McCormick, non-union scappers, were arrested, the former for assaulting Tim Sheehan, a union scrapper, and the latter for resisting the officer who was trying to arrest Mullen. The case will be heard Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock, as far as it relates to McCormick. The plumbers are fast making a reputation in the municipal court as steady patrons. A Mrs. Ramstad was in the courtroom looking for her husband among the list of drunks, but found he had been relegated to the county jail yesterday.

BRONSON GETS IT.

The Present Observer Will be in Charge of the Forecast Station.

The Duluth weather bureau office is now a full fledged local forecast station, with Observer B. H. Bronson in charge, and Mr. J. W. Johnson, now on detail at Marquette, as the probable assistant. The first maps, under the new regime, were issued today, and Mr. Bronson took the required oath of office before Notary McManus this morning. Some few new and additional instruments may be received. The appointment of Mr. Bronson was made upon the strength of his splendid record as a signal officer, and while it is a great distinction, it also carries with it the very pleasing addition of $1,500 a year to his former salary.

BARGAINS!

FOR THIS WEEK.

We alone are doing the business. Yes, 85 per cent of it, independent of THE HARD WIND FROM THE EAST, which, blowing an 85 mile gait, seems to make it unpleasant sailing for the uninitiated dry goods merchants. LONG LIFE TO THEM, but remember that the bargains advertised by us can never be approached by any one—far less beaten. OUR LOSS IS OUR CUSTOMERS' GAIN, and for the next sixty days our actual cost will be more than the entire business done by some of the blowhards. Our bargains are for the exclusive benefit of our patrons, and we will positively refuse to sell any merchant or their representatives any of the goods advertised. Lack of time has kept us from giving a more complete list of our bargains for this week. Come and see them for yourselves.

OUR REMOVAL SALE—an immense success, first because it is a benefit to our patrons; second, to us, because we want to convert our merchandise into cash, third the cash will be easier moved into our new store than a big stock of goods.

FOR WOMAN'S WORK

Three Great Buildings in Different Cities that Are a Credit to the Age.

They Owe Their Existence to the Energies and Labors of Progressive Women.

An Epoch in Temperance Marked by the Completion of the Chicago Temple.

The completion of the Woman's temple at Chicago marks an epoch in the progress of temperance, of womanhood, of popular taste and united moral enthusiasm—in short, to sum it up in one phrase, the progress of the United States of America. In no other nation could such a noble structure have risen so rapidly and been paid for by women's efforts. It is the property of the Woman's Christian Temperance union, but almost every organization for moral reform did something to aid it, and the result is beyond controversy one of the wonders of the age.

THE CHICAGO TEMPLE.

It stands upon the corner of La Salle and Monroe streets, mingles the French and Gothic in its architecture, is thirteen stories high, and from the graceful array of turrets which form the three storied roof springs the glittering golden spire which lifts, apparently almost to the blue heavens, the figure of an appealing woman. In it are headquarters for the local, state and national organizations, hundreds of business offices which are to be rented, and the great Willard Memorial hall, named in honor of the heroic Frances E.

But any proper description would fill columns. The real subject of interest is the organization which has achieved so great a work, and strangely enough that organization is a child of the famous "Woman's Crusade" of 1874. Two days before Christmas, 1873, Mrs. Eliza J. Thompson, of Hillsboro, O., the daughter of a governor, the wife of a judge and the mother of a clergyman, moved by the drunkenness so prevalent at that season, called a few other ladies to her aid and went forth to hold prayers in the saloons!

This was the beginning of the oft described "crusade," and the force thus generated found a permanent form in the Woman's Christian Temperance union, which built this temple. Mrs. Thompson was an honored guest at the laying of the cornerstone, and doubtless a memorial of her will be prominent in the structure, for this is to be a woman's Westminster abbey. Other noted workers are Lady Henry Somerset, Pundita Ramabai, of India; Miss Sakakibara, of Japan, and of course many American women, including Miss Frances E. Willard.

Indianapolis also rejoices in the possession of a very interesting structure owned and built by women, a small affair, however, compared with the great Chicago temple. It is a woman's clubhouse, and the plan originated in the active brain of Mrs. May Wright Sewell, president of the National Council of Women. It has a frontage of seventy-five feet and a depth of sixty-seven feet, with a front of Indiana corinthian limestone, and in the modern Romanesque style, and is named the Propylaeum. There is a local joke to the effect that rural visitors from that state call it the "Poppylurum," while those from Ohio call it the "Propylurum." Classical scholars, however, call it the Propylaeum, the name being simply the Latinized form of the Greek Propylaeum, meaning "in front of the gates."

Another very interesting building recently completed for women exclusively is the Ursuline convent, at Bedford park, New York city. It is 215 feet long, 45 feet wide and five stories high.

and the plan contemplated the erection of two wings. It is finished interiorly so as to make it a most fitting home for young ladies. The Ursulines are an order of nuns founded some three centuries ago by St. Angela Merici. In 1639 the first school of the order in America was founded in Quebec by Mother Mary of the Incarnation from Bordeaux, France. There are now thirty in the United States, and the title of the new one will be Mount St. Ursula.

MOSE AND THE EGGS.

She Was Sure He Counted Right Because She Heard Him.

Old Mose, who sells eggs and chickens on the streets of Austin for a living, is as honest an old negro as ever lived, but he has got the habit of chatting familiarly with his customers, hence he frequently makes mistakes in counting out the eggs they buy. He carries his wares around in a small cart drawn by a diminutive donkey. He stopped in front of the residence of Mr. Samuel Burton. The old lady herself came out to the gate to make the purchases.

"Have you got any eggs this morning, Uncle Mose?" she asked.

"Yes, indeed I has. Jess got in ten dozen from de kentry."

"Are they fresh?"

"I guantee 'em. I knows dey am fresh."

"I'll take nine dozen. You can just count them into this basket."

"All right, mmm," he counts: "One, two, free, foah, five, six, seven, eight, nine, ten. You kin rely on dem bein fresh. How's your son coming on at school? He mus' be mos' grown."

"Yes, Uncle Mose, he is a clerk in a bank at Galveston."

"Why, how ole am de boy?"

"He is eighteen."

"You don't tote me so. Eighteen and getting a salary already, eighteen, (counting), nineteen, twenty, twenty-one, twenty-two, twenty-three, twenty-four, twenty-five, and how's your gal comin on? She was mos' grewed up de las' time I seed her."

"She is married and living in Dallas."

"Wall, I declar. How the times scoots away! Am you says she has childrins?"

"Why, how ole am de gal? She must be jess about—"

"Thirty-three."

"Am dat so (counting), forty-free, forty-foah, forty-five, forty-six, forty-seven, forty-eight, forty-nine, forty, forty-one, forty-two, forty-free. Hit am singler dat you has sich old childrins. I can't bleeve you has gran childrins. You don't look morte den forty years old, yerself."

"Nonsense, old man; I see you want to flatter me. When a person gets to be fifty-three years old—"

"Fifty-free? I jess dem gwinter bleeve hit, fifty-free, fifty-foah, fifty-five, fifty-six—I want you to pay ten shun when I counts de eggs, so dar'll be no mistake—fifty-nine, sixty, sixty-one, sixty-two, sixty-free, sixty-foah. Whew! Dat am a warn day. Dis am de time ob yeah when I feels I'se gettin ole myself. I ain't long fer dis world. You comes from an ole family. When yore foider died he was seventy years ole."

"Seventy-two."

"Dat's old snah. Seventy-two, seventy-free, seventy-foah, seventy-five, seventy-six, seventy-seven, seventy-eight, seventy-nine—and your mudder? She was one ob de noblest looking ladies I ebber see. You reminds me ob her so much. She libbed to mos' a hundred. I bleeves she was done pass a centurion when she died."

"No, Uncle Mose, she was only ninety-six when she died."

"Den she warn't no chicken when she died. I know dat—ninety-six, ninety-seven, ninety-eight, ninety-nine, one hundred, one, two, free, foah, five, six, seven, eight—dar 108 nice fresh eggs—jess nine dozen, and here am one moah, egg in case I has discounted myself."

Old Mose went on his way rejoicing. A few days afterward Mrs. Burton said to her husband:

"I am afraid we will have to discharge Matilda. I am satisfied she steals the milk and eggs. I am positive about the eggs, for I bought them day before yesterday, and now about half of them are gone. I stood right there and heard Old Mose count them myself, and there were nine dozen."—A. E. Sweet in Texas Siftings.

His Weak Point.

Director of the Republican Forces.

W. J. Campbell, recently chosen chairman of the national Republican committee in place of J. S. Clarkson, is a lawyer, a politician of experience, and has been a member from Chicago in the Illinois senate.

He was born in Philadelphia, Dec. 12, 1850, but went to Chicago when young. He received a college education and entered on the practice of law. At present he is a member of the firm of Campbell & Custer and the attorney of Armour & Co., of the great "dressed beef combine."

Mr. Campbell has served eight years in the state senate, has been a delegate to various national conventions and in 1890 was chosen member for Illinois of the national Republican committee. He is of stalwart frame and capable of long sustained labor.

A Juvenile Plunger.

"What's the matter, my poor boy?" "Bo-ho-o! I jess lost tuppence!" "There, there, don't cry, my little man. See, here is three-pence for you. How did you lose your money?" "I lost it to Tommy Jinks, there, a play-in pitch am tuss"—Judy.

Large Salary For Remembering Names.

The faculty of remembering the names of persons is not possessed by every one. In fact very few people who come into contact daily with thousands are able to recall the names of any considerable number of those whom they meet at long intervals only. A writer says: "I know a man in a great establishment in Chicago who gets $7,000 a year just for remembering names. His business is to speak to every one who comes in by name and to introduce the customer to the clerk of the department sought. If he does not introduce the person to the clerk by name, the clerk is expected to find out the name and communicate it quietly to the gentleman near the door, who bids him or her good-by by name. This always flatters people and they come back again."

Not a Healthful Life.

The life of a potter has a certain artistic interest, but according to the latest statistics it is far from healthful. In fact very few men endure it twenty years. The revolving molds keep a cloud of dust about the workmen which they cannot help inhaling, and in many factories the clay is mixed in damp cellars, which increases the liability to colds. Moreover, the pressers stand while at work and are obliged to stoop a great deal, and the size and weight of the molds make their work laborious and the rapid motion agitates the chest to the injury of their throat and lungs. The sagger makers are liable to overstrain their muscles in placing the heavy saggars in the kiln, and although this is rather the most healthful part of the work, men who stay in it long are liable to break all at once.

How the Blacksnake Climbs.

A blacksnake, measuring perhaps a trifle over six feet, was found clinging to the side of a small tree, around which it could have wrapped itself nearly twice had it wished to do so. Instead of this the snake passed right and left, at short distances catching the folds along its under parts over and behind the slightly projecting roughness of the bark. Finally becoming annoyed at its ill treatment, the snake reached down threateningly at the offending hand, and losing his hold fell to the ground.

Another Royal Golden Wedding.

A third royal golden wedding occurs this year. The Grand Duke and Duchess of Saxe-Weimar keep the fiftieth anniversary of their union on Oct. 8, so their subjects are preparing wedding gifts. In honor of the grand duke and duchess literary tastes, funds are being collected to build a golden wedding museum for the Goethe and Schiller archives and relics preserved at Weimar.

What It Stood For.

"So Mrs. Billbank is going away," said Mr. Cumrox. "I see she sent you her card." "Yes," replied his wife. "It's got P. P. C. on it. I guess that stands for something (telling about why she's going)." "Maybe it does. An judging from a couple of hours I spent in her neighborhood it probably refers to pianos, parrots and children."—Washington Star.

CUT DOWN YOUR SHOE BILL
Attention, Mothers and Fathers! Why not have your Shoes and Kid Gloves as well as those of your Children looking like new continually? Why have them looking worn and rough when you can avoid it? To do this you have only to oil them once a month with Tanner's Oil. Tanner's Oil does not injure but benefits the leather. It is now prepared by us for family uses. It prevents leather getting hard and from cracking, keeps it looking fresh and smooth, makes it soft and pliable and absolutely water-proof. Best of all—Shoes and Gloves kept thusly in good condition will outwear three pair worn ordinarily. One box should last a family of three one year. On ladies' and children's wear you should use it instead of Blacking. Gentlemen can shine their shoes after using it equally as well as before. All we desire is to have you give it a trial. Shoe Dealers, Glovers, and those Dry Goods merchants who sell Kid Gloves should have it on hand to furnish up their stock that has become shopworn. It will give it an absolutely new appearance. Your youngest apprentice can apply it. Price by mail 40 cents. Special price to Dealers.

GOING TO CHICAGO.

The University of Wisconsin Has Lost the Services of Its Noted President.

Dr. Chamberlin Has Accepted the Professorship of Geology in the Chicago University.

Is a Recognized Authority on Geology. More Especially on the Glacial Period.

The announcement that President Chamberlin, of the University of Wisconsin, is to leave that position and become professor of geology in Chicago University has excited great interest among educators and something like dismay in the Wisconsin university. During the five years he has been president the attendance has doubled and the resources have more than doubled, twenty instructors have been added, new fellowships established and many improvements made in the general course of instruction. Thomas Chamberlin was born in Illinois, Sept. 21, 1843. His father was a pioneer preacher of the Methodist Episcopal church and moved to Wisconsin when the son was but three years old. The latter was graduated from Beloit college at the age of twenty-two, was principal of a high school for two years, and then studied science for one year at the University of Michigan. His reputation was so great that at the age of twenty-five he was made professor of natural science in the State Normal school at Whitewater, Wis., and soon after professor of geology in Beloit college.

In 1878 he took charge of the geological survey of Wisconsin, and in 1882 was made chief of the glacial division of the United States geological survey, and still holds that position. His reputation, however, as a geologist rests largely upon the Wisconsin report of 1877-80, for which he wrote twelve papers. The report comprises four large volumes, being exceeded by that of no other state, and its publication at once fixed the position of Professor Chamberlin as an authority on geology. He received the degree of Ph. D. from the Universities of Wisconsin and Michigan, and later that of LL. D. from Beloit, the Columbian university and the University of Michigan.

In 1887 he became president of the University of Wisconsin and his five years there have been a memorable era in the development of that institution. Dr. Chamberlin's work as United States geologist has taken him over a large part of the country and made him a recognized authority as well as a familiar figure among local geologists. On the glacial period especially he probably has no living rival. His removal, if effected, will be a loss indeed to Wisconsin, but Chicago wants the best and is able to pay for it.

His Clock Is Still There.
It is not generally known, writes a correspondent of the London Daily News, that in 1893, when Mr. Gladstone went out of office, he left behind him in the official residence of the prime minister in Downing street a quantity of his goods and papers, such as old pamphlets, government bills and papers of no use whatsoever to any one except the enthusiast who buys up anything that was once in the hands of a great man. Recently these articles have been overhauled, and not infrequently Mr. Gladstone's private secretary, Mr. Lytton, has been down to ferret out a report or other document required by Mr. Gladstone. There is a clock of Mr. Gladstone's there which has never been allowed to run down, and which now keeps accurate time without having been cleaned in the six years that have passed. It is not improbable that this clock may be going when Mr. Gladstone once more steps over the threshold of 10 Downing street.

Candidate Edward Carroll.
The Democrats of the First district of Kansas have nominated Hon. Edward Carroll for congress. He was born in Ireland about fifty-five years ago, was brought to America in childhood and educated in the common schools of New York and the parochial school of the Christian Brothers in Chicago. In 1859 he removed to Kansas, and soon took an active interest in the politics of the new state. He was appointed collector of internal revenue for Kansas by President Johnson, being at the time the youngest man who had ever held that office.

He has served several terms in the Kansas house of representatives, and in 1888 was elected to the senate by an immense majority. Some of Mr. Carroll's speeches in the Kansas legislature have been widely copied and commented on by journals of all parties.

Hate Each Other Still.
The old Franco-German bitterness has been aroused by the scheme of holding international exhibitions in 1900. Berlin having deterred her intended display till that date, the French government suddenly announced its intention to hold an exhibition in 1900, according to its plan of similar festivities every eleven years. The Germans are most wrathful at being forestalled, and the government will probably urge the exhibition taking place earlier.

In Church.
"Mamma," whispered a little boy, who had watched the preacher vigorously pound the pulpit cushion for some time. "Sh!"
"But, mamma, I"—
"Sh! sh! You mustn't talk in church."
"I only wanted to say that if I was that cushion I'd"—
"Sh!"
"I'd be all black and blue by this time," he squeaked.—Texas Sittings.

Traveling Is Expensive.

Stingray Pete (a guide)—You have reached the highest point of the mountain and the view is supposed to be the finest in the world. (After a pause.) I see a $500 bill in your pocketbook, didn't I?

Traveler—Don't mention it, my dear fellow; I didn't intend to give you so much when I started, but I suppose it's all right; you know your own business best. I'm only $498.75 out anyhow.—Life.

The Tables Turned.
Mr. and Mrs. Billiger McSwat were packing their things for a trip to the seaside.

"We must not forget your bathing suit, Lobelia," said Mr. McSwat. "It isn't tucked into any of these slippers, is it?"

"I think not, Billiger."
"If it should be overlooked, though," he said, with crushing sarcasm, "I can carry it in my watch pocket."

"Thank you, dear."
Mrs. McSwat meekly kept on packing. At last the trunks were filled, locked and firmly strapped, and with the valises were sent to the station in an express wagon.

"Now, Lobelia," said Billiger, looking at his watch. "We have just one hour to dress for the journey."
"I have nothing to do, my dear, but to put on my wraps. I am all ready."

"Why didn't you say so?"
With the active assistance of his wife he managed to dress himself on time. They locked the back doors, examined the fastenings of the windows, and as they went through the hall toward the front door Mr. McSwat looked hurriedly about to see if anything had been forgotten.

"Lobelia," he said, pointing to a package about the size of a half bushel basket, "this big bundle hasn't got to go, has it?"

"Why, yes. How provoking! We must have overlooked it in packing."
"What is it?"

"It's my bathing suit," replied Lobelia sweetly. "Put it in your watch pocket, dear, and come along. It is train time."
—Chicago Tribune.

He Stood Eight Feet—
"The strongest poet I ever had to interview," said our fighting editor, "was a big fellow. Why, he stood eight feet!"

"Oh, cut it short," cried the others in a chorus. "Come down a little from that height."

"I am telling you nothing but the truth. He stood 8 feet 6 inches!"
"Now, look here," exclaimed one of the party, "you can't stuff that down our throats, and there's no use trying it."

"If you will be kind enough to wait till I finish you will all acknowledge that I am telling nothing but what is perfectly plausible. The man stood 8 feet 6 inches!"
"Oh, get out!"

"Eight feet 6 inches away from me when he talked," concluded the pugilistic one, with a calm smile, as he walked off amid the groans of his listeners.—Boston Globe.

Followed Instructions.
In laying down rules for the young one has to be very careful or they will be taken too literally. A case of this kind occurred recently with a result that put the parent decidedly out of countenance.

"Johnny," said his mother, "what did you mean by making me call you over and over again, when you heard me the first time?"

"Why, ma," was the staggering reply, "you always told me never to interrupt you."—New York Evening Sun.

It's All the Same in the End.
Mrs. Bingo—Why don't you emulate Mr. Witherby's example? He has sworn off smoking, and his wife says he's saved enough to buy him a new suit.

Bingo—He hasn't got the suit yet, has he?

Mrs. Bingo—I don't know. Why? Bingo—Because I won all his money the other night playing poker.—Closk Review.

The Weather.
 U. S. WEATHER BUREAU, DULUTH, MINN.,
 July 26.—Generally fair weather prevails in all sections this morning, and the wind was considerably warmer than it was yesterday,
 while in the Northwest the temperature has fallen slightly.
 Showers fell in scattered parts of the country,
 the heaviest was at St. Paul, where .78 of an inch fell. In all other sections they were light.
 There seems to be a storm of some energy over the Northwest, but as all reports from that section are missing, little can be told of it at present.
 The highest point reached by the thermometer here yesterday was 80°. Only two places in the Northwest had it warmer, Miles City, Mont., where it was 91°, and Pierre, Dak., 87°. At St.
 Paul it was 88°.

Duluth, July 26.—Forecast till 8 p. m. tomorrow: Generally fair weather; slightly cooler;
 light winds.

 Observer.

THE GRAND FORKS CONVENTION.
 The call issued for the international reciprocity convention, to be held at Grand Forks on September 1 and 2, is published in our telegraphic columns today. By this call Duluth is entitled to be represented in the convention by fifty delegates. All the other leading cities and towns in the Northwest, on both sides of the international boundary line,
 are invited to send representatives, and several prominent gentlemen have indicated their intention of being present.

There are several important questions
 on the program for discussion at this non-political gathering of business men.
 The primary object of the convention is
 to consider measures for the establishment of closer commercial relations between this country and Canada. This is a subject in which Duluth should take a deep interest, because there is no city in the United States that would be more greatly benefited than Duluth by reciprocity between the two countries and the removal of the customs barrier now existing on the imaginary boundary line.
 With free commercial intercourse between the two countries and the construction of a direct railroad line from Duluth to Winnipeg at the entrance to the vast wheat districts of the Canadian Northwest, this city would naturally be the wholesale center for all that vast and rich country, while its wheat and other products would come to this port for shipment Eastward, because a direct line from Winnipeg to Duluth would be many miles shorter than any other road from Winnipeg to Lake Superior. Nor would the benefits be all on our side. The Canadian Northwest would also be greatly benefited, because commercial reciprocity would be the means of settling its fertile prairies to a very large extent, on account of the certainty that the farmers would not be compelled to sell their wheat in the limited market now existing at Winnipeg
 but would be enabled to send it to Duluth, the greatest primary wheat market
 in the world, where they would obtain much better prices than now rule in Winnipeg.

The Grand Forks convention will likewise deal with the important question of lake navigation and the extension of a deep water channel from Duluth to the sea
 by the natural channel, the St. Lawrence, in which improvement concerted action could be taken by both countries. The Herald has on several occasions pointed out that the St. Lawrence river is the natural outlet from the great lakes to the sea, because it is the most direct,
 there being a saving in distance of several hundred miles by that route over the New York canal scheme. Figures were recently given to show that this route can be made available at five times less cost than the Erie canal route. The main obstacle, however, to the utilization of the St. Lawrence route is the fact that the greater portion of it runs through Canadian territory, and consequently its freedom would be endangered in case of hostilities between this country and England. Of course most people believe such a contingency very remote, but as long as there is the slightest chance of such a thing occurring, this route will be unavailable—unless a treaty can be made guaranteeing that it shall be neutral waters; during war, and also placing
 the whole system under the absolute control of an international commission.

This is a question which will demand
 careful consideration at the convention
 and no doubt will cause much discussion. Owing to the discrimination practiced against American vessels going through the Welland canal at present, the St. Lawrence route will find many opponents, but it does seem possible for Canada and the United States to live amicably and utilize jointly and harmoniously the great waterway
 which nature has provided.

A GOOD COMMITTEE.
 The Republican county committee,
 appointed by the chairman of yesterday's convention, is an entirely new body, not a single member of the old committee being on it. This is largely due to the request of the old members that they be not re-appointed, but that other gentlemen be given an opportunity to participate in the honors and hard work attached to the positions.

The new chairman, George W. Buck, has not taken an active part in politics
 during his residence in Duluth, but it is asserted that he can give some of the old time politicians hereabouts a few pointers about the management of a campaign. Mr. Buck has the advantage of being free from all connection with the old factional quarrels which disrupted the Republican party in this county in past years and in which he and the hosts of other Republicans who have become residents of Duluth in recent years have no interest or concern.
 He will thus start out free from all factional entanglements and will be able to do much to secure a more united feeling in the ranks of the party. The other members of the committee are known as fair-minded men of good judgment.

AN OUTRAGE BURIED.
 The machine politicians got a stunning blow at the Republican county convention yesterday. They have been riding roughshod over the rank and file
 of the party in this county until they apparently became possessed of the idea that they could do as they pleased. They have discovered, however, that the party
 still rules and that the politicians
 exercise authority only by the sufferance
 of the people who compose the party.

The convention started off in a manner that suggested a well-oiled machine
 and it probably would have run along quite smoothly but for the outrageous scheme which was sprung to deprive the party of a voice in the selection of its candidates for the legislature
 and for judge of the district court. When G. G. Hartley, as chairman of the committee, presented the names of delegates to the judicial and legislative conventions as well as to the state convention, the majority of the delegates and Republicans present as spectators were dumfounded at the audacity of the "snap game." It was then that Charles A. Towne entered into a vigorous fight on behalf of justice
 and right, and denounced the outrageous scheme which Messrs. Hartley, Kendall, Merritt and others had concocted to deprive the party of voicing its opinions regarding the proper candidates for the legislative and judicial offices.

Mr. Towne made a winning fight too,
 and in securing this desirable result he was aided by W. N. Shepherd, of Tower, and O. D. Kinney, of Ely, who threw their influence against the dastardly attempt to defraud the Republicans of St.
 Louis county of their rights. These gentlemen and the others who voted with them are deserving of the highest praise
 for the excellent fight which they made.
 The result is a hopeful sign for the Republican party in this county, because it indicates that the shady political practices which obtained here in past years will be no longer tolerated. These old-time politicians forget that Duluth is growing and that the young Republicans whose numbers are rapidly increasing every year believe in honest politics. If these men are afraid to go before the party at this time to seek a nomination,
 what do they imagine would have been their fate at the polls in November if nominated by any such outrageous scheme as that which was attempted yesterday?

Small pox is reported at Gretna in Manitoba, close to the international boundary. It was evidently brought to that point by some passenger on the Canadian Pacific from British Columbia, where it is epidemic. Cases of this dread disease are now reported at various points along the whole line of the Canadian Pacific from the Pacific to Winnipeg, and every precaution should be taken to prevent its introduction into this state. Extra precautions should be taken by the health boards at St. Vincent and Neche.

The discoveries made by the authorities at Pittsburg show that the anarchists are still active in this country, and the attempted assassination of Mr.
 Frick was evidently performed under their orders. If the Pittsburg police can discover the authors of this terrible deed and bring them to justice, they will have done a good work for the whole country. This is no land for anarchism, and the people of this country
 will not tolerate its existence.

The stories of the terrible heat in the leading cities to the south, east and west of Duluth, and the many cases of prostration therefrom, make very sad reading. Duluth people have been complaining of the very warm weather during the past week, but it is cool indeed
 in comparison with the scorching hot,
 stifling and muggy atmosphere in other places. We have reason to be thankful for the beautiful, cooling breezes from the lake.

The Iron River fire, which nearly wiped that enterprising little village out of existence, has been followed by an even greater disaster in Bay City, Mich., where the loss by the flames is estimated at $1,000,000. Three hundred people are homeless in the latter place,
 but Bay City is able to take care of them. Eight hundred people are said to be without homes at Iron River, and the people of Duluth should esteem it a privilege to aid them in their distress.

The St. Louis Republican convention fell into line and elected delegates instructed to vote for Knute Nelson for governor. There are some men on the delegation, however, who would hardly have been suspected a few weeks ago of supporting Mr. Nelson, although that fact is no disgrace to the Alexandria statesman.

TURNPIKE PRIZES.
 New Ulm Boys Capture the Most—Duluth Boys Were Tired.
 The great turnpike, one of the best ever held in the state, closed last evening with the awarding of prizes and the grand ball at Turner hall. The hall was crowded with gay young people and the scene was a bright and happy one. It was very warm, but that did not interfere in the least with the general enjoyment.

At midnight the judges had completed their award of prizes. New Ulm carried off more prizes than any other society.
 Minneapolis and St. Paul coming next.
 The Duluth boys were pretty nearly played out by their work in preparing for the turnpike and could not do themselves justice.

The prizes in class turning were awarded as follows: First prize, West
 Minneapolis; second, New Ulm; third,
 Germania of St. Paul; fourth, St.
 Anthony; fifth, West St. Paul; sixth, Winona; seventh, Duluth.
 First grade prizes in all around single turning were awarded as follows: First prize, Wm. E. Kuch; second, Henry Engel, New Ulm; third, Wm. E. Ehr-hardt, West Minneapolis; fourth, Louis
 Wirth, West St. Paul; fifth, Fritz Setzer, New Ulm. Those securing prizes in the second grade were: First prize, Robert Brunt, New Ulm; second, Wm. Miller,
 Germania of St. Paul; third, Jacob
 Buchler, West Minneapolis; fourth, Gust Setzer, West St. Paul; fifth, Carl Heck-rich, West Minneapolis; sixth, Fritz
 Heers, New Ulm; seventh, Eugene
 Schwarz, Winona; eighth, Mark Novis,
 ninth, Carl Ende, West Minneapolis;
 tenth, Emil Wicks, New Ulm.

Prizes in the group exercises were awarded as follows: First group—Climbing rope hand over hand, broad jump and high jump. First prize, Wm.
 Kuch, New Ulm; second, Jacob Marx, Germania of St. Paul; third, Wm. Ehr-hardt, West Minneapolis.

Second group—Broad high jump, hop-
 step and jump, and putting 35-pound shot. First prize, Alfred Krank; second, Herman Gramann, Germania of St. Paul;
 third, Chas. Ende, West Minneapolis.
 Third group—Pole vaulting, raising 112-pound weight, and sprinting over course 656 feet. First prize, Wm. Ehr-hardt, West Minneapolis; second, Herman Gramann, Germania of St. Paul;
 third, Alvin Meyer, Winona.
 The award of prizes in the special exercises was next made, and those securing them were: Fencing—First prize,
 Jacob Buchler, West Minneapolis; second, Richard Hundsman, West St. Paul;
 third, Max Pfum, West Minneapolis.
 Club swinging—First prize, Sam Gloor,
 West St. Paul; second, Jacob Buchler,
 West Minneapolis; third, Wm. Josche, Germania of St. Paul; second, Wm. Ehr-hardt. Swimming—First prize, Henry Schmidt; second, Gust Setzer, West St.
 Paul.

This morning the visiting Turners, who had been unable to have much enjoyment before, were taken to Fond du Lac
 on the steamer Lucille for a day's outing.
 The majority of the visitors will return home this evening.

Bids Called For.
 Bids are invited by the board of public works for improving, paving and grading Third avenue west from Michigan street to Third street. They will be opened Aug. 1, and the work will cost somewhere about $15,000. From Michigan street to Second street the avenue
 is to be paved with cedar blocks and from Second to Third street it is to be macadamized.

ONE MILLION LOSS.

Bay City Visited Yesterday by the Most Disastrous Fire in Its History.

Over Thirty-Six Blocks Were Completely Destroyed and the Losses
 Are Heavy.

Three Hundred Families are Stated
 to be Homeless and in Need of Relief.

BAY CITY, Mich., July 26.—The most disastrous fire that ever visited Bay City broke out at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the lumber piles south of Miller & Turner's mill at the foot of Thirty-
 first street, and raged for five hours almost unchecked. Over thirty-six blocks of the city were completely destroyed, entailing a loss of $1,000,000, leaving 300 families homeless, and it is feared, causing the loss of several lives.
 One woman is known to be dead at this time.

The dead so far as known: Mrs.
 Frank Mason and her two children, burned. She went into her house to get her children and in an incredibly short time the building was in flames. They were not seen to come out. Some of the heaviest losers are E. Reynolds, shoe store; $2000; G. C. Beebe, drugs, $2500;
 Gardner & Laird, furniture and stoves,
 $8000; Stover & Larkin, hardware,
 $12,000; Miller & Turner mill and lumber, $150,000; Miller's lumber yard,
 $25,000; Bryke & Forcia, general store, $15,000; A. B. Gould, hotel and five houses, $87,000.

There were hundreds of losses unobtainable last night which will amount to from $300 to $5000 a piece. The loss to Miller & Turner will probably be $150,000 which is covered by insurance. The common council met yesterday night,
 and took action toward the immediate relief of the 300 homeless families.

Another fire yesterday afternoon
 burned two drill houses at Pitts & Car-nage's mill. Loss, $3000; insured. The entire loss will reach upward of $1,000,000,
 but it is yet impossible to learn the extent to which different parties are insured.

FOR CLOSER RELATIONS.

Reciprocity Convention at Grand Forks in September.

GRAND FORKS, N. D., July 26.—The following is a text for the call for an international reciprocity convention,
 which has just been given to the press
 by the officers and members of the chamber of commerce:

"The time has arrived when the people of the Canadian Northwest and those of the United States contiguous overwhelmingly demand that the ties of commerce
 between Canada and the United States shall be drawn as closely together as the two peoples during the past and present
 have been united by race, religion, literature and laws. In response to the unanimous expression from the representative bodies of the British, American and Northwest provinces a non-political joint conference between Manitoba, Assiniboia, Alberta, Canada, and Montana, South Dakota, North Dakota, Minnesota and the region of the great lakes is hereby called to convene at Grand Forks, N. D., on Thursday and Friday, Sept. 1 and 2 next.

"The subjects to be considered will be the extension of trade relations between the Canadian Northwest and the United States Northwest; navigation on the great lakes, and a deep water channel
 from the head of Lake Superior to the seaboard. Representation is apportioned as follows: Minneapolis and St. Paul are given 100 delegates each, Duluth and West Superior 50 each, and each commercial organization in Grand Forks, Fargo, St. Paul, Watertown,
 Crookston, St. Cloud, Stillwater, Winona,
 Ashland, Sault Ste. Marie, Detroit,
 Cleveland, Buffalo, Toledo, Great Falls,
 Helena, Butte, Winnipeg, Portage La
 Prairie, Brandon and Calgary is accorded 25 delegates.

"Ten delegates are given to each of the twelve smaller towns of Manitoba,
 ten in North Dakota, five in South Dakota and seven in Minnesota. The Canadian Pacific, Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways and the commercial travelers' association of Manitoba, North Dakota and South Dakota
 are given twenty-five delegates each.
 Railroad rates are one fare for the round trip as far east as Buffalo. Tickets will be on sale Aug. 30 and 31."

A BAD MAN SHOT.

He had Killed Four Men and Caused a Woman's Suicide.

NEW ORLEANS, July 26.—A. W. Alexander, a labor agent, was shot and instantly killed by his brother-in-law, A. H.
 Jones, at the door of the latter's residence, No. 16 South Rampart street, at 7 o'clock last evening. He was a gay
 Lothario and beat his wife most cruelly.
 He left her but returned two years ago,
 since which time she has lived a dog's life with him. He frequently threatened to kill her and her family.

Yesterday he attempted to cut her throat. She told her brother. Last evening Alexander showed up at the house and was met by A. H. Jones and,
 making a suspicious move, was shot dead on the doorstep. He was a desperate character, having killed four men
 and caused the suicide of a young woman he had wronged.

 bids were opened, of which the West

 $11,174. Objection was raised to this bid, or rather to the council accepting it,
 on account of Councilman Krefting

 work was accordingly awarded to P. Mc-Donnell for $11,200.00. The next con-

THE SUPERIOR STRIKE.

The Employees of the Steel Plant go Out.
 —Hickey is There.

The disturbance between the steel workers and the West Superior Iron & Steel company took a rather unexpected turn yesterday morning. The men announced publicly that they were out on a strike. A meeting of the Amalgamated lodge was held and the action determined upon in secret session. Vice-President Hickey, of the Western district of the Amalgamated association, is at Superior. In an interview he said:

"The steel workers have worked about as long for this company as they usually do for day wages. They only worked as long as they have to accommodate the company, knowing it was new and working, as all new companies
 do under some difficulties. We presented the Amalgamated scale to Mr. Mattes and he refused finally to have anything to do with it—completely ignored it. We want him now to sign it."

He was also asked how the men would live now that they were out of work and answered: "Oh, they will be provided for by the Amalgamated. I think the Fourth district alone will take care of them. Some of them have money, too.
 There will be no trouble about that."

General Manager Mattes, of the steel plant, says: "The mills will not start again as union mills or under the Amalgamated scale of wages. One point can be made known to the men right here,
 and they may as well take note of it now
 as any time. The men who are discharged were dispensed with for a reason and they will stay discharged. Under no conditions will they again be permitted to work for the steel company.
 If the men who are property holders at
 the steel plant care to be led by a paid
 agitator and a few Pennsylvania men,
 we can stand it as long as they can."

A meeting of the strikers was held last evening, but nothing was learned of its import. The Trades and Labor assembly have passed resolutions sympathizing with the strikers and denouncing
 Manager Mattes for refusing to arbitrate.

The Superior Catholic union will shortly commence the erection of a $20, 000 club house. Sites have been offered by the Land and River Improvement company and by individual parties.

DROWNED BY A DOG

How a Vicious, Fighting Billygoat Met a Violent Death in San Francisco.

He Delighted to Butt Dogs, but He Finally Ran Against the Wrong One.

Marc Antony Grappled Billy and Kept Him in the Water Until He Was Drowned.

A billygoat who loafs about the wharf of a seaport is sure to lose his reputation. There are many bad goats on that part of the San Francisco waterfront near the foot of Hyde street, and the most disreputable one of the lot came to a bad end the other day.

It was his delight to butt dogs, but, like all bruisers he finally ran against the wrong dog, who took him out in the bay and kept him till he was short on wind and long on salt water. The dog is a big St.

MARC ANTONY, the property of Dr. Arthur T. Regensburger, and his name is Marc Antony. The doctor's big dogs indulge in a bath there almost every day, and as they passed along this particular dog would run out and hover around waiting for a good chance to use its head for a battering ram against one of the dogs. This goat seemed to pick out Marc Antony as an especial target, and several fights between dog and goat were interrupted by the dogs' master.

The other day the dogs went down to the beach as usual, and as usual that billygoat was on hand waiting for a chance to mix up with Marc Antony. After a good swim the dogs came out and began chasing each other about on the sands, paying no attention to the goat. Finally one of the dogs chased Marc Antony up toward where the goat was waiting, and as is the fashion of all dogs at play, turned, and, planting its fore feet well forward, waited for the other dog to come up. It was at this opportune moment that the billygoat went into action. Lowering his head the animal charged, bowling the canine over and over.

It was almost a minute before that dog realized just what had happened. Then Marc Antony made a dash for the beach and caught it by the back of the neck. The goat struggled, but the dog continued dragging its foe toward the bay, never offering to let go. Slowly but surely the big St. Bernard moved toward the water. Dr. Regensburger shouted to the dog to drop the goat and then tried to whip the canine into submission. But that dog understood his business. He held on and dragged the struggling billy into the bay and then deliberately kept poking that goat's head under the water until it was drowned. Then the sagacious dog loosed his hold and allowed the body of the dead goat to float away on the waters of the bay.

A ROSE THAT DRIPS BLOOD.

The Strange Romance Connected with a Beautiful Flower.

In the western part of Jefferson county, Fla., there grows a singularly beautiful rose which cannot be propagated in any other section. The bush is of the usual kind, but rather more vigorous, and the leaves are very light, but glossy green. The petals curve slightly inward and are the color of bright arterial blood. The odor is pungent and slightly sickening, fascinating and yet unpleasant in a marked degree. The peculiarity of the rose is that the dew that drops therefrom is a faint, pinkish cast, a marvel seen in no other flower, the baffling wonder of those who have witnessed it.

Probably some peculiarity of that soil causes this localization of growth, but in every part of the world where there is a mysterious object a local legend always grows up to account for it—that of Niobe, for instance, to account for the trickling rock, and that of Lot's wife to account for the rock salt pillars of Usdum. So the "Grant Rose," as it is called, is connected with the following sad story: John Grant and Nellie Lowry were married in 1834 and

ESCAPING THROUGH THE FLOOR. settled on a farm in Jefferson county. One day the Indians, who were then hostile in Florida, killed John on the road from ambush. That night the red savages attacked his cabin. Mrs. Grant heard them coming, and, raising a loose plank from the floor, dropped through to the ground with her baby and crept into the woods, but was overtaken and killed.

Two days afterward a party of hunters found the bodies of mother and babe and buried them. Near by a little pool of blood had collected and had not been absorbed by the soil. A few years later, on the spot where the blood had gathered, a vigorous bush was found bearing the rose that has been described.

Such a romantic and singular story exposed the curiosity of many in the adjacent counties, and repeated efforts were made to secure a growth of the slips in other places, but all failed of success. Only within an area of five miles from the scene of the tragedy, it is said, the rose can be found with its tall and sturdy stock, its pale green leaves, its incurved crimson petals and the pale crimson moisture, or "bloody dew," that drips from it when there is sufficient moisture.

LIGHT AND AIRY.

He Had Enough. He pounded on the carpet till his back was almost broke. He hung up window curtains till it ceased to be a job. He wrestled with the kitchen stove till he was black and blue. He mended all her broken chairs and sat down in the glue. He put her chronos up and tied his arms into a knot. And prayed to be beneath it when he dug her old grassplot. He labored on the woodpile till his back refused the test. He polished up the silver till his spirit longed to rest. He ran her shopping errands, raising blisters on his feet. He tugged home tons of samples with a meekness hard to beat. But when she asked him to select a Mother Hubbard gown, He crawled away one evening and he quietly skipped the town. —Cloak Review.

They had been watching for some time the stowing of freight into the spacious hull of a lake steamer when, rather unexpectedly, operations ceased and the boat pulled out. The lady looked around for a dray pin to hit him with, but there was none, and the river flowed silently on. —Detroit Free Press.

Stolen fruits, it would seem, are not always the sweetest. Little Johnnie happened to find the pantry door open, and, as no one was looking, he helped himself to the first thing he could lay his hands on. When his father came home and heard about it he said: "My boy, did you like the pie you stole?" "No, dad," replied Johnnie, "I heard ma coming, and so I had to gobble it up in a hurry." —New York Evening Sun.

REMARKABLE SUCCESS.

Mr. James Peake, of 120 Banks avenue, West Superior, has been unable to work for four years on account of severe pains in the head, back and side, mental depression and great weakness. I used various patent medicines and consulted different doctors, but they all failed to give me any permanent relief. Having read Mr. Riley's testimonial in the various papers, I tried Dr. Speer & Co. After two weeks' treatment I am surprised at the result. All my pains and nervous troubles have vanished; I sleep well, have no bad taste in my mouth, and arise in the morning refreshed, instead of feeling more tired than when I went to bed. I cannot recommend Dr. Speer too highly for what he has done for me, and will be pleased to give any further information to any one calling upon me.

A FIERCE SAVAGE.

The Giant Wild Man of Africa Who Was Slain by a Lion Hunter.

His Height was Seven Feet and He Had Tremendous Shoulders and Muscles.

A Slap from His Big Right Hand Would Have Killed a Man Instantly.

Late in 1887 a fatal epidemic broke out among the captive lions in all parts of the world. It was very like the epidemic which struck the horses five years later, but nearly all the lions died, and so the price rose 200 or 300 per cent. This excited great activity among the famous lion hunters of Quilmane, East Africa, who usually capture the animals by the covered pit method.

The agent of a great Hamburg animal house penetrated to the main lion range near Lake Nyassa, employed forty-two negroes and had captured one lion and a few inferior beasts when he discovered that some mysterious creature was interfering with his pits. One morning his men found a magnificent male lion dead in a pit. Apparently he had been killed by a sharp pointed stake, and there were huge tracks about, somewhat like those of a gorilla.

"I was satisfied," says the agent in his report, "that no one but a man could make use of such a pole. Indeed the fact of the pole's being hardened by fire was proof sufficient that a man was engaged in the work. He must be a native of course, and he must also be a wild man. After holding a council with three or four of my best men we started out in parties of ten to hunt down the wild man. Each of my men had a cheap English musket and knew how to use it, and the order was to fire at the man at sight. To back up the courage of the natives I offered a reward of ten dollars to whoever should fire the lucky shot. The four parties took different directions. The one I headed went to the north, where there was a long stretch of almost impenetrable thicket, with various paths traversing it in different directions.

"We had turned back and the last man had just fallen in line when I heard a shot and a cry of alarm. The three natives next behind me dodged under my arm and made off down the path, while the others were so upset that it took me three or four minutes to ascertain what had happened. The wild man had been concealed behind a big tree near the path. He leaped out and struck the last man a blow with his club which killed him on the spot, and he was swinging his weapon to hit the second man when the third fired at him. The wild man bounded into the brush and disappeared, but my men were panic stricken.

"When I announced my intention next morning to hunt him the whole gang of blacks broke into lamentations. One young man, however, said, 'I see, master, that if we do not kill this thing he will kill all of our lions and many of us. If we move away he will probably follow. It is our business to kill him at once. I am only a young man, but I will go with you and do my best.'

"I thought that in case we met the wild man face to face he was to fire and then drop to the earth and give me a show. About three miles from camp, and as the path ascended a ridge, my companion halted, pointed at a broad tree on the left and whispered, 'Master, do you see that his house is there among the branches?'

"I could make out a platform of sticks and branches, and now I took the advance. My weapons were a rifle and a revolver. We crept cautiously forward until right under the platform, and after a few seconds both of us made out a black foot and leg hanging down between the poles. The wild man was at home, but the next thing was how to deal with him. I had more fear of his getting away than I had of his hurting us. I finally posted myself to the west, believing he would make for a thicket in that direction as soon as disturbed, and at a signal the young man fired at the nest. The report of his gun was followed by a most unearthly yell, and it was very ringing in my ears when I saw a dark object dropping off the platform to the earth. It was the wild man. The young man stood where he had fired, and before he could realize what was happening the monster was upon him. He was picked up and flung almost at my feet, and as he landed he called to me: 'I am not much hurt, master! Be sure that you kill him, for he is a terribly strong fellow.'

"The man didn't seek safety in flight. On the contrary, he picked up a limb, broke off a part of it for a club and slowly advanced upon us, his eyes flashing, his teeth gritting and his face expressing fury. I had my rifle to my face, and I let him come within ten feet before I fired. He was shot between the eyes, and he fell back so dead that he never moved a finger. When we came to examine him we got frightened. His height was seven feet by the tape line, and he seemed to be all muscle.

"I haven't the least doubt that a slap from his big right hand would have killed any of us stone dead. He had tremendous shoulders, with muscles bunched up in a wonderful way, while his fingers were long and the nails on them almost like claws. Hundreds of natives came to look at the body, but none could remember of having seen the man before. Freed from his interference with our enterprise we had no more trouble, and during the next sixty days we caught and dispatched to the coast eleven as handsome lions as ever reared with indignation at being caged up for the public to gaze upon."

Food of Salt.

Porcupines, which abound in the lumber

woods of Northwestern Pennsylvania, are great pests around the camps. They are passionately fond of salt, and should the four sides of the camp shanty be salted from ground to roof these little animals would eat it down over the very heads of the inmates and not leave a splinter of it to mark where it stood.

The Lawyer Persisted Until the Defendant Crushed Him.

The attorney prosecuting in a breach of promise suit was youthful and fresh and delighted in showing himself off, but he didn't know what a guy he was until it fell on him with a dull and sickening thud. The defendant had taken the stand.

"You say," said the attorney, after several impertinent questions, "that you never asked the plaintiff to be your wife?"

"Never," responded the witness with emphasis.

"But you made love to her?"

"Not to my knowledge."

"Never called her pet names either, I suppose?"

"No, sir."

"Now, as a matter of fact, didn't you call her Lizzie after you had been to see her only three or four times, and always after that, when you knew you should have called her Miss Smith if you had not been seeking to win her young and trusting heart?"

"No, sir, I did not."

The plaintiff pulled the attorney's sleeve, but he paid no attention to her.

"Ah, indeed," very sarcastically, "you never called her Lizzie in your life?"

"I never did, sir."

Again the plaintiff caught at the attorney, but he ignored her.

"Now, once more, sir, ask you directly to state to the court whether you did or did not call this young lady by the endearing name of Lizzie. Remember, sir, you are on your oath," and the attorney reared back in his chair, while the plaintiff made another ineffectual clutch at him.

The defendant smiled slightly.

"I never did," he said firmly.

The attorney sat forward with a sharp crack of the chair legs on the floor.

"I'd like to know why you never did, sir?" he asked with the air of a man who knew he had the fact.

"Because," said the witness as cool as a palm leaf fan could make him in June, "because, that wasn't her name."

Then it was the attorney heeded the plaintiff's wild clutchings and wanted to hit himself in the neck with a law-book, but it was everlastingly too late. —Detroit Free Press.

Hannah's Bad Break.

A conscientious lady of this city had hired a new girl and was posting her in her domestic duties.

"Now, Hannah, when I do not wish to see any one that calls, I expect you to say 'not at home,'" said the model mistress.

"But wouldn't that be a lie, ma'am?" asked Hannah.

"Not at all. It means 'not at home to you,' which is quite different from saying that I am out. Do you understand?"

"Yes, ma'am," said Hannah. "I think I see what you are driving at."

She soon had an opportunity to put her new learning into practice. A lady called whom Hannah's mistress did not wish to see and the girl met her with the very bearing and front of truth, as she said:

"Not at home to you, ma'am."

I think the face of the mistress must have been a study when she overheard the truthful Hannah's prevarication. —Detroit Free Press.

The Dog Was Beaten.

An officious little dog, whose valor exceeded his prudence, but which was the pet of Frank Shultz, of Oxford, Pa., espied a large black snake near his master's house recently. Without waiting for a command the dog rushed at the snake, but the wily serpent was too quick. In a moment the shiny black folds of the snake were about the yelping canine, whose barking grew fainter and fainter as the folds tightened. When Mr. Shultz arrived the dog was dead.

Bolivia's Silver Mines.

The commercial value of the produce of the Bolivian silver mines for 1890 is estimated at $11,020,691. The Huanchaca mine, with a yield of about $1,247,485 is the greatest silver producing mine in Bolivia. Allowing 40 per cent. of this amount for working expenses the Huanchaca mine has realized $2,544,891 to the stockholders in the last year.

The Census of Costa Rica.

A general census of the republic of Costa Rica, recently completed, shows a population of 248,905 souls. San Jose is the most populous province, with 76,718 inhabitants, and Guanacache is the most sparsely settled, with only 20,049 dwellers on its broad acres. The district of Punta Arenas is accredited with 12,167 people, and Port Limon with only 7,484. There has been great development as well as a large increase in population since the Costa Rica railroad was built.

Pickerings From Different Papers!

From Dillinger's Treatise on Economy:

The most expensive of all personal proclivities is to become careless of your personal appearance, it is observing the strictest economy, to avoid the cheap. There never has been anything cheap that either looked right, or refined or gave satisfactory services, when you need, get that which is good and save yourself a world of annoyance and considerable money in the end.

The Chaperone's Journal, Boston:

It has often been said that the shop girls are the best dressed ladies in Boston, and it is true beyond any question of a doubt, and it is all explained in this way, when it is necessary for them to get a gown they get the very best material that is to be had so that it hangs well, fits well, holds its color, etc., and such a dress will look better after a year's wear and two or three "makings over" than the indifferent stuffs that are made only to sell, do when they are new.

Ward McAllister Says in "Modes and Fabrics":

You can always tell the breeding of a lady by her clothes, a refined, excited temperament, is always seconded by genteel ladylike apparel, "Hickley" in the Fashion Monger:

The expense of gowns are in the making, therefore it is observing economy to get the best of material; besides it is the greatest of all attempted impossibilities to make a cheap material into a desirable gown.

OUR MIDSUMMER
SLAUGHTER SALE

Affords exceptional values in all lines of seasonable merchandise, but all past history is overshadowed when it comes to the item of

CHILDREN'S SUITS,

AND THE PICK OF ANY SUIT IN THE STORE.

Bright, new spring and summer styles, goes in the Midsummer Slaughter Sale at $4.50.

We never had a suit sale that contained so much worth with each dollar of investment. We never made such deliberate and general reductions from regular prices. We never saw buyers so well pleased with values received.

IN MEN'S SUITS

Never in our extended business career have we made such Low Prices on this class of goods. Every garment is made in faultless style; the materials are the best, and workmanship beyond the reach of rivalry. All the shades and colorings are new, and there is the widest variety of designs from which to make selections.

$12.79 Is the regular retail price of an excellent suit in this sale. It takes the highest grades in the $20 to $24 class.

$8.99 Is the ordinary price of an ordinary suit in this sale. We agree to furnish at $8.99 a regular $11 to $14 outfit.

$11.98 Is a popular price and always takes the highest grades in the $15 and $19.

$4.97 Buys a suit the like of which can not be secured at any other store in this city for less than $5.00 or $6.00.

MORTGAGE SALE—

Default having been made in the payment of the sum of two thousand one hundred ninety-four and 67/100 dollars ($2194.67) which is claimed to be due at the date of this notice upon a certain mortgage duly executed and delivered by Frank H. Brown, widower, of Duluth, Minnesota, to Vesperian Smith and Isaac M. Trapp, bearing date the 8th day of May A. D. 1891, and duly recorded in the office of the register of deeds in and for the county of St. Louis and state of Minnesota, on the 16th day of June A. D. 1891, at 3:30 o'clock a. m., in book 42 of mortgages, on page 530.

And no action or proceeding at law or otherwise having been instituted to recover the debt secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given, that by virtue of a power of sale contained in said mortgage, and pursuant to the statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed, and the premises described in and covered by said mortgage, viz: Lots numbered seven (7) and eight (8) in block numbered one hundred and fifty-five (155) in West Duluth, fifth division, according to the record plat thereof, in St. Louis county, and state of Minnesota, with the hereditaments and appurtenances, will be sold at public auction to the highest bidder for cash, to pay said debt and interest, and the expenses allowed by law, which sale will be made by the sheriff of said St. Louis county of Duluth, and said county and state, on the 7th day of September A. D. 1892, at 10 o'clock a. m. of that day, subject to redemption at any time within one year from the day of sale, as provided by law.

Dated July 26th, A. D. 1892.
